

THE EVENING STAR. WASHINGTON. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1895. CROSBY S. NOYES, Editor.

THE EVENING STAR has a regular and permanent Family Circulation much more than the combined circulation of the other Washington dailies. As a News and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

To Avoid Fatal Panics. A baseless cry of "fire" by some fool in a Baltimore theater last night caused a panic that resulted in the death of more than two score of people and the maiming of many others.

An Amendment That is Needed. There is an omission, probably inadvertent but nevertheless important, from the bill authorizing the extension of the Columbia railroad and for other purposes to which attention was called in yesterday's Star.

It is to be hoped that thirteen will not prove to be an unlucky number for the new District committee of the Senate. The reorganization of the upper house has been along such peculiar lines as to be marked by an increase in many of the standing committees, and among others the District committee.

Our Water Supply. About a month ago the Star took occasion to answer certain statements contained in a paper on water supply printed in the November issue of "Municipality and County," in which it was asserted that the Potomac river water is sewage-polluted and, not being filtered, is responsible for the city's high death rate from typhoid fever.

It is alleged that Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales, the Queen Regent of Spain, the Emperor of Germany, the Empress of Austria and numerous others of royal distinction have taken to bicycling riding. It is true there is every reason to expect that the European monarchs will be much disposed to shun the additional anxieties of warfare.

This city, an avowed and vigorous advocate of the filtration of the Potomac water, who made an official investigation of the typhoid epidemic prevalent here last autumn. Dr. Kober, who is in advance of local sentiment in his suspicions concerning our Potomac water supply, ventures his strongest assertion against it.

The Star will leave to the opposing scientists the task of settling conclusively whether in sixty miles of flow the Potomac does or does not purify itself that it is impossible for any sewage containing typhoid bacilli to enter the aqueduct at Great Falls. If defamers of the Potomac instead of relying upon hints of possibilities were able to furnish absolute proof that a stray typhoid bacillus had found its way from the Potomac into our water supply, the Star would still consider Mr. Hill's original publication to be unfounded and unjust.

Even Dr. Kober's main contention and recommendation bore upon the necessity of establishing at once a complete and modern system of sewers, which is sadly needed, and he urged that every well in the District be closed and that all box privies should at once be abolished. As a fourth recommendation, of comparatively minor importance, he urged that the Potomac water supply be filtered. It would be vain to pretend that Washington has had a lower death rate from typhoid fever than many other cities, which are supplied with the most modern systems of sewers, whose water supply is adequate, enabling them to dispense with wells, and which have been able in excess of precaution to establish expensive filtration plants.

Useless Committees. It appears that the preliminary plans of the steering committees now engaged in reorganizing the Senate have received a check at the sudden discovery that there are not enough minority committees, that is, committees with chairmen from the minority party, to provide for the leaders of that party in the Senate. Thus two alternatives are presented. The plan of reorganization will have to be called off, or some new committees will have to be organized to care for the leaders unprovided with comfortable rooms, else some of the great men in the party may become offended. It seems a trifle absurd that the Senate should be called upon to create absolutely useless committees for such a purpose.

Zeiton's Fate. Christianity now awaits with anxiety the news from Zeiton. The capture of that city by the Turks from the insurgent Armenians who have been in a state of siege for some time is thought by many to mean that there will soon come tidings of one of the most bloody massacres that the world has ever known, for it is well known that the sultan's troops have a standing grudge against the people of this province, whom they regard as their hereditary enemies. Zeiton has already been a scene of slaughter. Once before the Turks captured the province and marked their victory by unlicensed butchery. Reports have it that the sultan is desirous of preventing excesses by his troops at Zeiton but is powerless to hold them in check. In such an event it is certainly the duty of the strong nations of Europe to supplement his feeble authority with their own power to put an end to these outrages against humanity. If the capture of Zeiton should be followed by a general massacre the Christian world will feel its full duty if it does not immediately intervene.

Banker J. Pierpont Morgan is a busy man these days. He is chairman of the committee appointed by the New York Yacht Club to investigate the Dunraven charges, and he is popularly supposed to be at the same time engaged in forming a syndicate for the purchase of a $100,000,000 government bond issue. The duties of these tasks is heavy enough to occupy a man completely, but Banker Morgan seems to have a great capacity for active hustling.

"Tide-waiter" has a vile, vindictive sound, but in its literal application to one of the humbler attaches of the customs service Senator Teller can hardly be accused of having raised a confusion in ornamental courtesy. It has evidently produced something of the same startling effect that Dr. Johnson's epithet of "rectangular parallelepipedon" did upon the fish wives.

Senator Hill has throughout his career shown a decided preference for the political lion hand. No man will ever tasted 'possum says that 'possum is good.

The House of Representatives responded to the financial message of the President by passing a tariff bill, the operation of which is limited to two and a half years, and which is designed to raise $10,000,000 for the relief of the treasury; the vote was on party lines, with two exceptions: Hartman of Montana, and the democrats and populists against it, save Newlands of Nevada; the bill passed repeals the present tariff law until August 1, 1898; it restores 60 per cent of the McKinley rates on wool and woolsens, lumber and carpets, and makes a horizontal increase of the present rates in all other schedules except sugar to 10 per cent; the House then entered upon the consideration of the bond bill, which in conjunction with the tariff bill passed constitute the relief which the republican House of Representatives and the democratic executive to meet the existing financial situation; the bill aroused the united opposition of democrats and populists. The Senate presented a Christmas gift to the south, as Mr. Hill of New York appropriately characterized the bill recalling the tariff of 1892, and passed at the close of the war against the service of ex-confederates in the United States army or navy. Three masked robbers held up a state commerce commissioner, the traffic agreement to be in conflict with the interstate commerce law, and asked that it be referred to the committee on Commerce and Finance. A report that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the Southern railway would be consolidated gained considerable local credence. The two hundred and twenty-third session of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers was observed at Plymouth, Mass.; Senator Hoar was the orator. Three masked robbers held up Richard Clarke, a Pacific Jockey Club official, in a San Francisco car and robbed which was given up for lost, arrived at Port Townsend in tow of the steamer Mineola. Secretary Herbert decided to award the contract for building the two battle ships to the New York Shipbuilding Company. The street car men's strike in Philadelphia ended, John Wannaker having brought about a settlement. The strike of the traction company, John H. Husted, a mining man, worth $500,000, committed suicide at his home in Denver, Col. The deaths of the week included Rev. George W. Dame, who died at his home in Richmond, Va., and Col. A. J. Grigsby, a Mexican veteran, who also committed suicide at his home in the Stonewall brigade.

Foreign. Zeiton in Asia Minor was captured by the Turks. In the battle that preceded the fall of Zeiton 2,500 Armenians and 250 Turks were killed. A fight is reported to have taken place near Suedich between the Turkish and the British. The latter lost 12,200 killed. The British steamer Belterophon collided with and sunk the French steamer Emile Heloise at the entrance to the harbor of Algiers, and thirty passengers of the latter were fatally injured. A number of vessels were wrecked during heavy seas on the British coast. The Chinese cruiser Kwan-Ping, captured by the Japanese during the war, was wrecked on the Pescadore Islands, and over sixty men are missing. During the week ending December 21st there were ninety-seven cases of cholera and thirty-three deaths from that disease in St. Petersburg. The Manitoba authorities refused to consider any proposal to establish Roman Catholic separate schools. The deaths included Sergeant Stephen, the Russian revolutionist; George Goldolphin Osborne, ninth Duke of Leeds; Sir Edward Harland, head of the famous shipbuilding firm of Harland & Wolff; Max Lebauvy, owner of Le Soir, of Paris.

In the District. The week has been rather uneventful from a local point of view. Christmas day was appropriately celebrated in the different churches, while the inmates of hospitals and asylums found the day a pleasant one, through the thoughtfulness of kind-hearted people. During the week two new Methodist churches were opened—the Fifth Street M. E. Church and the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity. The commissioners gave a hearing Monday to the West End League, when a large number of residents of that section of the city were present. In the evening the erection of a garbage crematory on 24th street near N street; this protest was further strengthened by a letter from the attorney of Mrs. Hearst. Monday Mr. George Hellen won the president's cup in the tournament of the Washington Golf Club. Tuesday evening Detective Proctor was swept upon by roughs and badly injured. Mr. Wm. Pritch, the father of Mr. J. E. Pritch, died Wednesday morning. An unusually heavy wind and rain storm swept over the city Thursday evening. The question of Dr. Saitte's accepting the call to be the first bishop of the Diocese of Washington was settled Friday, when a telegram was received from him signifying his intention to serve.

SHOOTING STARS. "Her Attention Was Elsewhere." "I saw you at the theater last night," said he. "Did you?" she responded. "How do you like the play?" "The play? Why, you know, I was there with a box party."

Prudence. With these bacilli in a kiss, She caught the germs away. She kept a spray of misdeeds To shoo the germs away.

A Relief. "I don't know but I'm glad that the holidays are about over," said the man who permits himself to be worried over small things. "Don't you enjoy them?" "Yes. But it's a great relief to sit back and serenely reflect that it'll be a whole year now before somebody will turn up and think it is smart to write 'Christmas' Xmas."

The Destructive Small Boy. Of all the presents he received Upon a Christmas morn, The sole survivor seems to be That blatant old tin-horn.

A Sudden Reformation. "Charley is getting so economical!" said young Mrs. Tocker. "That is quite an unusual trait in him," "Yes. I have only observed it in him this week. He insists on wearing his old fifty-cent necktie so as to save those for which I paid a dollar and a half apiece."

He Resented It. "No, sir," he said indignantly, as he turned from the electric light in his room. "I won't stop here. The idea of a hotel's gas in a glass case, so's it can't be blowed out!"

Everybody's World. Lots of politicians—Mighty brains—Only gits positions—Ter let 'em go again. Others whose orations V. very seldom hear—Seems ter hold their stations—Steady, year by year. Each man has his chances—Made ter fit his skills—Some by work advance—An' some by settin' still.
