Ripans Tabules.

Mr. Will J. McLaughlin of 614 Third street, Portland, Oregon, under date of July 21, 1895, says: "I have suffered for years with dyspepsia and disease of the kidneys, with a long list of distressing symptoms, consisting of chronic constipation, which was a source of constant annoyance to me. I had bloating of the stomach and was very nervous. I had to be very careful of my diet, and for the past six months I lived almost entirely on Graham bread and oatmeal. I tried doctors and change of climate, but it did no good. One day I picked up a magazine and saw an advertisement of Ripans Tabules, and as a drowning man grasps at a straw, I bought a box and commenced taking them. They helped me some, and I got another box and have some of them left. I am all right now, and can eat anything I wish without the least distress. I always carry a few in my vest pocket. I never imagined that such a little thing would do so much good. I am enjoying the best of health and do not have to go to the mountains, either. I recommend them to my friends whenever I get a chance, for I know they have been worth a dollar to me." (Signed) WILL J. McLAUGHLIN.

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail for the price 50 cents a box is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

The success rebuilding SALE

Has, indeed, been phenomenal. All day yesterday and today up to this writing, while the other stores were apparently dull, this store has been a hive of swarming things.

It was just five months ago that we asked you to help us clear away the stock which we bought from the old firm. We didn't accept the store or stock as up to your standard or ours. We promised you a better store than just as soon as we saw you wanted us. YOU DO WANT US—you've shown it by your generous patronage. And now we're going to better the store—going to enlarge it—improve it—modernize it. We know just what it ought to be.

And now we ask you to help us move some of the stock out of the builder's way. And you are doing it because we have made it profitable for you to do so.

THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

AMATEUR JOURNALISTS.

A Spirited Debate Over a Resolution to Drop Non-Paying Members.

There was a spirited meeting of the Capital City Club of Amateur Journalists Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. Walter C. Gosling, 2000 S Street. The question which caused such a lively debate was a resolution passed by the club at the previous meeting to expel several members for non-attendance and non-payment of dues, if such indebtedness was not paid up at Saturday's meeting. For some time past the members say, the club has been carrying along several who have taken no interest whatever in the club or paid dues. Such persons were considered "dead wood" to the organization, and with this in mind the club passed the resolution of expulsion.

Mr. Edwin H. Smith spoke in favor of the resolution, and said its object was to retain in the club only those who are willing to work, and do work, and who show earnestness and interest in all its proceedings; while Mr. Wm. Page spoke in opposition. After a stormy debate the matter was laid upon the table until the next meeting.

The Capital City Club is looking forward to entertaining the National Amateur Press Association until the next meeting, which will be here in July. The executive committee is at work making preparations for this great event. Those who are present at the meeting taking for the club or paid dues assured of the ability to entertain the visiting members, and of the hearty assistance of many of the club members.

The club has as yet nominated no candidate for president of the N. A. P. A. It has many who are very interested in amateur journalism, are felt to be deserving of this position, but whether it will put forward a candidate has not yet been determined.

The meetings of the Capital City Club, which occur the first and third Saturdays of every month, are very interesting, and many educational benefits may be derived from them. The organization has often been aided by professional newspaper men, who have conducted the meetings and their work. The next meeting will be at the residence of Miss Gertrude Moss Walsh, 1423 Corcoran street. The present officers of the organization are: President, Mr. Edwin H. Smith; first vice president, Miss Gertrude Moss Walsh; secretary, Mrs. Sarah Willard Howe; treasurer, Mr. Walter C. Gosling; editor, Mr. Gus A. Schmidt, and publisher, Mr. Milton Tibbets.

A BRILLIANT METEOR.

It Flashed Across the Sky Shortly After 11 o'clock last night a brilliant meteor flashed through the southwestern sky and after displaying a bright light and all the colors of the spectrum it faded into nothingness. It was evidently very near the earth and may have struck somewhere in this vicinity, though its trail of fire ceased while it was still several degrees above the horizon, and the probability is that it was resolved into vapor by the intense heat caused by the friction between its substance and the atmosphere. It started into view not far from the mid-sky of the southern hemisphere, appearing first as a fine line of light, rapidly diverging into a broad band of brilliant light, and causing an illumination of dark corners of the streets. When about one-half along its visible course it seemed to expand or explode, presenting the appearance of a ball of red-dish fire, which appeared to break, so that there was a flashing out of light and the spectator could almost imagine a sputtering noise as the great mass of incandescent metal encountered the sudden resistance of the air. In a moment there came another flash, more intense than the first, and this time the ball of fire seemed to be of a brilliant blue. Again there was a bursting, accompanied by a sputtering appearance, and then the meteor flashed off into space, invisible or consumed.

The visible trail of the celestial visitor was fully ten degrees in length, and described the arc of a circle or perhaps a section of a parabolic curve. Starting about one-half way from the southwestern horizon to the zenith of the heavens, it swept downward toward the earth, and remained in sight about three or perhaps four seconds.

This morning the officials of the naval observatory sent word to The Star in response to a telephonic inquiry, that the meteor was not observed there.

In Memoriam.

ATKINSON, When Mary P. ATKINSON passed away in this city on March 2, 1896, in the fifty-fourth year of her age, all who knew her mourned for her loss. Her life was a life of usefulness and an extraordinary amount of praise to speak of her life and of her many virtues. It was her noble courage, her loyalty to all friends, her generous impulses, her enthusiastic love of her home, her devotion to her husband, her ever-eve in her profession, her magnetic personality, her unvarying brightness and buoyancy of spirit, her self-sacrificing love for her husband, her watchfulness with such disinterested devotion, and her devotion to her children, which have made her life so valuable to those who loved her. Her life was a life of memory, and her memory will be a blessing to those who are left behind.

Funeral arrangements to be announced hereafter.

Late Principal of the Boston Cooking School.

"I prefer to use"

M. Goldenberg, the well-known Baltimorean, who just five months ago bought out the firm of Carhart & Ledy, now announces his intention of rebuilding and enlarging his store, annexing the building 928 7th street and bringing into use the second story of the K Street annex. The elevators will be put in, and the store will be improved and modernized at every point. The rebuilding is being done by the most successful ever held in this city. At several times during the day Monday was necessary to open the doors, so great was the crowd desiring entrance.

A lot of Northwestern University boys in Evansville, Ind., Saturday night indulged in a Spanish flag burning.
