BURR McINTOSH'S LECTURE.

He Tells a Little of What He Saw in Cuba.

Mr. Burr McIntosh of the Frawley Company, now playing an engagement at the Columbia Theater, delivered a lecture there yesterday afternoon on "A Little I Saw of Cuba." The audience, which was large, was notable. Admiral Schley occupied one box with Major Schley Crosby; Senator Stewart of Nevada and a party occupied another, and in the body of the house were seated Secretary Webster Davis, representatives of the army and navy, and a number of newspaper men.

THE STREET MUSICIANS

Orders issued to keep them off the business thoroughfares.

The Semi-Dependent Class—Complaint of Discrimination Against Blind Man—Maj. Sylvester's Response.

Chief Sylvester of the police force, as was stated recently in The Star, has directed his men to keep street musicians off the business thoroughfares, and he is considering the subject of the semi-dependent class, with a view to reducing it to a minimum. These facts appear in a report which Maj. Sylvester has made to the District Commissioners. In response to a complaint made by Mr. H. C. Hunter of the United States Geological Survey office.

"May I inquire," wrote Mr. Hunter to the Commissioners, "by what right, or by what kind of justice, the police officer duty at the corner of 11th and F streets orders blind men to cease playing an innocent, low-toned instrument, and permits a dirty, filthy Italian, with a dirty monkey, to unceasingly grind out in screechy, inharmonious notes the commonest of songs within 100 feet of him? The blind man should be pitied and helped, and is certainly not an objectionable character to a well-balanced mind. The blind men, who should be driven out of the city, are an insufferable lot, and make life a burden to those who have to listen to their noise from morning until night on the street. I think the matter should be considered."

The matter was referred by the Commissioners to Chief Sylvester, who, after ascertaining from Lieut. Amis of the first precinct the number of blind persons selling lead pencils and playing musical instruments, was informed that the streets were long been subjects of controversy in the city. There are those who pity the blind and those who find pleasure in listening to the most annoying sounds from the streets and public places, where they have caused no little annoyance to the public and been the occasion of some complaint.

In concluding his remarks about Col. Roosevelt, the lecturer claimed that every act of the officer was due to politics or the effect it would have upon his political fortunes.

Mr. McIntosh vigorously criticized the incapacity of the administration of the army under Shafter, and was particularly severe on the inadequacy of the medical service. He paid high tribute to the work of La Garde, however, who worked, said the lecturer, on the sick and wounded in the hospital at Siboney for forty-eight hours without rest.

BEFORE TRIAL COURT.

Policemen Accused of Violating the Regulations. Trial Officer Pugh had policemen Gardner and Curtis before him today on charges of having violated rules of the manual. The former was charged with having neglected to properly protect his beat for fifty minutes. It was alleged by Sergeant Wright that he entered the Metropolitan Baptist Church on Capitol Hill several nights ago, and remained there for a number of minutes, and the officer admitted that he was in the church, and said he did so because he found the door open. That he sat down and remained there longer than was necessary he did not deny. He secured the building after he had occupied one of the pews for a few minutes, and then returned to the church on duty. Trial Officer Pugh remarked that it was the first time he had ever tried an officer for entering a place of worship.

Policeman Curtis was accused of having neglected to properly protect his beat, near Kalamora avenue and 17th street. Sergeant Matthews appeared as the complainant in the case. Officer Curtis made a denial, and called on a brother officer to give evidence for him. The case of Policeman West, who was tried a few weeks ago for alleged neglect followed by the prosecution, and an attempt was made to introduce the testimony of another witness. The witness was called, but he refused to testify. Trial Officer Pugh then tried to compel the witness to talk, and he was excused.

BOTH PAY FINES.

Star Carrier Assaulted and Acts on Defendant. Dallas Bowman, a boy who delivers Stars in Eckington, was assaulted on T street yesterday afternoon by Bruce Bates, and, whom the police say is simple minded. Each boy claimed he had been threatened, followed by the Rough Riders. The Star boy to do but defend himself, and this he attempted to do by throwing stones, at his assailant. Bates also threw stones, and Policeman John A. Pearson arrested him and Bowman.

At the police station Bowman left $5 collateral for his appearance. This morning in the Police Court the boys were charged with stone throwing. Bowman explained to Judge Kimball that he had had trouble on his Star route, and said he had been followed by Bates as he went to work. He described the battle in which he was compelled to participate yesterday, and Policemen Coffey and Jones, who were in court, volunteered some information concerning the colored boy. They had known him for some time, and they wanted to say something concerning his good character.

In the face of what they said Bates admitted that he had been in court five times, and on two occasions was arrested for throwing stones. He admitted that he committed the first assault. He said he knocked Bowman down because he thought the latter was going to strike him. Kimball made both pay fines. The amount was $3 in each case.

Additional Directors Chosen.

The Woman's Rescue Home, lately established at 406 1/2 street northwest, has increased its board of directors by the addition of two Mrs. M. B. Hamlin and Miss Charlotte Van Doren having been elected to membership. Religious services are to be held every Sunday at 7:30 o'clock p.m. and every Thursday at 2 o'clock.

The home is in need of aid. Donations of clothing and other supplies and money are solicited. Contributions it is announced, may be sent to Miss Emma Lewis, matron, at the home, or to Mrs. Robert A. Kautz, 900 North Carolina avenue southeast.

Bowlers to Be Entertained.

Tonight will be festive at Carroll Institute. The bowling team of that organization having won the championship of the District League, will entertain the entire membership of the league, together with other guests, at a spread. The handsome trophies won by the Institute team and the various individual prizes will be awarded, and the bowling season will be brought to a formal close.
