MANY COMPLAINTS UNFOUNDED. Result of the G. A. R. Pension Committee's Investigation.

The pension committee of the G. A. R. returned to the pension bureau yesterday afternoon, where it spent most of the afternoon talking over matters informally with the commissioners concerning the action of the bureau in denying the pension to the late in the afternoon a final meeting of the committee was held in the hotel quarters, when individual views and recommendations were presented and an informal consultation held as to the future of the report to be made. This document will be presented at the Philadelphia annual convention of the G. A. R. in September. Pending the report Colonel Johnson, the committee's spokesman, and his colleagues declined absolutely to discuss their work or the results of their inquiry.

It was admitted, however, that much that has been printed concerning the action of the bureau has been found untrue. The examination on the file has shown a lack of foundation for many complaints that have formed the basis of articles. It was learned before the committee's departure that when it arrived here it had a memorandum of about thirty cases in which the rulings had been criticised. The papers in these cases were sent for in regular order, and it is understood, disclosed substantially no foundation for the attack on the official action on them.

Thousands of situations have been obtained through the want columns of The Star.
