SERGEANT McNEELY'S TRIAL

Witnesses for the Defense Placed Upon the Stand Today.

Alleged Attempt of Prosecuting Witness to Entrap the Officer—Case Again Continued.

Sergeant Samuel A. McNeely of the sixth precinct, who is under charges in connection with the bribery episode near Lincoln Park a week ago yesterday, appeared before Trial Officer Pugh this afternoon with his counsel. This is the fourth session that has been held on the hearing of this case, and Trial Officer Pugh expressed the hope that the testimony would all be in today before the hour of adjournment.

The first witness examined this afternoon was a young colored woman named Amanda Smith. She testified that she is acquainted with Wm. H. Lee, as well as with the location of his place. Witness said she is also acquainted with Sergt. McNeely. Two or three days after the raid on Lee's place, she said, she met Lee at Pennsylvania avenue and 21 street. They walked up 23 street, she said, and Lee asked her if she knew Sergt. McNeely. She answered in the affirmative, and he told her he would give her $100 if she would make arrangements to meet him in front of the City Hall and put up a job on him. He told her to arrange a meeting at night, and when Lee and another man approached her, she reported to McNeely. She said she was going to meet him in front of the City Hall and put up a job on him. He told her to arrange a meeting at night, and when Lee and another man approached her, she reported to McNeely.

William Buckley, employed in the War Department, testified that several days after the raid on Lee's place, he was with Sergt. McNeely when an old colored man approached him and asked the sergeant if he would not call and see Mr. Lee. The sergeant told him he would have nothing to do with Mr. Lee. Then the old man told him that he was a man of importance, and the sergeant again told him he would have nothing to do with Mr. Lee. Sergt. McNeely, he testified, told him he had a strong case against him.

Chief Clerk Kemp's Testimony. Chief Clerk Kemp of the police department testified that the statement made by Sergt. McNeely at police headquarters the 27th of last month, a few hours after the Capitol Hill episode, witness said he had always regarded the sergeant as a good and energetic officer. He regarded him as one of the best in the department. Witness was questioned concerning Sergt. McNeely's health, and witness related what the sergeant had told him about his throat trouble. The sergeant, he said, told him he thought another winter on the street would put him out of the business.

Additional Evidence. Daniel L. Walsh, a reporter, testified that he had known Sergt. McNeely as an efficient and reliable officer. He was always attentive to duty, and witness said he was always known as the "pet sergeant" of the force. Witness said he talked with Sergt. McNeely several days after the raid, and the sergeant told him he expected a great deal of trouble. Sergt. McNeely told him he hoped to convict Lee, but said he knew Lee would put up a big fight.

Question of Character. At the hearing yesterday afternoon, after the Star's report closed, Mr. Smith addressed the trial officer on the question of character. Commissioner Wright, he said, had remarked that there was no doubt about the sergeant's reputation, and it was not necessary to prove it by witnesses. He described, however, a number of witnesses he had summoned. These witnesses, if put on the stand, he said, would show the excellent character of the accused officer. They would vouch for his reputation for honesty and would also show that he was a vigilant officer who was always endeavoring to run down criminals.

Letter Produced. Policeman Roh of the sixth precinct testified that he saw Sergt. McNeely have a letter which purported to be signed by "Bill" Lee. The letter was produced and witness identified it as the letter shown him previously.

Want New Trustee Appointed. A bill in equity was filed today, through Attorney George R. Linkins, by the First Methodist Protestant Church against Samuel L. Phillips by which it is sought to have a new trustee appointed by the court in place of Phillips to execute certain trusts. It is set forth that December 6, 1872, Phillips was named trustee in connection with certain real estate in order that he might pay an annuity to Rebecca Mackey. The latter died September 12 last, but it is set forth that Phillips declines to release the property involved on the ground that he is not satisfied that he is the person to whom the deed of trust is made.
