CATHOLIC SUMMER SCHOOL

NINE WEEKS' EXERCISES TO BE HELD AT PLATTSBURG, N. Y. Well-Known Educators Will Conduct the Classes and Notable Men Give Lectures.

The program for the Catholic Summer School, in which several of the professors at the Catholic University will take part, has been arranged. The exercises will cover a period of nine weeks and the meetings will be held as heretofore at Plattsburg, N. Y.

There will be in the special study department at least three full courses of thirty hours each, in logic, Shakespeare and theme writing. These courses will meet the requirements of the school board of New York, relative to counts for promotions for teachers.

A course of logic will be given under the direction of Rev. Francis P. Siegfried, professor of philosophy, St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook, Pa., assisted by Rev. M. J. L. and Rev. Mortimer E. Twomey.

The course of philosophy for the coming session will center in the study of laws of thought as such. It will consist of four parts: 1. A psychological introduction on the cognitive powers in general and the intellect in particular.

The Shakespeare course. The schedule of lectures is as follows: First week, July 8-12, five lectures by Thomas A. Mullen of Boston, subject "Constitutional History of the United States."

Second week, July 15-19, five lectures by Rev. Herbert V. Farrell, D. D., diocese of Brooklyn, and Walter Phillips Terry of New York city.

Third week, July 22-26, five lectures by Rev. James J. Fox, S. T. D., subject, "Phases of Contemporary Rationalism." Evening lectures on the "Popes of the Nineteenth Century" by Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, D. D., rector of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

Fourth week, July 29 to August 2, five lectures on the "Evolution of Religion and Christianity" by Rev. Charles P. Aiken, S. T. D., Catholic University. Evening lectures by Rev. Morgan H. Shedy, Altoona, Pa., and Rev. Charles S. Clark, Boston.

Fifth week, August 5 to 9, five lectures on "Fundamental Concepts" by Rev. John T. Driscoll, S. T. L., diocese of Albany, N. Y., evening lectures by James J. Conaty, D. D., rector of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

Sixth week, August 12 to 16, five lectures by James J. Walsh, M. D., on the following subjects: "The Rise and Progress of Biology in the Nineteenth Century," "Significance of Biology in Various Ways of Thought and Knowledge," "Evolution and the Evolutionist," "Present Status of Evolution" (fourth period), "The Practical Side of Biology: Its Relations to Medicine, Agriculture, Manufactures, Sanitation, and Hygiene," "Evolution and Biology: Some unsolved problems in the biological science. Evening lectures on the "Inferno and Purgatorio of Dante," by Rev. Dr. P. J. McLaughlin, S. T. L., diocese of Albany, N. Y.

Seventh week, August 19 to 23, five lectures on "Practical Applications of Ethical Teaching" by Rev. Thomas J. Gannon, S. J., of Boston College. Evening lectures by Rev. Charles J. Kelly, diocese of Newark, N. J.

Eighth week, August 26 to 30, five lectures by Rev. William O'Brien, P. D., Catholic University; subject, "The Field of Economic Study." Evening lectures on "Paradoxes of Science," by Rev. Thomas C. Linnahan, of Concord, N. H.

Ninth week, September 2 to 6, five lectures by Rev. William O'Brien, P. D., Catholic University; subject, "The Field of Economic Study." Evening lectures on "Paradoxes of Science," by Rev. Thomas C. Linnahan, of Concord, N. H.

Tenth week, September 9 to 13, five lectures by Rev. William O'Brien, P. D., Catholic University; subject, "The Field of Economic Study." Evening lectures on "Paradoxes of Science," by Rev. Thomas C. Linnahan, of Concord, N. H.

THE CLOSING FEATURES

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT AT MANASSAS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL. Diplomas to Be Given to Seven Graduates—Exercises to Take Place May 30.

The closing exercises of the Manassas Industrial School for Colored Youth will take place on May 30, this day being selected to accommodate the friends from Washington who desire to attend. The Manassas school, now in its seventh year, has been established in response to an effort made by the colored people of the Bull Run district to help themselves, particularly in the line of better education and industrial facilities.

The school is under the management of a board of directors, of which Mr. Carroll D. Wright is president; Rev. Walter H. Braddock Woodford, recording secretary; Rev. H. H. Warrick, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. L. S. Doolittle, treasurer. The school itself is under the immediate supervision of an executive committee, which meets monthly to inspect the buildings and farm, hear the report of the principal, and to form plans for the development and improvement of the school into a first-class industrial institution, with modern appliances.

The executive committee, as at present constituted, consists of Prof. E. W. Brown, chairman; Mr. Geo. C. Round, Dr. W. S. Montgomery, Rev. H. H. Warrick, Rev. M. D. Williams, Mrs. E. H. Dodge and Miss Jennie Dean. Miss Dean is also the authorized financial agent of the board, and Prof. E. H. Woodford, a graduate of Berea College, Kentucky, is the principal.

May 30 the trains will leave the 6th street depot at 8 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. for Manassas, and the graduating exercises will occur at 1:30 p. m.

The program of the closing exercises is as follows: 10 a. m., musical and literary exercises by the school; inspection of the school; industrial work, buildings and grounds; 1:30 p. m., graduating exercises; address by graduates by Rev. Percy S. Grant, D. D., New York city, and short address by others; 3:30 p. m., annual meeting of the association.

Members of the class of 1901: Miss Joanna M. Berry, Manassas, Va.; Miss Eleanor E. Elliot, Catharpin, Va.; Miss Elizabeth D. Butler, Warrenton, Va.; Miss Nettie V. Holmes, Snodgrass Springs, Va.; Miss Virgie Shely, Winchester, Ky.; Miss Pattie E. Stokes, Wellington, Va.; and George Robinson, Manassas, Va.

LAKE STEAMER FOUNDERS. Twelve of the Crew Perish or Are Saved. A dispatch from East Tawas, Mich., last night says: The steamer "Black," more founded in Lake Huron near Au Sable this morning and twelve of her crew of fourteen were drowned. The men were tossed about in the lake for several hours, lashed to a piece of wreckage, and were finally picked up by the tug Columbia and brought here. George McGinnis, a deck hand, one of the rescued, became insane from his experience. The other survivor, Thomas Murphy of Milwaukee, second engineer, was able to tell the story of the disaster.

The dead follow: Capt. M. H. Place, master of the steamer, Mr. H. H. Place, wife of captain, stewardess, Michael Breathin, first mate, John Belders, second steward, Edward Owen, wheelman, C. W. Sears, wheelman, George W. Scott, watchman, Charles W. Winn, fireman, Mr. C. M. Marcoux, chief engineer, William Barker, fireman, P. Krueger, fireman, August Anderson, deckhand.

It was some time after the Columbia had brought the shipwrecked men into port before Murphy was revived sufficiently to tell his story. He said that the "Black" was about 6 o'clock this morning, and he was in the water until late in the afternoon, exposed to the buffeting of a furious northeast sea.

IN CHESS CIRCLES. Lasker after spending Sunday with Prof. Newcomb in visiting points of interest in the city spent the evening at the club room in general and reminiscent conversation. Asked by one of the listeners if he considered Murphy as the greatest of the chess players, he expanded considerably on Murphy's powers of combination, foresight, and staying power, but in answer to a direct question again he said: "Mr. Clifton Jackson, now past eighty, the oldest member of the club, having mentioned a meeting with one of the old timers, C. H. Stanley, Lasker asked a number of questions as to his chess career, and in referring to the incident he laughed heartily and exclaimed, "Oh Blas bounced by the bishop." He stated that he was not satisfied with his record against the club, and asked how Pillsbury had done. He said that his best record was getting out without a lost game and but three draws, he exclaimed, "Ah, M. told you so. See why I am not satisfied."

During the evening he gave the solution to his clever pawn ending problem, given by Pillsbury, and said that Mr. Pillsbury of Philadelphia had shown him an improvement on it, by placing the white king at R 2, and the black king at Q 2. In that position White would take seven moves to attain the winning position and only after great precision. During the whole conversation he turned frequently to Pillsbury, and in his own words, "I would like to see how Pillsbury would do in this position. Now, see here, in this position Pillsbury has had on a board, and he might be, and White has but two, yet White is to move and win—putting one in mind of Napoleon and his bread crumbs. Pillsbury has had on a board, and he might be, and White has but two, yet White is to move and win—putting one in mind of Napoleon and his bread crumbs. Pillsbury has had on a board, and he might be, and White has but two, yet White is to move and win—putting one in mind of Napoleon and his bread crumbs.

tion of Mr. James Patterson of the Washington club as follows: "An old-timer of more than forty years ago, which we wish our present peerless corps to go a 'glimmer' eye, and tell us what they think of it."

The Manhattan club of New York and the Franklin of Philadelphia have agreed to play annually on May 30 for a trophy, the games to be played alternately in these cities, and the winner of three consecutive matches to own the trophy.

A return match between the Washington and Annapolis checker players has been set, provisionally for next Friday evening at 8 o'clock.
