WHEN CERVERA CAME OUT

TESTIMONY OF ENSIGN MARBLE AND DR. FITZSIMMONS.

Their Story of the Battle of July 3—Former's Account of What Sigsbee Told Schley.

Ensign Ralph N. Marble, a cadet on the Brooklyn during the war with Spain, and Medical Director Paul Fitzsimmons, chief surgeon of the flying squadron, with headquarters on the Brooklyn, were on the stand before the court of inquiry yesterday afternoon.

Ensign Halligan.

fore going ashore the Viscaya starboarded her helm and headed for the Brooklyn, then ported her helm and went ashore. Mr. Marble related a conversation he had heard between Capt. Sigsbee and Commodore Schley when the latter came aboard the Brooklyn May 26 off Santiago.

Ensign Hand.

Colon, he said, had followed the course of the shore in her westward flight, and the witness thought that before the Viscaya gave up she had attempted to shield her sister ship.

The Parker-Bridget Clothing is considered by thousands of best-dressed men as the equal of the highest class of merchant tailored garments.

And of course far superior to what other clothing establishments show.

We'll admit other houses may have some few lots that are strikingly good—but none can show as complete a stock of such high-class garments as does this store.

Every detail that goes to make custom-made clothes so desirable is embodied in the garments bearing the P., B. & Co.'s label.

The exclusiveness of patterns is assured, and that indescribable something called style shows from every part of every garment.

You have only to try on a Parker-Bridget Suit or Overcoat to know how absurd it is to class it short of the finest tailored-to-order productions.

Men's Suits, $10 to $35.

Men's Overcoats, $10 to $50.

Youths' Suits, $7.50 to $25.

Youths' Overcoats, $7.50 to $25.

We guarantee that each price represents almost what twice the amount would buy of made-to-measure clothing.

Men's Furnishing Goods.

If it is only a Necktie or a pair of Sox or a Handkerchief or any other little thing in this line you may need be sure you can get it here and right.

Because you select only from large and fresh assortments—and further, because prices are as low as is consistent with the quality.

Neckwear at 50c.—regular $1.00 quality—imbued with richness and neatness.

Fancy Shirts, $1.00 to $2.50, nobby patterns, which will credit your sense of taste.

Hosiery—fancy and plain—domestic and imported—12 1/2c. to $3.00. Largest selection at 25c. pair—handsome colorings that won't offend your ideas of neatness and beauty.

All the best makes of Underwear from 50c. to $5.00 per garment.

Gloves—dressed and undressed—$1.00 and $1.50 are the popular prices.

We won't dwell on the completeness of the various lines—suffice to say if the article you seek is in fashion and right it's here—and at a price that commands interest.

That Shoe Business of Ours

is run by intelligence, not by ignorance. The manager knows the truth about shoes and leathers—and tells it. He knows shoes, and that can be said of few dealers.

The union of these elements makes the ideal shoe store.

Ideal, because the qualities and styles are right and the prices, too.

Our $3.50 Shoes.

In every way you'll find they're eminently proper.

Note the variety of leathers and styles. Few houses show so many. Try on a pair and note the fit.

The $4.00 shoes are a trifle higher in quality—while those at $3.00 are just a bit behind—as they should be—yet they're as good as many of the $3.50 shoes of other stores.

Other prices here—$5, $6 and $7—Very fine, of course—as different from the others as a thoroughbred is different from the ordinary steed.

A Most Complete Hat Store.

Complete in every sense of the word. In qualities, in varieties, in prices.

In fact, it is repeating an acknowledged fact—that it is Washington's busiest and most complete Hat store.

Merit is found in every quality. Our $2 and $3 grades are particularly strong. Strongest, because the prices meet the approval of the masses.

We have drummers tell us that Hats they sell for $2.00 a dozen wholesale do not compare with our $2.00 ones. We don't say this for effect—but because it's the truth. All the latest shapes, in both Derbys and Fedoras. Few Hats at $5.00 can better our Imperial $3.00.

They're made for us—and sold in Washington only by us. Lower priced prices here mean not the curtailment of quality—but are our magnet to attract, are our emblem of progressiveness.

IN HONOR OF HEROES.

Revolutionary Monument Dedication Plan Complete.

The Baltimore Sun of today says: At a meeting of the entertainment committee of the Maryland Society of the Sons of the American Revolution held last night at headquarters, 417 North Charles street, the plans and program for the unveiling of the monument on Mount Royal plaza were announced.

The exercises will begin promptly at 3 in the afternoon next Saturday and at their closing the shaft will have been formally presented to the city.

Eight hundred invitations have already been sent out, while thousands of other persons will doubtless be present. Among those who have been especially invited, are the governor and his staff, all the city officials, all the state officials in the city and many representatives of out-of-town societies. Besides, all the school children are expected to take part, the occasion being one promotive of patriotism.

The monument will probably be received on behalf of the city by President Henry Williams, of the second branch city council, as Mayor Hayes announced yesterday that he had an important engagement for that day, which he had previously overlooked.

The full program is as follows: Invocation—Rev. Dr. Henry Branch, chaplain.

History of the monument—By Alfred D. Bernard, historian.

Singing—"Maryland, My Maryland," by the assembly.

Unveiling of the monument and presentation to the society by the monument committee.

Music, firing a salute of thirteen guns and presentation of a laurel wreath by the Maryland Line chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Acceptance of the monument by Mr. Edwin Warfield, president, and presentation of the monument to the city.

Address by Mr. Walter Seth Logan. Address by Mrs. McDonald McLean, regent of New York chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Benediction and conclusion with singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Thus far the Montauk Club of Brooklyn and the Fitzburg, Washington and New York societies of the Sons of the American Revolution have accepted the invitations sent to them and will be represented by delegations.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston was also invited, but has declined.

Japanese Copper Mines.

From the Engineering Magazine. The total number of persons employed in various services at the Ashio mines and furnaces is about 10,000, and these with their families make up a small city of 17,000. Of these 75 per cent have been born on the spot, as were their fathers and grandfathers, and some have never seen beyond the red hills which close in the village and mines. They are cared for by the proprietor, fed and sent to school until twelve years of age.

China's New Board of Foreign Affairs.

From the Laborer Tribune. The Wang-wu-pu, the new board of foreign affairs which has been constituted to replace the impossible Tsung-li-yamen, is merely the Tsung-li-yamen over again. It has taken over the same premises and the same staff, and there is little doubt that it will continue the same policy.

ADMIRAL EVANS AT OMAHA.

He Makes Some Remarks Regarding the Schley Inquiry.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans passed through Omaha yesterday on his way to the Somoan Islands, where he goes to investigate charges against naval officers. The admiral refused to discuss the merits of the Schley investigation, but gave the following to a local paper:

"What is your opinion of the Schley investigation?" he was asked. "Well, I might have a private opinion on that matter, but I do not care to express it publicly at present," replied the admiral.

"Will Schley be exonerated?" "He has never been condemned in the eyes of the public, so far as my observation goes," he replied. "Just what the outcome of the trial will be I cannot say. It is highly gratifying to the public, however, to know that Admiral Dewey is on that board of investigation."

Admiral Evans said he was not in a position to say more, but added: "I will say this, however, that the battle ship Texas is not receiving the notice and consideration it deserves in that investigation. That the Texas played a very important and telling part in the sinking of Cervera's fleet

Reaction in England Against Dust-Raising Garment.

From the London News.

In their going to be a reaction at last against the long skirt trailing on the ground? The English were the first, a good many years ago now, to protest, to give effect to their protests, and, indeed, to change the fashion. But the change did not last long. Short skirts produced pretty boots, and we heard a great deal about common sense. But common sense and ladies' dress do not always combine.

The Parisians, indeed, knew what they were about. As a rule they have not pretty feet, but they have a peculiarly graceful way of catching up their dress from behind, and it is an art which our countrywomen have never mastered. English ladies inelegantly clutch at and bunch their petticoats, while the French well-conditioned grip just lifts the rim of the long skirt and gives a pretty

The English Language.

From the Maine Farmer.

The rapid strides which English is making as a world language will soon render the invention of any artificial language like the late lamented Volapuk quite unnecessary. French has been for years the official language of diplomacy, but the Japanese government has lately declared in favor of English, and will in future make all its communications with foreign powers in that language. The French suspect a political significance in this move, but the Japanese are simply consulting their own convenience and that of their correspondents.
