INSPECTING THE SCHOOLS

MEASURES TO PREVENT SPREAD OF DISEASE.

No Provision Made for the District—Progress Throughout the Country—The Work to Be Done.

The committee on school hygiene appointed by the convention of the American Public Health Association held in Indianapolis in September, 1900, has just issued a report of its first efforts to be made in this country by Henry Mitchell, M. D., of Trenton, N. J., as chairman of the committee.

To complete accurate statistics in this respect the health officer of each state in the Union, and to Canada and Mexico. One hundred and fifty-four replies have been received to the questionnaires.

No Provision for the District. The reply to the inquiry of the committee from this city is written by Superintendent A. T. Stuart, who states that medical inspection of schools has been recommended by the board of education of the District, but as yet no provision has been made by Congress for carrying the recommendation into effect.

The report says that many of the replies received from localities where no steps have yet been taken to establish medical inspection of schools are, nevertheless, that active interest is taken in the subject, and in numerous instances assurances have been given that medical inspection will be put in operation at an early day.

The work to be done. To give a clear idea of the nature of the work which is to be done, for a medical inspector to perform the report sets forth a number of rules which might be adopted for guidance.

Our Timely Selling Tomorrow!

Anyone can hire space in a newspaper and appeal to the eye with a spectacular advertisement. Not everyone, however, can reap results. Behind words should be facts. In the face of conflicting claims the public is observant and discriminating. That our ample resources and vast outlet gives us the great vantage in buying cannot be questioned, and as we buy, so we sell.
