SPORTS IN GENERAL

American League Magnates Assembled in Chicago.

JAKE GETTMAN TO BE SENATOR Closing Day at Benning Was a Great Success.

LAKWOOD GOLF TOURNEY

The American League of Base Ball Clubs assembled in Chicago at noon today and the prospects are that when an adjournment is finally taken many surprises will be found springing from the base ball public.

Final adjournment of the Washington club was early on the ground and last night gave out the information that Jake Gettman had been secured for the outfield and Tim Donohue for one of the catchers.

Manager Loftus also said that his team of Senators, as far as completed, would line up something like this: Catcher, Donohue; pitcher, Orlan, Townsend, Carlick, Leo and Fazio; first base, Walcott; second base, Coughlin, third, Ely, short, Delehanty, left field, Gettman, right, and another man, probably Dungan, for center field. Cliff Clark may be the other catcher. This aggregation is decidedly the strongest that has ever been in Washington uniforms, and it should make a fine showing in the championship race next season.

There is no doubt about the strength of the pitching staff and the infield should be very speedy in a fielding sense and fairly good at the bat. The signing of Jake Gettman will be received with favor, as the speedy German many friends have shown last here under the Wagner. Tim Donohue was considered one of the best catchers in the National League when with Chicago, and as a fielder he is a great asset to himself.

Before leaving Philadelphia for the Chicago meeting Manager Connie Mack gave the players a good send-off, but he announced the make-up of the athletics for the next season. In addition to the men he had last year, Manager Mack says he has signed Monte Cross for short stop; Elmer Flick and T. F. Hartzel of the Chicago for the outfield, and Pitcher Dugbely of last year for the mound.

From Chicago comes the news that Manager Comiskey has signed Shortstop George Davis and Second Baseman Tom Daly. From Boston comes the news that Manager Dineen has signed with Manager Collins, and the "scoop" at St. Louis is known to everybody.

President Johnson has intimated that he may give out the full list of the National League players who have signed with the Americans, and should he do so it will undoubtedly result in a great deal of excitement. He claims that fully forty men have deserted the older organization.

A special from Chicago says that the American League meeting will be a great success, business to handle and that the magnates will probably be in session for three days at least. The principal business will be the settlement of the St. Louis-Milwaukee matter. There is no doubt about what will be done; the Milwaukee club will surely be transferred to the old city. It is expected that the American League will prosecute even more vigorous warfare against the National League. Every magnate with John Johnson in the lead, has prospects and see nothing ahead but the most pronounced success.

President Johnson himself has already stated that the time for peace has come. Two bodies in past and that the American League will go ahead with its plans, which are sweeping enough to put the older organization on its business. It is thought by the magnates of the new organization.

"There can be no peace now," said President Johnson in Chicago last night. "It is war all the way. The American League will determine which is the stronger organization. While the cities comprising the American League circuit are not so large in many instances as are the cities of the older cities they pay about as well. Then we will not have to play in these smaller cities all of the time. If we can add a large city each year, we will be able to do it. We have invaded all the National League preserves?"

There is not a National League town which is large enough to accommodate two big base ball organizations. However, we do not wish to go into the National League cities with this idea in our minds. Our desire is not for half of the patronage nor even two-thirds of it. We want to prove to the people that our base ball is of such superior quality that it will draw more or enough at any rate to put the other fellows, clearly on the defensive."

While the American League magnates are getting together in Chicago, it is thought that the leaders of the old body have something up their sleeves which they will spring at the last moment and cause surprise.

PLAYERS' GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE.

Will Probably Meet Magnates to Right Reported Wrongs.

Secretary Dale Gear of the Players' Protective Association, who is in Kansas City, gave out the statement Saturday that while the association is not likely to hold a meeting this winter, the grievance committee will undoubtedly meet during one of the big league gatherings. There are four cases to be passed on before spring. This committee is composed of Lave Cross of the Philadelphia American League Club, Fielder Jones of the Chicago American League club, and Jim McGuire of Brooklyn.

Three members of the New York team, Denzer, Beulow and Strange, have complained of bad treatment from the President man management, and Wolvortzen wants the association to take some action in regard to his suspension by the Philadelphia National League team.

The grievance of the New York players is that they were suspended and their pay discontinued without cause. At the time they were benched they were given out that they had not been playing the ball they were capable of and were not keeping their heads close to the ground. This is a very ticklish matter for the association to act on, and the developments will be watched with interest, not only by the players and public, but also by the magnates.

"The organization is young yet," said Secretary Gear, "and we must deal carefully with the case. As yet we have not formed no definite plans and must not attempt to do something which cannot be done or will not be absolutely just in every way."

"While I cannot state definitely, I do not think the Wolvortzen matter is one for the association to act upon and I doubt that anything will be done. I look at it the courts should decide the question."

The Philadelphia club suspended Wolvortzen last season, but he was reinstated because he would not deny having signed with the Washington American League team.

Major Gear, having become a magnate of the new American Association, will be secretary of the Players' Association next spring. His position in connection with the Kansas City club is not likely to be held, and then, as he says, he will make for leagues are the more interested and the officers should be members of those leagues.

The secretary's bookkeeping, that the association now has membership of 286, being composed of players of the National, American and Eastern Leagues. Players of the new American Association will be added to Western League will be asked to join when the season begins.

BENNING'S CLOSING DAY.

Big Crowd Present and Carbuncle Jockey Club Held the Reins.

The splendid weather Saturday, a good card and the fact that it was the last day of the fall meeting of the Washington Jockey Club drew an immense crowd to Benning. It was the finest day of the meeting, which isn't saying much, as the sun has shone but spasmodically during the month of November. The track softened up somewhat under the sun and it was not so fast as on the previous day. The races were well contested for the most part, and an even break was recorded, three favorites coming home first. As it was "get-away-day" considerable money was burned up in playing on the horse that, Pigeon Post, at 10 to 1, getting a decision.

The feature of the afternoon's racing was the running of the maximum stakes, a distance of one and one-half miles, and a field of five, Carbuncle being the natural choice, with Raffaele the next best thought of. The latter was heavily backed from 8 to 4 to 1. He was reported to be a good post and broke down during the race, and Slack had to dismount a half mile from the finish. For a distance of two miles Ringgold looked promising, but he was handicapped Carbuncle skillfully and he came home a winner by two lengths, the other two contenders being "miles away."

The other two races of the day was the steeplechase, but through a misunderstanding of three of the jockeys it turned out to be a very unsatisfactory event. Three of the jockeys started in wrong like a regular jump, running outside the wing, as they thought no start had been made. This break in the contest, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the first race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the second race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the third race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the fourth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the fifth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the sixth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the seventh race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the eighth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the ninth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the tenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the eleventh race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the twelfth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the thirteenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the fourteenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the fifteenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the sixteenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the seventeenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

In the eighteenth race, which was won by Delmar, Jockey Jones, the favorite, and Carlillo alone, the favorite, and the former had an easy thing of it.

Both sides played a clean game, slugging being entirely barred, and on account of the closeness of the score great enthusiasm was displayed by the followers of both teams. Howard's play throughout was the strongest, as the ball was in Shaw's territory most of the time, but the latter held well, and it was only through exceptional good work that the touchdown was made. The playing of Washington, Bailey, Holmes and Jackson of Howard, and Rich and Hone of Shaw, was worthy of especial praise.

Basket Ball Victory for Corcorans.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team, playing at home Saturday night, met defeat at the hands of the Corcoran Cadets, the score being 17 to 7. All-around team work was what gave the Cadets the victory, as it resulted in keeping the ball near the association's goal most of the time. The game was a close one, and the Corcorans had lots of excitement for the large crowd of spectators. The playing of Walters, Martin and Moriarty of the Corcorans was fine, while that of the association put up a masterful game.

Champion Jeffries' Father Here.

Rev. A. C. Jeffries, the father of James Jeffries, the pugilist, was a spectator at the Police Court this morning.

Mr. Jeffries is a resident of Los Angeles, Cal., and is on his way home, after an absence since last December, during which time he visited the Holy Land, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway and Turkey.

Rev. Mr. Jeffries is a nonconformist clergyman, and spends his time in missionary work. He does not like the idea that a member of his family is a pugilist, and in speaking of the matter today, he said he wished a law to prevent prize fighting could be put in force in the United States.
