

THE MOST PROGRESSIVE ELEMENTS OF THE EMPIRE, SUCH AS THE POLES AND FINNS.

JAPS' SECOND ARMY.

Numerous 70,000 Men Left Chinsampo on May 4.

SEOUL, Monday, May 9. via Shanghai, May 8.—The second army, numbering 70,000 men, left Chinsampo on eighty-three transports May 4. The soldiers were crowded on board the vessels in the closest manner, one ship having 3,500 men on board. So closely were they packed between decks that exercise was impossible and very little air was obtainable, but in spite of these discomforts there was no grumbling.

Every precaution was taken to prevent news of the departure of the army from leaking out. The residents of Chinsampo were strictly disciplined and no one was allowed to enter or leave the town. Three Americans, however, succeeded in escaping from Chinsampo on board a junk. Twelve days later they reached Chinsampo.

The Japanese will probably compel the Emperor of Korea to resume his residence at the Kaiver Palace from which he fled after the fire of April 14. This would make Japanese influence over the emperor supreme.

Japs Arrogant at Seoul.

The Japanese merchants, soldiers and coolies are becoming arrogant and the Koreans are subordinated and helpless. The Japanese have established a naval base at Port Lazaref, on Broughton bay, a short distance north of Gen-San. The entrance of Port Lazaref is defended by forts.

The Russian Squadron at Vladivostok is Practically Bottled up by the Japanese Fleet.

Japanese scouting vessels are watching the Russian fleet. It is asserted here that only one division of the second Japanese army will be landed in the Korean peninsula. It is asserted that the rest of the army will go ashore at Taku-Shan.

To Check a Russian Flank.

It is asserted here that the Japanese garrisons between Ping-Yang and Wiju have sent scouting parties through the country east of Cha-Syong, the extreme right of the Japanese army. The purpose of the participation of a Russian flanking movement. The Japanese authorities here consider it fortunate that the Cosack raiders, who passed around further east, did not do much damage than they thought.

The Japanese First Army Having Entered Manchuria the Entire Control of Korea will Shortly be Given to the Yalu River.

The Japanese commander, Gen. Hara, has ordered the Japanese military depot will be established at Seoul.

To Strengthen Jap Line.

Infantry pioneers and officers of the reserves have left Seoul for Chinsampo, where they will strengthen the line beyond Ping-Yang. Further Japanese forces are expected here to strengthen the garrison, which hitherto has been constantly changed. Troops are being sent to guard the Seoul-Fusan railroad line.

The Report that the Korean Ministers, Who Resigned May 11 Because the Emperor Consented them to Resign, Have Withdrawn their Resignations is Confirmed.

CZAR WILL GO TO MOSCOW.

Uncertainty at St. Petersburg Over Conditions in Far East.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 13. 2:15 p.m.—Emperor Nicholas will leave Tarkooy-Solo returning for Moscow and Kharkoff, returning there in the afternoon.

Much uncertainty exists here as to exactly what is occurring at the theater of war, as much in regard to the Russian movements as to those of the enemy. Gen. Kurapatkin's plans are most carefully guarded. Although he is believed to be concentrating troops near Liao-Yang, very little actual information on the subject is obtainable. The general impression, however, is that heavy fighting will occur within a fortnight.

Japs Pushing Campaign.

Advices received by the general staff indicate that the Japanese are pushing the campaign in southern Manchuria with great energy. The rainy season, which will render the roads almost impassable, begins in six weeks, and the latest belief here is that the enemy hopes to make his position sure by a decisive advance before the rains set in. The army organization, which at least eight divisions of the enemy, not the Liao-Tung men in the lower part of Manchuria. As to the force advancing from the littoral from the Yalu, where it is believed that the landing, information is very incomplete.

Character of Country.

The valley of the Ta-Yang, where a large force of the enemy, strength unknown, is moving westward, is generally hilly, but there are fairly good roads to Feng-Wang-Cang, Kal-Ping and Sun-Cheng, on the railroad, and to the east coast of the Liao-Tung peninsula. There are two roads at the Ta-Yang, one to the south and the other to the north. The latter being for cavalry.

No Information is Vouchsafed Regarding the Landing of the Russian Fleet.

No further particulars are to be had regarding the blowing up of Port Dany, which is considered to have been necessary in view of the Japanese complete command of the sea, to prevent the employment of a fleet made base of operations against Port Arthur.

Newspapers Keep Mum.

The newspapers do not show any disposition to revive the criticism of the action of the commander of the United States cruiser Vicksburg at Chemulpo on account of Mr. Faxford's report. A high official of the admiralty acting as the correspondent of the Associated Press.

EVIDENCE FOR DENIAL.

Early Close Predicted in the Tyner-Barrett Hearing.

PROGRESS MADE TODAY.

FRANCIS C. HUEBNER, GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE, ON STAND.

Had Been Summoned by Prosecution, but Not Called Upon to Testify for Government.

The prosecution shortly before noon today announced the close of the introduction of its evidence in chief against James N. Tyner and Harrison J. Barrett, accused of conspiring to defraud the United States. It was hoped that the government would conclude prior to the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon, but counsel called today on a new tack, causing Justice Pritchard to remark that the half hour he had allowed for a conference in the hope that the trial might thereby be shortened.

Mr. Huebner, who had been called upon to testify, but not called upon to testify for the government.

On cross-examination, the witness stated that he was appointed to the position he holds in the Post Office Department by Mr. Tyner. The defendant brought out that Mr. Huebner had been summoned as a witness for the prosecution, but had not been called upon to testify. He was asked if he had been asked to testify before the grand jury.

"We had a very good reason for not putting Mr. Huebner on the stand," Major Conrad stated, in reply to a comment made by the defense. "We knew you were going to call him as a witness."

"No, sir," the witness replied. "I meant that I had power similar to that of a district attorney as to dropping charges or not prosecuting cases."

Testimony Following Recess. After the usual midday recess the examination of Mr. Huebner was completed. The government then asked permission to examine the witness who had been sent for earlier in the day. He proved to be William A. Milliken, who was Barrett's predecessor as assistant attorney general in the office of the assistant attorney general for the Post Office Department.

Looking after cases affecting bond investment concerns was part of the witness' duties. He remained for four or five weeks after Gen. Tyner took charge. Major Conrad asked questions intended to show that Gen. Tyner's attention was not directed to the investment cases, and that he acted in regard to same with full knowledge. The defense reserved the right to cross-examine the witness.

William R. Mackrille, an employee of the Post Office Department, was next called as a witness for the defense. He was questioned regarding the investment cases, and that he acted in regard to same with full knowledge. The defense reserved the right to cross-examine the witness.

Mr. Worthington's Opinion. According to Attorney Worthington, the defense will not require very many days to present its case. "For the reason that the government has already had most of our witnesses on the stand," he said. "The witness called by the defense was Francis C. Huebner, who is in charge of the fraud-order business of the Post Office Department. Mr. Huebner had not been called upon to testify, and the defense made much of that omission and of the fact that Mr. Huebner had not been called upon to testify."

Among other things, the defense proved by Mr. Huebner that it was not the practice of the Post Office Department to call witnesses solely on the recommendation of post office inspectors. The government had introduced testimony that Gen. Tyner had introduced the recommendations of inspectors.

Gen. Tyner was not feeling as well as usual, so he remained at home. Mr. Barrett's party of ladies was, however, augmented by two, making six in all. During the session this morning inquiry was made as to the whereabouts of Mr. Neims, Barrett's former law partner, who is now a student at a theological institution.

It developed that Mr. Neims had gone away from the city. "When a lawyer becomes a clergyman it is his duty to control him," Major Conrad observed.

"Of course, you may criticize your own witnesses, but not so," Attorney Worthington added. An adjournment was taken at 3 o'clock this afternoon until 10 o'clock next day. He intended to sit until 4 o'clock this afternoon in order to make up the time granted counsel for the defense. Justice Pritchard, however, yesterday, but as Attorney Worthington's presence was required in Judge Wright's court at 3 o'clock, Justice Pritchard finally consented to adjourn at that hour.

AGAIN ON THE STAND.

Mr. Kidder a Witness and the Reading of Papers Resumed. When the proceedings were resumed this morning Mr. Kidder again took a seat on the witness stand, and Attorney Worthington resumed the reading from the point where he had left off yesterday afternoon. From the reading the jurors gleaned a great deal of information as to the value and construction of electric belts, the training and reputation of physicians employed by the Physicians' Institute of Chicago, Ill., and the standing and reputation of Mr. Kidder in Chicago, but it was regarded as extremely difficult to discern just how the matter was connected with the alleged conspiracy of which Gen. Tyner and Mr. Barrett are accused.

On cross-examination, Mr. Barrett testified that he had been first asked Mr. Barrett to represent the Physicians' Institute before the Post Office Department. Mr. Barrett said that he had not been asked to do so until he had gone over the facts and had assured himself that the institute was in the right. "There could be no case against the institute, and that the latter did not need an attorney. However, Mr. Barrett testified that he had been asked to represent the institute, and that the latter did not need an attorney. However, Mr. Barrett testified that he had been asked to represent the institute, and that the latter did not need an attorney."

Mr. Keyser Called to the Stand. Paul V. Keyser, who in November, 1901, was clerk in the office of the assistant attorney general for the Post Office Department, and acted as private secretary to Gen. Tyner, was called as a witness by the prosecution to testify that the date of a statement, previously introduced in evidence, he had written at Gen. Tyner's dictation. The statement was dated from November 19, 1901, to November 30, 1901.

Assistant United States Attorney Taggart produced another mass of papers relating to a case not in the bond investment concern class. Mr. Taggart proposed to read certain of the papers in the pile, with the view of showing that no connection existed between Gen. Tyner, as assistant attorney general for the Post Office Department, and the case. Mr. Barrett testified that he had been asked to represent the institute, and that the latter did not need an attorney.

That is all of this class of testimony, and it may be all the testimony we may offer in chief," Mr. Taggart explained. "Twenty minutes after it has been read Justice Pritchard commented, 'Proceed.' After the government had concluded its case, the prosecution is through. Major Conrad then announced: "but we received a letter this morning conveying information new to us. We have sent up for the writer, and may want to put him on the stand."

"He ought to be barred by limitation," Justice Pritchard remarked. "The writer," Mr. Conrad wanted to know.

SEVERELY CRIMINAL.

Jail Officials Charged With Brutally Treating Prisoner.

Justice Pritchard, in Criminal Court No. 1, this afternoon expressed himself forcibly in regard to certain reported occurrences at the District Jail, and instructed the United States attorney to take steps only, if necessary, to see that the jail officers who had been charged with having inflicted and prosecuted vigorously.

Ada Cross, colored, was recently convicted in Criminal Court No. 1 on a charge of housebreaking. She was taken before Justice Pritchard this afternoon for the purpose of hearing the court's disposition of a motion for a new trial in her case. On the motion of newly discovered evidence a new trial was granted. As the defendant was to be conducted from the room, Justice Pritchard said:

"Wait a moment. It has been called to my attention that this woman has been badly treated at the jail. I would like to hear from her regarding the incident. The prisoner, whose face near her right eye was badly swollen, thereupon stated that she recently objected to two other women prisoners being put in a small cell with her because the weather was too warm. She tied the cell door with a piece of string. The matron then called for assistance, and according to the prisoner, five officers responded."

The woman very frankly told the court that she resisted and screamed. She charged, however, that the jail officers threw her down, choked her, hit her repeatedly in the face and eyes with their fists, and finally handcuffed her and put her in the jail kitchen and kept her there for two hours and a half.

"If there is any more of that sort of thing in this jail, I will have the offenders brought before me forthwith." The court further said that he had not read the report, but that he was sure that the jail officers who had been charged with having inflicted and prosecuted vigorously.

Plans Submitted to District Commissioners Today. The engineers of the Washington Terminal Company today submitted to the District Commissioners detailed plans for the construction of the subways in connection with the new railroad terminal building. There has been so much discussion within the past few months. The plans have been placed in the office of Col. John Biddle, Engineer Commissioner, and the officials of the engineer department of the District have been busy engaged today in studying the drawings of the work as proposed by the railroad.

Col. Biddle declined to give a description of the plan of subway construction as proposed by the railroad engineers, and said that no action will be taken on the plans by the Commissioners until after the drawings have been gone over in conference with the board of engineers. The plans submitted today are not open for inspection to the public; yet it is understood that the drawings embody the railroad engineer's ideas as to the construction of the subways, which have been made known to the Commissioners in previous discussions of the subject.

Under Heavy Bond. Joseph Miles Held for the Action of the Grand Jury. Following a preliminary hearing in the United States branch of the Police Court this afternoon, Joseph Miles, colored, was held for the action of the grand jury on a charge of attempted murder.

As previously mentioned in the Star, Miles was arrested April 17th last by Precinct Detective Johnson of the ninth precinct and accused of throwing icy water into the face of Will Heinar, who resides at 1208 N street northeast. Heinar appeared in court yesterday with his eyes swollen, having been deprived of his sight since the night of the assault. He said that he has a stand in the market at the corner of 12th and M streets, and that he was on the corner of 12th and M streets northeast, on his way home about 11:30 p.m., the night of April 17th, when he was assaulted by a colored man who dashed something into his eyes causing him to lose his sight and fall to the ground in agony.

That there could be no mistake about it, because the colored man had worked for him for a year, and he had seen him about a year ago. He explained that he never had any trouble with the defendant, and could not imagine the object of the assault. Detective Johnson told of finding Miles in bed at his home, near the corner of 13th and M streets, on the night of the assault. He said that the man's face was burned and that his eyes were inflamed. It was necessary, he stated, to take the colored man to the Casualty Hospital, where Mr. Heinar had also been treated, and the physician commented on the fact that the man had been burned with the same substance. Several physicians who treated Mr. Heinar were called as witnesses, and told of the serious character of the case.

Market Has Spells of Steadiness, but the Drooping Tendency Continues. NEW YORK, May 12.—A dull and drooping tone characterized the opening stock market today, a number of specialties, including U. S. Steel, preferred, showing small gains. A block of 1,200 shares of Southern Pacific of 2,300 shares of Pennsylvania carried those stocks down an eighth. There were no other notable transactions.

Indications of support of United States Steel and some large purchases of Amalgamated strengthened the market. Most of the important stocks sold fractionally above yesterday's close. U. S. Steel preferred gained 1/8, Republic Steel preferred 1/4, and Amalgamated 1/4. Consolidated Gas showed some feverishness, but eventually got up a point. General Electric ran off 3 1/2 and recovered 2 1/2. St. Louis and San Francisco declined 1/4.

The railroad stocks generally lost their gains with a reaction in the market after 11 o'clock. United States Steel sold down to 79 1/2, and the market generally steadied later and made slight recoveries, but became dull. National Lead rose 1/4. Just before noon copper advanced to 82 1/2. Bonds were steady.

Dealings in the general market showed some firmness despite irregular movements in the principal specialties. United States Steel preferred was sold freely to below 82. Consolidated Gas also weakened to the extent of a point, while Amalgamated rose to 81. General Electric made a rise of 1/4, and Metropolitan street railway was also nearly a point higher.

Reactions in the market ceased and prices reacted on the heavy liquidation in United States Steel. The common broke at 8 1/2 and the preferred to 5 1/2. Reactions elsewhere were weak, but buying holding generally around last night's level. Anaconda moved up 2 points and Westinghouse Electric 3. The latter closed at 2.
