GEORGETOWN AFFAIRS

EARLY MORNING DISTURBANCE ON POTOMAC STREET. Attempt to Put Intruder Off Premises Results in Hospital Case—General Items.

An exciting scene was enacted in the vicinity of 1204 Potomac street northwest yesterday morning, the principal in the episode being Gerald McKnight. It is stated that McKnight went to the home of Mr. Charles Elmer, a respected citizen of Georgetown, with whom he was slightly acquainted, and endeavored to gain admittance by forcing an entrance. Upon being aroused Mr. Elmer promptly ordered McKnight off the premises. McKnight responded in a profane way, and Elmer undertook to eject him from his property. McKnight resisted, and a desperate struggle ensued. Neighbors were aroused from their slumbers, and the row caused considerable excitement. Elmer is an elderly man, while McKnight is quite young and of stout build, and before he was subdued he received a terrific blow on the head at the hands of Elmer. The police interfered before the difficulty became more serious, and McKnight was taken to Georgetown University Hospital, where his wounds were dressed, after which he was placed behind the bars of the seventh precinct station.

"The Boys" of Penelton have arranged to go into camp at Fort Kanawatchem at an early date. In the immediate vicinity of the camp is the location, it is said, of one of the largest Indian villages ever established in America. The spot was also at one time the camping ground of Col. Mosby and his band of Confederate lighters. "The Boys" held a social session Saturday evening in Mason Hall, on Wisconsin avenue. An address by Mr. J. Barton Miller was the feature of the occasion. Refreshments were served.

An altercation between George Washington and George Riggs, both colored, occurred Saturday night at the corner of 32d and M streets northwest. Washington came down the street drinking and carrying a base ball bat with the intention of putting him out of business for a while. Riggs was but slightly bruised. Jesse H. Shuckels, a local physician, has noticed in his yard within the last few days a weasel, about the size and build of a "squirrel." He states it is a beautiful specimen with coal black hair and a bushy, squirrel-like tail.

Miss Macabee, 1670 Valley street northwest, was overcome by a severe attack of illness Saturday evening and fell into a stupor just as she had reached her home. Medical aid was summoned and restoratives were applied. It was reported this morning that she was dying. After recovery from his relapse in a severe illness, Jordan has returned to his extended duty in the seventh precinct. The Dumbarton Club gave a lawn party and dance last Saturday evening at 3250 U Street, N.W.

Scanlon, for many years pastor of the church. C. S. Denton, colored, has nearly completed an elegant store and dwelling on the north side of M street. While attempting to catch a horse in the vacant lot behind his house, the corner of Wisconsin avenue and Broadway street in Tenleytown, last Saturday morning, William Hilson was kicked and severely hurt. The injuries received were in the mouth and breast. Officer Moffett killed a dog this morning which was running at large. The latter adds that the alleged marriage with him was procured by fraud on the part of the defendant.

Thought to Be Insane. John A. Webster, a colored man who says he stopped playing the piano and started writing poetry, was locked up at the first precinct station this morning on suspicion that he is insane. He entered the kitchen at 1808 Ohio avenue this morning, and after he had engaged in conversation with the cook, said he felt tired and thought he would retire. He went to a room on an upper floor and caused some uneasiness by disrobing and making himself comfortable under the white covering on the bed.
