LOOK OUT FOR CROOKS

SUGGESTIONS FOR HOUSEHOLDERS DURING INAUGURATION.

Major Sylvester Calls Attention to Matter of Great Importance.

Citizens Generally.

Major Sylvester, chief of police, realizing that there will probably be a number of crooks among the big influx of visitors next week, is of the opinion that efforts will be made by the light-fingered ones to commit depredations upon property. With the co-operation of the residents of the city he feels assured that the efforts of the thieves will not be rewarded to any great extent. In order to be of assistance to the residents of the city he gave out some suggestions today which he hopes will not go unheeded.

"This is a period when the residents of the District should be alive to the fact that they are under obligations to themselves and the community, from a police standpoint, to take such precautions as will defend the interests of the servants, and aid in the detection of those who break the law. To that end it might not be amiss to invite attention to a few suggestions which, if observed, will aid in preventing and detecting crime.

"Residents should not leave a house unoccupied at any time during the week, and on the inauguration day.

"If possible leave the house in the keeping of a member of the family, at least in the keeping of a trusted employee.

"While the family is enjoying the downtown attractions the thief may enjoy the freedom of your home.

"Those in charge of premises should have a police whistle or call, to be used and blown three times successively if necessary.

"Do not forget the servants, whom you have trusted for years may prove unreliable if an unusual opportunity presents itself.

"These are times when the tramp, the hobo and professional thief rings your door bell, and no response is an invitation to get into your house, if possible.

"If a way from your jewelry and silverware placed in safe keeping.

"Do not permit the man who wants to repair a telephone wire or your roof, plumbing inspector who wants to inspect your pipes, health inspector or meter examiner to enter your premises without displaying satisfactory authority to do so.

May Be Impostors.
"Beware of all kinds of agents for good things, for they may prove to be impostors and frauds.

"In hotels your next door guest may be aware of the fact that you have money or jewelry which he would like to obtain.

"Be very slow in cashing checks, especially where you have no acquaintance with the person who presents it. The party in distress very often wants an accommodation of this kind.

"Do not walk the streets carrying a pocket book or exposing your jewelry. It is an invitation to those who would run great risk to get possession of it.

"If persons act suspicious in the vicinity of your home or on the street telephone Main 257, and relate your observations to the detectives, or through that telephone number to the nearest police station.

"Be careful where you leave your wraps, hats, umbrellas, or satchels. Know that he who cares for them is reliable.

"Always keep number of your checks for trunks, satchels or clothes, for if your check is lost you have a measure of identification.

"Observe the number or name of vehicle and appearance of driver whom you employ to haul baggage or anything for you.

"Do not make loans through sympathy to strangers. As a general proposition they are poor pay.

"Keep the number of your watch and name marks and initials in your jewelry, silverware and clothing.

"Tell your troubles to a policeman and report any policeman who does not do his duty.

ALFRED SPEER'S SURPRISE
Well-Known Business Man Tells of Peculiar Experience.
Few business men are better known throughout the country than Alfred Speer of Passaic, N. J. Although he is over eighty-one years of age and the head of a large firm, yet he found time to write the following letter, hoping that it would be of interest to our readers:
"I cannot keep from expressing my surprise at the wonderful relief and benefit I derived from the use of Hyonol. For some years past I have been a victim to nasal and throat catarrh, and during that time have expended a great many dollars on specialists, and had my throat sprayed, washed and smoked week after week. The first time I used Hyonol I was surprised at the change it brought. This was a few months ago, and I have used it occasionally since. It makes me so well that I often forget and neglect its use for several days, but each time when I breathe it the hawking and discharge cease, and it is wonderful how it acts.
"I am over eighty-one years of age, and careful not to practise anything until I know what I am about."
"Respectfully yours,
"Alfred Speer."
The complete Hyonol outfit, including the inhaler, catheter, etc., with extra bottles of Hyonol, costs but $1, while extra bottles for the convenience of the user, run for 50c. You run no risk whatever in buying it, as Henry Evans sells it under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. Ask him to show you a copy of his guarantee.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HAGNER.
Impressive Service of the Episcopal Ritual at St. John's Church.

Funeral rites were performed over the remains of Mrs. Alexander B. Hagner, wife of Judge Hagner, at St. John's Episcopal Church, at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The funeral party was an unusually large one, and the services were participated in by the rector of the church, Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith; Rt. Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee, Bishop of Washington, and Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. In the church were Rev. E. Slater Dunlap and Rev. F. H. Bigelow, assistant rectors of St. John's.

The exercises were conducted by Dr. Smith. The scriptural lesson was read by Dr. McKim, and Bishop Satterlee read the prayers and the remainder of the Episcopal burial service.

The pallbearers were Dr. Gunnell, General First Congregational Church Wednesday night, March 1, will be the fourth public reading of it, remarkable trilogy in Washington. It will, however, be heard for the first time with an organ accompaniment and in an auditorium of fine acoustic properties. The trilogy is written in three parts, the "Wedding Feast," the "Death of Minnehaha" and "Hiawatha's Departure," composed at different periods by Mr. Taylor, but forming a remarkable climax rich in harmonies. Prof. Layton and the chorus are ambitious to have this performance their best effort thus far, realizing that they have a reputation to sustain, and, if possible, to excel.

The Mission Club of the church secured the Choral Society that they might raise a fund for missionary purposes, and an undivided part of the fund, among them being Dr. McKim, and Bishop Satterlee read the prayers and the remainder of the Episcopal burial service.
