JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION. Uncertainty of Congress Causing Embarrassment to Departments.

The State, War and Navy Departments, which expected to play a prominent part in the Jamestown exposition, find themselves very much embarrassed by the attitude of Congress. The departments are necessarily in the interest of the Standard Company. The Standard company would like to have the oil in its own name and transport over the lines held by that company under the name of the Standard company. The legislation would be especially disastrous because many of the independent refiners are located in the Indian Territory, where the line of wells are located, making the transportation of the oil interstate commerce under the laws of the United States.
