CYCLIST SOLDIERS. English Volunteers Will Engage in Extensive Maneuvers. Special Cablegram to The Star. LONDON, July 30.—In the early hours of August 7 more than half the cyclists of whom the volunteer army can boast will concentrate in the neighborhood of Salisbury plain. Some volunteer battalions will send complete companies, with their full complement of officers, and others will send men with out officers. Others will send skeleton sections, and all this motley crew—each unit a total stranger to the other—will be sorted into three columns in less than an hour and proceed on immediate active service to repel an audacious invader who has landed in Dorsetshire. Each of the columns will consist of about 600 cyclists and Gen. Sturmy-Cave will be in supreme command. The enemy who has landed in the vicinity of Swanage and is pressing northward will consist of two brigades of infantry, the Hampshire and the Dorset and Somerset Volunteer Infantry brigades, the Dorset Hussars Imperial Yeomanry and about 700 volunteer cyclists gathered from the Hampshire and south coast battalions. The operations will last four days, and will be carried out under active service conditions, the men bivouacking where the tactical exigencies of the moment require. The invaders will have the advantage of superior numbers, and the 700 cyclists whom he will have at his disposal are better trained and more accustomed to work in concert than the defending cyclists. It matters little what it is that you want—whether a situation or a servant—a "want ad" in The Star will reach the person who can fill your need.

Big Celebration in City's Honor at Luna Park.

Half-Holiday Observed Following Proclamation by Mayor. MILITARY AND CIVIC FEATURES. Part of Proceeds to Be Given to the Alexandria Hospital—Attractions Open to Children. Special Correspondence of The Star. ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 30, 1906. "Alexandria day" is being celebrated in elaborate fashion this afternoon at Luna Park. The people of the city began to pour soon after the noon hour, and indications are that a record-breaking crowd will witness the evening exercises. The program includes a diversity of rare attractions. Mayor Paff, chairman of the committee having charge of the observance, has completed all the arrangements for the evening. The weather now remains to insure the success of the affair. Many of the proprietors of the leading stores of the city have signified their intention of conforming to the proclamation of Mayor Paff in declaring a legal holiday after 3 o'clock in the afternoon by closing their doors, and thus allowing their employees to spend an evening at the park. A force of more than two hundred workmen was busy at the park at an early hour this morning, putting the place in readiness, as the work was not completed until yesterday. The grounds are numerous gullies in the grounds. These have all been leveled and the whole grounds put in splendid condition. Will Employ Historic Engine. A frame building has been erected, which at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon the flames will be extinguished by the Friendship Veteran Firemen's Association of Alexandria with the old Friendship hand engine, which will be manned by twenty-two members of the company. The engine is of the type used in the early part of the century, and is the only one of the kind in the city. It is a relic of the days when the city was a village. SMALL BOYS IN CUSTODY.

Accused of Snatching Handbag From Miss Loretto Costello. A boy about fourteen years old jumped onto a street car at 9th and B streets northwest about 11:30 o'clock last night, snatched the handbag from the lap of Miss Loretto Costello and then jumped off. Miss Costello reported the incident to Detective Barbee at the Pennsylvania station, 6th and B streets, and five minutes later the boy was in custody. He gave his name as Elmer Isaac. He is being held at the house of detention while Detective Barbee investigates the case. It is understood another boy was with Isaac when the handbag was stolen, and the police are endeavoring to find him. Miss Costello with several friends had been car riding during the evening, and she accompanied the trip to the St. Francis Hotel, on Pennsylvania street near 4th street. When the car reached 9th and B streets northwest she noticed two small boys jump on the car. One of the boys, who was about 14 years old, snatched her handbag, and she started to locate them. As he was going up 6th street he saw the boys at the Pennsylvania station and jumped into a cellar. Detective Barbee soon after located and arrested the other boy, who accompanied Isaac when the pocketbook was snatched. When taken to police headquarters he gave his name as John Douglas and said he was 16 years old and lived at 737 7th street southeast. When the two boys were brought together today Isaac admitted that he took the purse, and he says he threw it away in the street. The James Hotel while he was being chased by the police. The boys are being held by the police to find the pocketbook, and a search for it is being made around the hotel.

For Benefit of Hospital.

The Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway Company has made provision for handling the immense crowds which are expected at the park later in the evening. All the cars will be run through from Washington to Alexandria, and the loop at the park will be abandoned. Tickets for sale have been placed at the stations in Washington and Alexandria, and the entire proceeds from the sale of the receipts from the trip to Alexandria Hospital. The railway company has also offered to the hospital one-third of the receipts from the trip to Alexandria. The receipts from the trip to Alexandria Hospital today and a portion of the receipts from the amusements at the park will be given for the same purpose. The "Red Wire" will give two exhibitions on a ninety-foot tight wire, ending his thrilling act by sliding down the wire. He was wearing a hat on his feet and arms dangling in the air. It is termed on the bill boards "attempted suicide." The beautiful picnic groves have been thrown open to basket parties, and the amusements along "the trail" are running full blast. The Imperial Italian band is still occupying the big musical shell, having been re-engaged for another week. Their music is being enjoyed by the thousands of people dear to the heart of Dixie, and will be a fitting tribute to the spirit of the jubilee.

Police Court Proceedings.

James Elliott and his brother, Thomas Elliott, were charged in the police court this morning with having assaulted George Young Saturday afternoon. It was testified that the two defendants had entered an alley back of the market house, where Mr. Young was engaged in fixing a tire on one of the wheels of his wagon, and had severely beaten him about the face. Mr. Young, who is a man of advanced years, was yesterday arrested by the police and called loudly for the police, who put the men in custody. Mr. Young admitted having made the assault when they were arrested in the police court. They were represented by Charles A. McPherson, Attorney and Commonwealth's Attorney Samuel G. Brent appeared for the prosecution. A fine of $10 each was imposed on the defendants. Charles A. McPherson, colored, was arraigned in the police court this morning on the charge of assaulting Mr. William Cox, who was yesterday arrested by the police. From the testimony it appeared that Mr. Cox had occasion to open Baltimore's cell, and when he did so, it was stated, Baltimore assaulted him and endeavored to escape. Justice Caton imposed a fine of $25.

Deaths and Funerals.

Mrs. Fannie McConchie died at her residence, 331 North Henry street, this morning. She was the wife of Edward McConchie and was twenty-nine years of age. She was born in Madison county, Va. Mr. George W. Calver, a carpenter, died yesterday at his residence, 822 North Patrick street. The deceased was born in Prince William county, Va., and was seventy-two years of age. Funerals were held yesterday for William R. Padgett, who died yesterday and the interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Smith of Washington.

Funeral of Noted Railway Man.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 30.—The funeral of the late Alvah J. Smith, general passenger agent of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, took place this afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. C. W. Hlatt, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Congregational Church, assisted by Rev. Charles A. Eaton of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church. In accordance with a request of Mr. Smith, the pallbearers were all officers and clerks from the passenger department of the Lake Shore railroad. Many railway officials from other cities attended the funeral.

ACCEPTS CHAIRMANSHIP.

Mr. Charles E. Howe to Direct Citizens' Committee Affairs. Mr. Charles E. Howe, assistant treasurer of the American Security and Trust Company and secretary of the recently formed Jobbers and Shippers' Association of Washington, was called upon today by Maj. Fred S. Hodgson, chairman of the national encampment committee of the United States War Veterans, and Capt. J. Walter Mitchell, commander of the Department of the District of Columbia, and tendered the chairmanship of the citizens and business men's committee to act in conjunction with the committee of veterans in making the coming encampment a success in every particular. Mr. Howe was informed that request represented the unanimous wish of the Department of the District, Spanish War Veterans, and the encampment committee.

Falls Church News.

Special Correspondence of The Star. FALLS CHURCH, Va., July 30, 1906. The republican county committee of Fairfax county at Vienna, Saturday, decided to hold a mass convention at Fairfax Court House Friday, August 8, to elect six delegates and six alternates to the congressional convention for the eighth district which meets in the city of Alexandria August 14 to nominate a candidate for Congress. The county convention will also elect a county chairman and members of the county committee. The State Anti-Saloon League has arranged meetings throughout the county to be held in August. U. V. Weaver has purchased a lot on Washington street from Mr. C. W. Parker and will erect a residence this fall. Mr. Chauncey Beay died Saturday at the home of his father, J. W. Seay, of typhoid fever. He was 63 years of age. His wife and two children survive him. He was a member of Falls Church Lodge of Odd Fellows. Mrs. G. A. L. Merrifield is very ill, with typhoid fever, and is at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. W. Merrifield.

BOOKS FOR SCHOOLS. THE Y. M. C. A. ABROAD.

Light reading matter for use in the public schools, as described in a series of requisitions forwarded to the Commissioners by the board of education, is coming in for considerable scrutiny in the district building and Commissioner West has withheld his approval of the requisitions pending the receipt of a reply to his letter of inquiry sent to Admiral Baird, president of the board of education. It is said that most of the books are intended to use in connection with teachers' libraries in the high schools and, while there is no objection raised to the purchase of the text books which form part of the list, Commissioner West stated this morning that he thought the teachers could easily have their wants in the line of fiction rather than to have special libraries created in each school for the benefit of only the few teachers therein. Mr. West based his objection upon the admitted insufficiency of the appropriation for contingent expenses for the public schools for the current fiscal year and said that this fund should not be called upon for the purchase of books when the money needed for other and more important purposes. The requisitions which are held in abeyance until the matter is decided, contemplate the purchase of books worth approximately $500.

QUESTIONS NEED OF PURCHASE.

When the requisitions first came to his attention Commissioner West wrote a letter to the board of education asking why a large number of works of fiction were required in addition to the text books mentioned, and asking further if it was the intention of the board to establish libraries in all the high schools, from which the books would be supposed to draw their circulation. The requisitions were referred to the board of education, and it was intimated that the requisitions would not be withdrawn. The papers call for a list of the titles of the books to be purchased, and the Armstrong Manual Training School, and the Franklin School, the Summer School, and the Washington School, are mentioned. The text books, Commissioner West said, he would approve in the requisitions, but for others, it is stated, he thinks should be provided for in a special appropriation, if at all.

USE OF WINE AND BEER.

If a member of the local association should walk into the Paris association any day, said Mr. Rideout, he would probably be shocked greatly. For, with the meals that are served in the building, the members get beer and wines and they can have their coffee in the smoking room, which is a feature of the Paris association. But this is unusual, when it is considered that the young men are brought up to have wine and beer in their homes as we have milk in ours. Therefore, as a matter of fact, he said, there is less drunkenness in Paris than in similar American cities. In his contact with student life in Paris, he said, he gained the impression that it was far from pleasant. The students live around in cafes where women are frequently seen smoking and drinking, and their surroundings wherever they go are similarly depressing. New impressions of churches and their young men were given by Mr. Rideout in his travels through Europe. From the time he got acquainted with his seatmates on the boat, he said, to the time he returned, he heard criticisms of the churches. Some thought that preachers had only their salaries in view; others said the young men were not given enough to do to get into the actual spirit of the church. In the latter connection he found that in many of the churches in Paris the young men were asked after each service to do something for the cause, like going in a body to a nearby hospital to distribute towels and soap. But Mr. Rideout, he said, he said, the most successful of the crowded classes in the educational department was the conversational class, in which the young men were asked to discuss weekly filled with young men, each of whom took part in the discussions which were favorable to the association. He thought there was a hint for the American churches, he thought.

FROM PARIS TO ST. PETERSBURG.

From Paris Mr. Rideout went to attend the world's committee meeting at Geneva, and from there he proceeded to Italy. After a visit to Germany he went on to St. Petersburg. Crossing from Germany to Russia, he said, was like crossing into another world. At St. Petersburg, he said, there were 70,000 soldiers, and a policeman in every house. The policeman took notice, he said, of everything that went on in the streets. But Mr. Rideout reported it to headquarters every twenty-four hours. When Mr. Rideout went to stay with Secretary Gaylor there, he said, his pocketbook was taken by the policeman and he was under observation all the time he was there. Impressive thing about the Russians with whom he came in contact at the association, he said, was their eagerness to learn something new. The various classes in the association contained 500 students, and only the limited quarters kept the number from being twice as many. The association was like a city, he said, and the Russian desire, too, that Americans should come to take charge of the work. They want Americans in the Y. M. C. A. and other lines of work. Mr. Rideout stated, arrangements are being made to much enlarge the quarters as soon as conditions in the city quiet down. CLEANSING OF STABLES.

Movement in the Interest of the Public Health. As a result of a conference between Prof. Willet M. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Commissioner Henry L. West, the latter has ordered Health Officer Woodward to take immediate steps toward the enforcement of the regulations which require the prompt removal of manure and sweepings from all stables in the District. Prof. Hays spoke to Mr. West about an experimental crusade made by doctors from one of the bureaus of the Department of Agriculture in the vicinity of that department. The doctors went through all the stables in the neighborhood, which wherever unremoved piles of manure were found they sought to impress upon the owners the necessity of removing the manure for propagation of flies thus afforded—and the danger of flies spreading typhoid. He said that the results secured in this little voluntary campaign were very satisfactory. When the matter was first brought to the attention of Health Officer Woodward he said he had the regulations regarding the prompt removal of manure and sweepings from all stables in the District. Some thought that preachers had only their salaries in view; others said the young men were not given enough to do to get into the actual spirit of the church. In the latter connection he found that in many of the churches in Paris the young men were asked after each service to do something for the cause, like going in a body to a nearby hospital to distribute towels and soap. But Mr. Rideout, he said, he said, the most successful of the crowded classes in the educational department was the conversational class, in which the young men were asked to discuss weekly filled with young men, each of whom took part in the discussions which were favorable to the association. He thought there was a hint for the American churches, he thought.
