REGISTRATION IN OHIO

Voters Beginning to Shake Off Their Apathy.

T. E. BURTON IS UNOPPOSED

Taft and Bryan Will Both Make Speeches.

STATE AND NATIONAL ISSUES

Some Fears of a Republican Slump, but There is Little Betting on the Result.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

COLUMBUS, O., October 25.—Relying upon their appeal to the voters to elect a republican Congress and to stand by President Roosevelt, the republicans are hoping, in spite of adverse conditions and indications, for a victory in both the state and congressional elections next month. The fact that the registration in both Cincinnati and Cleveland toward the close reached almost normal figures, and that republican meetings have lately been fairly well attended, has led them to believe that a revival of interest has taken place and that the republicans have at last shaken off the apathy so heavy earlier in the campaign.

As for Cleveland, however, it should be kept in mind that the anti-Dick and Foraker organization is in control there, and the candidates presented—from Congressmen Theodore E. Burton down—were nominated by the anti-boos faction. There probably will be a full vote in Cuyahoga county. As for Cincinnati, it has been suggested that in the anxiety of the republican voters to get another chance to strike the Cox machine that has swelled the registration lists here, the registration was slow until the supreme court had decided in favor of holding the Senate investigating committee invalid. Immediately registration became lively. In Toledo, however, only other cities in the state having complete registration this year, the registration is short. Here it is six thousand less than last year—a falling of 10 per cent.

Avoids Large Cities.

Mr. Bryan swings through the close congressional districts on a special train, giving two days to the Ohio campaign and making half a hundred short addresses. Secretary Taft is to make three—one at Cleveland, one at Logan and one at Lancaster.

The democrats have carefully avoided the large cities with the Bryan train, to the capital district, which is a close one, is not touched by the distinguished Nebraskan. At the opening of the campaign Col. W. A. Taylor, the democratic candidate, asked both the state and county committees to bring no outside speakers into the district, but, leaving no stone unturned, he is making an attack upon the record of his opponent—Representative E. I. Taylor—when he was state's attorney here, charging that he had tried to prevent the trust from holding up the county. So far Representative Taylor has refused to notice the charges.

Ignoring State Issues.

Among the old anti-Bryan democrats—and they still look upon him with some uncertainty, even though he has ceased to talk free silver—Col. Bryan coming into the state is viewed with some anxiety. They realize that the campaign as so far made has been based, as far as the democrats are concerned at least, solely on state issues. The republicans have been trying to ignore this feature of the democratic campaign and to make national issues the principal ones. Mr. Bryan will have to talk mainly of national issues, and he will not help the republicans to bring national issues to the front, but it will probably drive many republicans, who were in the mood to vote with the democrats, back into their old party fold.

The democrats are hoping that Secretary Taft will repeat his Akron speech at least this year, or so much of it as pertained to bossism in republican politics in Ohio. Such a speech at this time, with the sensational national fights of the Dayton state convention fresh in mind, would, it is thought, split the republican party wide open and make a democratic victory more certain than this year. Senators Foraker and Dick are also anxious about the tenor of the Secretary's speeches. Senator Dick is known to have expressed his anxiety about that reason will be extremely careful as to what he says in his Ohio speeches. No one has suggested that the secretary was not anxious to secure the election of Gov. Herrick last year, but the governor's defeat is generally credited here to what Mr. Taft said in his Akron speech about "Boss" Cox and his rule in Cincinnati.

As to Mr. Taft.

It has not escaped notice here that all of Secretary Taft's speeches here will be delivered in districts where republicans who were against the senatorial alliance at Dayton are candidates for Congress. He speaks first in Representative Burton's district. Mr. Burton is in no danger, as many other Ohio republicans are. He has no opposition at all. He is the only republican candidate for Congress in the state against whom the democrats have made no nomination. His other speeches will be made in the eleventh district, where Albert Douglas is the republican candidate to succeed Gen. Grovesnor and is in great danger of defeat. The general sentiment seems to be that a republican slump is coming in the state, and that the republican plurality will be small, if it is not wholly wiped out. Those who usually bet on the results are not active this year.

Ordered Out of Commission.

Two naval vessels have been ordered out of commission—the gunboat Newport, now engaged in patrol duty in Dominican waters, and the auxiliary cruiser Lawton, which has been engaged in carrying seamen and supplies between San Francisco and United States island possessions in the Pacific. The Newport has been ordered to the navy yard at Boston, and the Lawton will be put in the hands of the commission at the navy yard at Mare Island, Cal. The auxiliary cruiser Buffalo will be placed in commission at the navy yard at San Francisco. The officers and crew of the Newport will be transferred to other vessels on the Atlantic station short of their complement.

The Denver Leaves Havana.

In accordance with the policy of the administration to reduce the naval force in Cuban waters to the minimum, the gunboat Denver, which was one of the first ships sent to Havana, left there yesterday for Norfolk. She carries about ninety marines, which is about the limit of her capacity. The battleship Texas will be the next vessel of the fleet at Havana to start for the United States, with a detachment of marines. The collier Hannibal, which took a large cargo of coal to Cuba, returned to Norfolk yesterday.

To Assist Gov. Magoon.

At the request of Gov. Magoon, J. D. Terrell, chief clerk of the controller of the treasury, has been directed to proceed to Havana, and has arranged to sail Saturday from New York. Mr. Terrell was auditor of the intervening government in the United States, and is well known to all those who have had to do with the auditing department of the island in satisfactory condition now.

STILL MINUS A CLUE

AUTHORITIES FAIL TO IDENTIFY BODY OF COLORED WOMAN.

Having failed to identify the body of the colored woman who was found in the woods on the farm of the Rev. Dr. Parker in Prince George county, Md., some distance west of the Maryland Agricultural College, and no autopsy having been performed to determine the cause of death, some of the people who have displayed an interest in the case made the suggestion this morning that the body may have been taken from a grave and robbed of its clothing. Only a few persons are inclined to take any stock in this theory, however, believing that grave robbers would hardly go to so much trouble for a few articles of wearing apparel.

No matter from what cemetery a body may have been taken it would have to be hauled quite a distance to the farm where the body in question was found by two boys.

The investigation last night proved that Mrs. Jane Arnold and "Aunt" Fanny Warner, the two women who were seen in the woods, and the county authorities are completely in the dark respecting the matter of identification. Mrs. Arnold is living at Indian Head, Md., and the woman seen last night by her son, Paul Arnold, and the nurse was found at her home in Lewisville by Mr. R. E. Bell, one of the jurors in the case.

It is believed the body of the colored woman was placed in the woods after night, although it would have been an easy matter to have left it there during the day. The fact that the body was left on a knoll and not in a gully casts some doubt on the theory that it was deposited there.

Reasons for the Belief.

"There are plenty more secluded places in the woods than that where the body was found," remarked one of the persons making the investigation yesterday, "and had the body been put there in the day time it would have been hidden from view in some manner. It was left where any person passing through the woods would probably see it, while it could have been placed in some depression or behind one of the many decayed trees in the woods, and would have been found by the farmer who lives on the place where the body was found is about 100 yards from a road which leads to the Metzer road, and not far from a wagon way that was used by farm hands last winter while they were hauling timber. A more prominent place could hardly have been selected.

The body was found yesterday afternoon while Detective Hartigan, Constable Thomas Garrison and the police photographer were there in connection with the investigation. Cornelius Giles, a colored man who is employed on the farm of Dr. Parker, discovered the body for the purpose of having it further examined and photographed, but because of the condition of the face this was deemed useless. Nothing has been found which aids to identification of the remains. The body was put back into the grave which was used by the county authorities were completely at sea in the case.

Local Detective Detailed.

Maj. Sylvester sent Detective Hartigan to Maryland with directions to learn what he could of the case in order that the local department would be informed should it turn out that the body was taken to Maryland from the District of Columbia. The local police are of the opinion that the case is one of murder and believe it will be so shown before the investigation is finished. The inquest is to be resumed tonight at Berwyn, but some of the jurors are in favor of a further postponement to give ample time for further investigation.

The case recalls to the minds of the local police and some of the older officers in Prince George county the murder of Elias Foster, colored, several years ago. Her body was found in Prince George county, Md., a short distance across the line, but was not identified until after the burial, the investigation requiring a disinterment of the body in the cemetery at Bladensburg. Nelson Thomas, colored, was arrested by Detectives Ruff and Horne charged with the murder. He was convicted and afterward died in the Maryland penitentiary.

EXPRESS DISAPPROVAL.

Action by Members of Officers' Association, N. G. D. C.

At a meeting of the members of the Officers' Association of the 1st Regiment, National Guard of the District of Columbia, last evening, objection being manifested to the election of Harry Coope as a member of the association, the nomination was withdrawn.

Merely as a matter of policy, and not of personality, it is explained, many of the officers of the regiment are lacking in enthusiasm because of the fact that Col. O'Rand, the regimental commander, has nominated Capt. Coope for commission as the regimental adjutant. "While conceding that the appointment is purely a personal one with the colonel, the adjutant being a member of his staff, and, in fact, his right-hand man, it is not good policy to go outside, not only of the regiment, but the National Guard as well, for an individual to fill the vacancy created by the resignation recently of Capt. Leroy W. Herron. The majority of the officers, it is said, favored the promotion of First Lieut. Duncan Richmond, the senior battalion adjutant of the regiment. Further, it is pointed out, they evinced their disapproval of the selection by failing to elect Capt. Coope a member of the association at the meeting last evening.

The statement is made that the constitution of the Officers' Association contains a provision that may make it compulsory, by reason of the existing state of affairs, for the colonel to withdraw the nomination of Capt. Coope for the adjutancy.

Funeral of Horace Vincent.

Vincent, who was called to Newarre, Stark county, Ohio, Sunday last by the death of his brother, Horace Vincent, has returned with the remains. Funeral services were held this afternoon at the home of R. H. Vincent, Rev. F. Tyler, pastor of the local M. E. Church officiating. ### Electricity From the Susquehanna.

From the Manufacturer's Record.

At McCall Ferry, Pa., forty miles from Baltimore and sixty miles from Philadelphia, there is in course of construction one of the greatest dams in the country, intended to develop from the waters of the Susquehanna river electric power to the delivered capacity of from 75,000 to 100,000 horsepower. When completed the electricity generated there will be supplied to Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Lancaster, Harrisburg, York and a number of other

Men's New Fall Trousers at $3.40

But their worth is nearer the four-fifty mark. We base that statement on the Trousers that four-fifty will buy in other stores.

Knowing these Trousers so well—the fabrics, the fashioning, and the tailoring down to the slightest detail—we confidently say that so much Trouser goodness is out of all proportion to the price.

Fashioned of worsteds and chevots, in stripes and fancy mixtures. New models, cut large at the hips and knees, and close-fitting at the foot.

Boys' $1.25 and $1.50 Felt Hats, $1.00

The maker atoned for keeping us waiting longer than we stipulated by making the hats better than he promised. We were agreeably surprised.

All are fashioned in the new telescope shapes, accurately proportioned to boys of seven to sixteen years—sizes 6 1/4 to 7 1/2. Colors: Black, brown and steel.

The Saks $2 Special Derbies and Soft Hats for Men

It is one of our hobbies—this Two-dollar Special. You will understand, when you see the hat, why the maker was a bit discouraged, and contended that we were too exacting—that we were asking too much of him.

But by-and-by we persuaded him to our way of thinking; and the result is—the Saks $2 Special Derbies and Soft Hats.

This is our opinion of them in a nutshell: A new hat for every one that fails to give satisfaction. Can you say so much for any other two-dollar hat that you know of?

Fashioned in natty styles that appeal strongly to young men. The Derbies in black; the Soft Hats in pearl and the new shades of gray.

Children's $4.00 Beaver Sailors, $2.45

Such hats at such a price would be quite unusual even at the end of the season. It has not really begun yet. Fashioned of long-nap beaver, with very broad rolled brims. Colors: Black, navy blue or natural.

Children's Tam o'Shanters at 50c

We underline it because we believe it to be a much better hat than fifty cents will buy in any other store. Fashioned of camel's hair or cloth—the cloth ones being adorned with silk-embroidered emblems. Colors: Black, navy blue or golf red.

Football Players, Read This!

We announce very important price-reductions on a good-sized number of Football Suits and Pants belonging to lines which, these few individual members of each excepted, have already entirely sold out, the season is but just begun:

BLESSING IN DISGUISE

RAINY WEATHER CRIPPLES ONE FORCE, BENEFITS ANOTHER.

Although the recent rainy spell practically crippled half of the working force of the street cleaning department, making it impossible for the "machine squad" to work during this period, it has benefited the hand sweepers, whose chief duties at present are to remove the leaves from the streets.

For more than a week the falling leaves have been piling up on the streets throughout the city, especially in the residence sections, and the "sweepers" have had about all they could attend to in keeping the thoroughfares clean. According to Supt. Twohey of the street cleaning department, the work of removing the leaves would have been much more difficult had it not been for the almost daily rains.

That it is easier to remove the leaves in wet weather is explained by Mr. Twohey, because when the leaves are dry they are blown in every direction, and under these circumstances it is almost impossible for the "sweeper" to deposit in a bag a small pile of leaves he has collected without having half the contents blown back upon the street again, but if the leaves are well soaked they stick to the pavement and the "sweeper" has little difficulty in collecting them and carting them away.

Active Work Tonight Probable.

Mr. Twohey says that within the last ten days his "machine force," which consists of sprinklers and sweeping machines, have only been able to make their appearance on two or three occasions. Commissioner West, who supervises the street cleaning department, stated today that a force of 220 laborers and 25 wagons is at work upon the streets in the sections cleaned by hand, while tonight, if it remains clear, a force of 7 sprinklers, 24 sweeping machines, 56 laborers, 37 carts and 15 wagons will go to work. During the last two days that the "machine force" was able to work 622 loads of sweepings were taken from the streets, which, according to the Commissioner, was a total almost double the normal figure.

Mr. Twohey is employing all the men and carts available in order that the leaves can be removed from the streets as promptly as possible, and hopes that by next Saturday or Sunday practically all of the remaining leaves will have fallen and normal conditions will again prevail.

Reduction in Quantity.

As a result of the statement made by Mr. Twohey several days ago that there was no reduction in the amount of waste per thrown on the streets and alleys since the Commissioners requested the public to reduce this practice to a minimum and directed the police to aid the street cleaning department in enforcing the laws regarding this violation, Maj. Sylvester, chief of police, reported to the Commissioners today that the members of the force have been particularly active in co-operating with the street cleaning department and have effected more than thirty arrests of persons violating this law within the last two months.

Just what the Commissioners will decide upon after the season of reducing this practice of throwing waste paper on the streets is not known. Commissioner West stated today that he at a loss to offer any plan, as he reported to every means possible, and, according to the daily reports of Mr. Twohey, little or no improvement is shown.

Autumn.

From Spring's Week.

Spring is the season of fresh endeavor and young impulse, summer is the time for the ripening, enlarging, maturing of all projects; and then, lest man should for an instant fancy himself stable upon the earth, should picture this earthly life as ultimate, autumn, the "metaphor of everything that dies," comes in, counting the falling petals on her rearing, watching the clouds of birds in flight, seeing her earth wither or ever she shrouds her, setting the seal of the passing of all mortal things upon the face of life. Then we realize that we, too, are ebbing out with the dying year. If man forces action in the name of the high-hearted hope of seeing the result, but in our autumn years we force action knowing that the little we do must be swiftly done; our years are few, our hopes are few, we have learned to expect little or no return; we shall come to the age when we are not panting after growing beauties; we shall ebb out with those who homeward go.

If we have lived naturally, taking the joys of fighting the sorrows of the years as they come, we shall have a genial temper in the autumn weather. Silence and peace and dreams draw over us unawares, and we start up to wonder where all the tumults of yesterday are flown. Grief and suffering leave little in the memory, but joy stays heavy about us, and we know how or whence. We are ready, without urging, to fold our hands a little and look on. We are glad to take up and lay aside the vestment of the personal life, with all its desires and hopes and ambitions, and to drift, even as nature herself is drifting, into the ultimate cold and quiet which precede new birth.

Blueberry Pie Time.

From the Bath (Va.), American.

Now has arrived the gay and festive season of the year when the blueberry pie shares with the summer girl the esteem and passing affection of all healthy people. The pie should have a thin and flaky crust and be allowed to come to just the right shade of brown. The lower "crust" should be not too thick, lest it be soggy. Some paste around its rim strips of mastic to prevent the juice running out in some mysterious way. The blueberry pie properly made is woman's best gift to man—its preparation is a sure way to a man's heart that is truly awful. And the same holds true of the raspberry pie and the strawberry pie, which latter few even otherwise good cooks can successfully make.

Thousands of situations have been obtained through the want columns of The Star.
