By James Watson. The recent great dog show at Madison Square Garden in New York will be remembered for some time as the great upset show, for more venerated if not venerated dogs were shown on the occasion than at any previous show. Some of these overthrows were caused by errors and others by sound judgment. The bulldog decisions were freely criticized, but that is nothing unusual in this breed, for each owner sticks with the tenacity of his dog to the claim to the highest honors.

George Stone's Break Into Professional Ball. George Stone, champion batter of the American League, relates the following story of his career on the ball field: "I was working on a farm in Iowa, and playing ball on a Saturday afternoon in a small town called Salt. A manager at Blencoe, Iowa, offered me a chance to play on his team. While there I got my chance to break into minor league ranks. The Blencoe team was to play at Omaha at a Woodmen's picnic, against the Whiting team. The manager of the Whiting team, playing that section were in the habit of treating us against each other. In other words, they would get players from Omaha or other cities. 'We got a tip that Whiting was going to have several players from Omaha, and our manager, Fred Will, took me to a manager at the Omaha Western League team, to send us a battery. He sent Buckley and me, and what we did to those Whiting boys was a shame. We whipped them 11 to 2. 'I played shortstop and put up a star name in the game. The result was I signed with Buckley. The result was I signed with Omaha that fall. My first games were against Denver, and I guess I made good from the start. 'It matters little what it is that you want—whether a situation or a servant—' said the Star. 'The Star will reach the person who can fill his needs.'
