TSAI SUGGESTS OUT OF TOWN FOR JUST A FEW HOURS Imperial Commission Gone to Annapolis—Back for Dinner Tonight at Chinese Embassy.

Prince Tsai Sun and members of the imperial Chinese commission, of which he is the head, left Washington at 11 o'clock this morning on a special trolley for Annapolis.

They will return to the city this afternoon. Tonight they will be entertained by the Chinese minister at a formal dinner.

After the dinner Admiral Sah and his staff will take a night train for Newport News. There they will inspect the great shipyards and look over the magnificent harbor of Hampton roads.

Prince Sun had a busy time yesterday. He exchanged calls with Secretary of State Knox and Secretary of the Navy Meyer, made a formal visit to the White House, journeyed to Fort Myer to witness cavalry and artillery evolutions, and wound up the day by dining with the President.

At Fort Myer the prince was honored by a salute of twenty-one guns, and welcomed to the shore by the commandant, Col. Joseph Garrard.

During the afternoon Admiral Sah and his staff visited the Naval Academy and the shops of the Navy. Commander Beatty and other officers detailed there.

The White House dinner last night Prince Sun was escorted down Pennsylvania avenue and back to the New Willard by Company C of the 10th Cavalry.

The imperial commission will remain in Washington until tomorrow afternoon, when the members will board a special train for New York, to remain over Sunday.
