FAVORS MARE ISLAND YARD.
Daniels to Continue It as Establishment of First Class.

Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department yesterday decided that the Mare Island yard, San Francisco, should be continued as a yard of the first class.

This decision was reached after a two days' conference with the entire California congressional delegation and a special committee from Vallejo. Capt. Henry T. Mayo, commandant of the yard, also was present and it was largely upon his recommendations that Secretary Daniels ordered that the work of dredging should proceed and that no change should be made in the status of the yard.

WARD FOR MENTALLY ILL.
Psychopathic Division of Naval Medical School Hospital Established.

A psychopathic ward has been established at the Naval Medical School Hospital in this city for the observation and treatment of certain officers and enlisted men of the navy and marine corps whose condition does not require their commitment to the Government Hospital for the Insane.

The action was taken in order that patients afflicted with slight or temporary mental disorders may escape the stigma of having been inmates of an insane asylum. It is held that such cases can be better cared for in a psychopathic ward of the regular hospital and will at all times be under the immediate control of officers of the service until they recover or it becomes necessary to transfer them to the government insane asylum.

GIVES ITS FIRST SMOKER.
Washington Branch, Association of Civil Service Employees, Entertains.

Washington Branch, No. 9, of the National Association of Civil Service Employees at Navy Yards and Stations, gave its first smoker last Thursday evening at Washington Hall, 3d street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

William Hanft sang "The Song of the Open Sea" and "Love's Sorrows," accompanied by Mr. Werner at the piano. He was followed by A. L. Simpson, who sang "Oh, Dry Those Tears" and "Thinking of Thee." The Messrs. Clark then gave several whistling duets of popular songs, accompanied by George H. Conrad, pianist, following with clever whistling imitation of birds, etc. Alfred H. Rodrick recited "A Banjo Song," by Dunbar and "The Groom's Story," by Doyle. Refreshments, cigars and cigarettes were served, and the evening's entertainment closed with a monologue by Zeb Clark.

POLICE CO-OPERATE WITH SUFFRAGISTS
Assignment of Special Section to Each Citizens' Association Program.

MEETING NEXT TUESDAY FOR FINISHING TOUCHES
Committee Urges Co-Operation of Individual Householders—Similar System in New York.

A meeting of the clean city committee, which is to direct Washington's big sanitary crusade during the week of April 14 to 19 has been called for 4:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the boardroom of the municipal building. Preparations for the campaign are drawing to a close and the committee, at Tuesday's meeting, will endeavor to give its plans the final touches.

Citizens' organizations in every section of the District have appointed delegates to represent them at this body. Chairman Richardson last night stated that if any associations have failed to name representatives they should attend to the matter immediately, in order that complete arrangements may be made Tuesday for complete renovation of the entire municipality and the outlying communities of the District.

The principal business to be disposed of at the meeting will be the assignment of territories to the various citizens' associations and other civic bodies which have enlisted in the war on dirt. Each organization represented in the committee will be given a particular district to supervise during the campaign.

Districts Already Listed.

Dr. Arthur L. Murray of the District of Columbia health department, who is secretary of the committee, already has commenced the work of assigning districts to the citizens' bodies, which have named delegates. A large map is used for this purpose and no section will be slighted.

The arrangement being worked out will be submitted to the clean-up body for approval. It is not likely that there will be another session of the central committee before the campaign starts, but the executive committee will, in all probability, meet several times in the interval. The executive committee members are the officers of the central body and the chairmen of the subcommittees, including those on finance, membership, sanitation and other matters.

Execution of the plan to be finally adopted is the task that will fall upon the executive committee. This body will meet both prior to and during the crusade for the purpose of acting on complaints and inspecting the progress of the work. It will also be making Washington healthier and cleaner.

Management Encouraged.

The response being made by citizens to the committee's plea that they begin at once to improve the sanitary conditions of their own premises is said to be more general than the clean-up leaders had anticipated and is encouraging them greatly in their efforts.

It is desired by the committee that every household in the city should be inspected and see that the rubbish collected is removed before the campaign starts, that the streets be kept clean and give later to the problem of improving the sanitation of the poorer residential sections of the city.

Municipal health experts are interested in the clean-up crusade now being conducted in New York city under the direction of the health department. In metropolitan areas, as in Washington, citizens are taking an active part in the work. The character, and the success of the undertaking in New York city, it is conceded, will be determined by the extent of their co-operation.

The clean-up process in New York is taking place from street to street and house to house, and in this work the department expects to be helped by district committees formed in each of the boroughs, which will be composed, as far as possible, of the various social, charitable and religious societies desiring to co-operate in the undertaking.

Just as Washington is to be districted into numerous sections, the same method of New York has been divided into sections, and the work will be accomplished by means of a system in which the unit will be the block.

The official co-operation of the street cleaning department, tenement house department, fire department, department of water supply, gas and electricity, department of education and bureau of fire protection, has been promised in the war on filth and disease being waged in New York.

Health authorities of New York, as well as those of Washington, are convinced that a general cleaning up of any municipality, when conducted in a systematic manner and with acceptable results, will result in a reduction in the mortality rate during the ensuing year.

This was true of Washington last year, as, following the crusade inaugurated in 1912, the mortality rate in the State reduction was recorded in the mortality rate established by certain diseases which are believed to have their origin in insanitary conditions.

In view of the extent to which last year's campaign aroused public interest and the success of the work, it is believed that the crusade to be waged in Washington this spring will be followed by a similar reduction in the mortality rate. The practicability of spring "clean-ups" will have been definitely established.

Women Feel Sure of Protection During Their Parade Tomorrow.

Adequate police protection has been assured the small army of suffragists, representing every congressional district in the country, which will hold a mass meeting tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Columbia Theater and then march to the Capitol to present to Congress petitions for nation-wide equal suffrage. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, said last night that a permit for the march to the Capitol had been obtained, and that the Capitol police will co-operate with the metropolitan police to preserve order.

Miss Paul said that she felt sure there would be no interruption to the march. The women will parade from the Columbia Theater to Pennsylvania avenue and directly to the Capitol. She declared she believed there would be no necessity for extraordinary protection, as reports received at suffrage headquarters showed that the police are ready to do everything possible.

Section of Gallery Reserved.

The suffragists were encouraged by the receipt from Senator Overman, chairman of the Senate rules committee, of cards for an entire section in the Senate gallery for tomorrow. The tickets will be distributed among the suffragists and they will use them after distributing their petitions to the various members of the Senate and House.

Suffrage headquarters, at 1420 F street northwest, were unusually busy yesterday. Final preparations for the big demonstration were completed here yesterday. A score women were hard at work all day arranging the petitions and completing the list of women who will present them. Delegations from different states arrived during the entire day.

It was announced that if the weather tomorrow is fair most of the delegates who go to the Capitol will be dressed entirely in white. Suffrage headquarters will be open from 9 o'clock until 7 o'clock today to enable the delegates to call and receive final instructions, and get the banners each will carry. State delegations will meet this afternoon.

Speakers at Mass Meeting.

The speakers at the meeting tomorrow morning will include Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale, a niece of Forbes Robertson, the actor; Mrs. James Leeds Laidlaw, auditor of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and wife of the president of the National American Association of Women Suffragists; and Miss Janet Richards of Washington.

Mrs. Mary Ware Bennett, secretary of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, will be the principal speaker at an outdoor meeting to be held after the petition drive has been delivered. Other speakers will be Mrs. Owen Kildare, Mrs. Mary Beard of New York, Miss Lucy Burns of Brooklyn and Mrs. Nina E. Alford.

BURLESON TIME-SAVER.
Summons Postoffice Department Officials, and Clerks Grow Nervous.

Postmaster General Burleson adopted a time-saver yesterday, when he was called upon by the postmasters at Erie, Omaha and Elizabeth, N. J., as well as Postmaster Merritt of this city, who desired to consult him about matters pertaining to their own offices. He quickly summoned for conference, at the suggestion of First Assistant Postmaster General Roper, Second Assistant Postmaster General Lewart, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blaklee, Superintendent Spillman of city delivery, Keating of the department of salaries and allowances and Stephors of the railway mail service in San Francisco, who was in town to talk their needs over and adjust matters directly with the departmental officers with whom they would have eventually to deal.

Some observant clerks who saw that something unusual was going on began to weaken and work up a rumor that the office cleaning was to begin, despite the assurance they have received from the Postmaster General and his assistants that efficient and faithful men had nothing to fear. It was a little scare that ended in a nervous laugh for all of them.

United States Built 135 Vessels.
A total of 135 sailing, steam and unrigged vessels were built in the United States last month, according to statistics made public by the Department of Commerce. The total tonnage of the vessels was 34,078 tons, of which the Percival Roberts, Jr., a steel steamer, of 7,983 gross tons, built at Lorain, Ohio, was the largest. The vessels were all officially numbered.

BATTLESHIP FIGHT DUE AT NAVY LEAGUE MEET
Members of Organization in Conflict as to Program of United States.

There is every indication that a lively discussion will be precipitated during the Navy League convention, which will be held in this city next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, over the question of a battleship program. More than 400 expect to attend and from all parts of the country come conflicting expressions of opinion.

Many of the league members are in favor of four battleships a year, in accordance with the recommendation of the general board, of which Admiral Dewey is president. Still others contend that a no-ship policy is better than a one-ship policy on the ground that an inadequate navy is not worth the cost. They prefer to concentrate on the navy policy looking to the consolidation of navy yards and stations, and measures looking to increased efficiency.

Program of Addresses.

The program of addresses includes "The Council of National Deans," by Percival Belmont; "The Strategic Value of the Panama Canal to the Navy," by Commander J. S. McKean of the Army War College; "The Consolidation of Navy Yards and Stations, in the Light of Strategy and Economy," by Henry H. Ward, vice president of the league; and "A Reformed System for the Promotion of Naval Officers," by Robert M. Thompson.

Among the guests who will attend the annual dinner to be given in honor of the Secretary of the Navy Friday evening, April 11, will be Vice President Marshall, the Secretary of War, Lindley Garrison, Admiral William D. George, Dewey, the Secretary of Commerce, William C. Redfield; the assistant secretary of the navy, Franklin Roosevelt; Senators Henry Cabot Lodge, John W. Kern and Charles F. Johnson, Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright, retired; Rear Admiral W. W. Kimball, retired; Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, president of George Washington University, and Joshua W. Alexander.

"School Lunch Problem," Topic.

Miss Caroline L. Hunt, one of the nutrition experts of the Department of Agriculture, is scheduled to address the Parent-Teachers' Association of Brookland, at the Brookland school house, Wednesday evening. "The Food of School Children and the School Lunch Problem" will be the topic.

Thurman Slated For Position.

J. L. Thurman of Columbus, Ohio, grandson of Allen G. Thurman, who was the democratic candidate for Vice President in 1888, is slated as solicitor for the Department of Commerce. The appointment will be made, it is understood, early next week.
