ROCKVILLE AND COUNTY NEWS ITEMS AND NOTES

Candidates Before Recent Primaries File Statements of Expenses.

Special Correspondence of The Star. ROCKVILLE, Md., September 29, 1913. Robert G. Hilton, treasurer of the Democratic Progressive League, which was organized several months ago in the interest of the candidacy of Dr. Eugene Jones for the democratic nomination for the state senate to succeed Senator Blair (R.), filed with the clerk of the circuit court here, as required by law, a statement of the league's receipts and disbursements during the primary campaign. The total receipts are shown to have been $1,577, with the following contributors: Frank H. Brinkley, $1,000; Blair Lee, $500; Brooke Lee, $100; Robert G. Hilton, $100; C. Norman Boic, $7. The expenditures according to the statement, were $1,818.00, or $300.00 more than the receipts, and were for automobile and carriage hire, postage, printing, advertising, ballots, etc.

Other Statements Filed. Arthur Williams, political agent for J. Dawson Williams, died at an early hour yesterday at his home near Avery, four miles from Rockville, aged thirty-nine years. She had been in ill health a long while, her death being due to an affection of the lungs. Several months ago Miss Adamson went to the benefit of her health, but the change did not help her and she returned to her home six weeks ago. Mrs. Frances C. Gingell, of Bethesda, this county, has instituted suit in the circuit court here for an absolute divorce from James E. Gingell, also of Bethesda neighborhood, on the ground of cruelty and drunkenness. She also asks custody of the children. The bill represents that the couple were married in Washington in 1912. Mrs. Gingell is represented by Attorney Emory H. Bogley of Washington.

Miss Consuelo Adamson Dead. Miss Consuelo Adamson, daughter of the late Robert W. Adamson, died at an early hour yesterday at her home near Avery, four miles from Rockville, aged thirty-nine years. She had been in ill health a long while, her death being due to an affection of the lungs. Several months ago Miss Adamson went to the benefit of her health, but the change did not help her and she returned to her home six weeks ago. Mrs. Frances C. Gingell, of Bethesda, this county, has instituted suit in the circuit court here for an absolute divorce from James E. Mrs. Gingell is represented by Attorney Emory H. Bogley of Washington.

Deaths After Long Illness. Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Hawkins, seventy-two years old, died a few days ago at her home near Clarksville, this county, following an illness of several years. She is survived by six sons and two daughters. The funeral took place from the First Baptist Church, the services being conducted by Rev. Frank B. Cowell, formerly pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. T. D. Richards, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Clarksville, and in the cemetery near the church.

STRUCK BY A STREET CAR. George E. Wright Injured—Explosion Injures Richard Rose.

While crossing at Pennsylvania avenue and 14th street northwest last night about 8:30 o'clock George E. Wright, 2100 14th street, was struck by a street car and thrown to the pavement. The injured man, whose home is at 1422 N street northwest, was taken to Emergency Hospital. Physicians found he had sustained a broken jawbone and minor cuts and bruises.

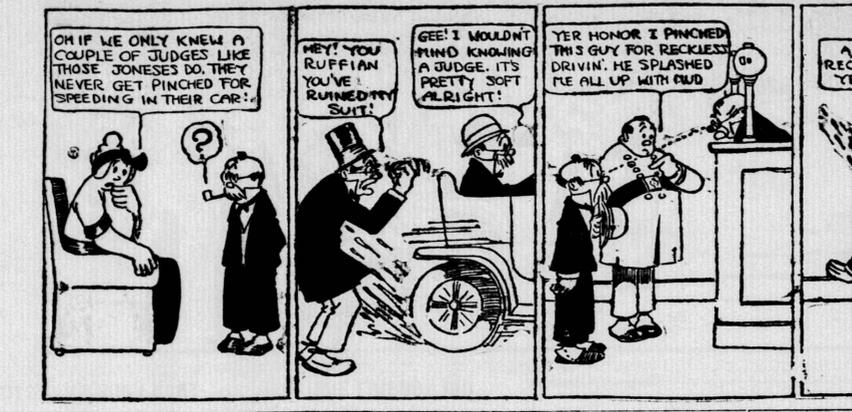

BODIES STILL IN WRECK. More Explosives Needed to Destroy Hulk of Wrecked Luckenbach.

In spite of the fact that several orders of dynamite have been expended by the contractors removing the wreck of the American steamship Julia Luckenbach from the Chesapeake Bay channel, near Tangier sound, and much of the ship has been torn to pieces, none of the bodies of the victims of the wreck have yet been recovered. It is said to be doubtful if they will be. The bodies still in the wreck are thought to be held down by broken masses of iron, making it impossible to find them. The work of removing the wreck so as to give a depth of forty-five feet over it is progressing rapidly, the contractor, Eugene Boehm, of Atlantic City, N. J., having pushed the work since starting on it about ten days ago. The supply of high explosive the contractor has used is being calculated to be sufficient to tear the sunken steamer to bits, has been used up, and it is necessary to order more to be received. The Luckenbach was sunk early in the spring, in a collision with the British steamship Albatross, while on her way from Port Tampa to Baltimore via Chesapeake Bay. She went down in a few minutes after being struck, and twenty persons lost their lives.

LETTER AUTO DAMAGED. Steering Gear Breaks, Causing Machine to Crash Into Wall.

The breaking of the steering gear of an automobile owned by Joseph Leiter, president of the Washington Gas Light Company, last night resulted in the vehicle crashing against the wall of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal about 700 feet east of the New Cut road. William Stout, chauffeur, was on his way to the Leiter summer home in Virginia when the accident happened. The car was badly damaged, but Stout was not hurt.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONASES

BOYS TAKE PONY CART FOR FREDERICKSBURG

Arrested at Dumfries, Hungry and Penniless—Lived on Chestnuts and Apples. George Brady, fourteen years old, 612 13th street northeast, and John Kendrick, a thirteen-year-old companion, who resides at 1154 Penn street northeast, left here yesterday morning to drive to Frederickburg, Va., to attend the county fair and hear Secretary Bryan address the Stafford county people. They started in a pony cart, but unfortunately for them, the police charged the pony and cart did not belong to them, and they were arrested at Dumfries, Va. It is charged that the boys took the outfit from the stable of William Quigley, 1154 Penn street northeast, and here yesterday morning he admitted the charge. Taking property of another without consent of the owner was charged against them. When Detectives Messer and Embrey got the boys at Dumfries yesterday they said they were hungry and penniless. "We lived on chestnuts and apples as we drove through the country," they said, "and it was easy to get food for the pony." The boys were returned here last night and taken to the House of Detention.

M. Kay arrived with schooner in tow from river point; tug Winslow arrived at Georgetown with light coal boats in tow.

AN ALTAR TO THE UNKNOWN GOD.

There are many monuments erected in this our Capital city to the great leaders of the world, Presidents, admirals, statesmen, but no altar has been reared to the unknown god of patriotism, valor, self-sacrifice, the living, or dying, for humanity. If Congress would erect this monument to the memory of those who have died in the service of their country, it would be a fitting tribute to the spirit of the nation. It should be of bronze, and engraved thereon the names of all that should be found worthy to receive that honor. It should be of bronze, and engraved thereon the names of all that should be found worthy to receive that honor. It should be of bronze, and engraved thereon the names of all that should be found worthy to receive that honor.

MUST RAISE NEW FUND. Money for Convention Campaigns Has Been Exhausted.

A meeting of the joint conventions fund committee of the Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants' Association has been called for 8 o'clock Friday night to consider plans for raising $36,000. The meeting is to be held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. The money is needed to replenish the fund used to bring conventions to Washington. The fund raised by this committee several years ago is now depleted, and it is necessary to raise a new fund to continue more money must be raised.

DANCE ENDS IN ROW.

A fight occurred at a dance given last night at 411 19th street northwest, according to a police report, and four men were wounded. Arthur Brown, Robert Walker, James Lane and Arthur Brown were wounded. The police say a warrant will be obtained for the persons who are said to have participated in the fight.

OLD-TIME FRIENDS BID GOOD-BYE TO "CAPT. BILL"

Retirement of Capt. George Geoghegan From Active Marine Service Tomorrow Is Regretted. A number of the friends of Capt. William C. Geoghegan yesterday visited the wharf of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia steamboat line, foot of 7th street, to bid good-bye to "Capt. Bill," who will leave from the command of the steamer Three Rivers and from steamboat life when the steamer arrives at Baltimore tomorrow morning. About two weeks ago Capt. Geoghegan announced his intention of retiring and taking a rest ashore and his resignation was accepted by Willard Thomson, manager of the M. D. and V. line with much reluctance, to take effect October 1. On the morning of that day Capt. Geoghegan will arrive at Baltimore from the Three Rivers, which left here yesterday afternoon on her regular trip, and will go ashore to stay. The announcement that Capt. Geoghegan had determined to give up steamboat life was received with much regret by the hundreds of persons who know him and who have traveled on his steamer in the half century he has been master of steam craft on the Potomac and Chesapeake bays. It is seldom that a man attains the degree of popularity and retains it as did Capt. Geoghegan, who is known to practically every person on the long route of his steamer.

REV. H. S. PINKHAM TO QUIT CAPITAL PASTORATE

Will Take Charge of First Baptist Church of Lowell, Mass. Rev. Herman Spencer Pinkham, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, is to leave Washington to assume the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Lowell, Mass. The formal announcement of Rev. Pinkham's resignation will be made to the congregation at the Sunday morning service. He plans to remain here until after the annual meeting of the Columbia Association of Baptist Churches is concluded in November. It was the clergyman's intention that the announcement to the congregation would be his first public utterance as to his intention of leaving Washington, but as the news leaked out he was willing this afternoon to confirm it. The health of Mr. Pinkham is not of the best and for this reason the pastor is of the opinion that a change to the climate of New England, which she has always been, will be beneficial.

VESELS BACK IN SERVICE. Craft Damaged in Last July's Storm Return Repaired.

Laden with cord wood from a Maryland point, the river schooner Bertha May came into port yesterday evening on her first trip since the big storm in the latter part of July, when she had her masts blown out, and was otherwise damaged by the wind. At the time of the accident the vessel was lying at Bennett's boatyard at this city having some repair work done. Before she could leave the yard she had to be fitted with new masts, and about three weeks ago she was taken to Nanjemoy creek, where the work on her was completed and she was made ready for cargo-carrying on the river. The river schooner Mary Francis, which had her masts blown out in the big gale while lying at Alexandria, has also completed repairs and gone into commission, with two new sticks. She is lying at Fort Hunt wharf unloading a cargo of wood, the first she has had aboard since the storm. The tug Edith G. Winslow, which was sunk during the storm, and which was raised and repaired, has been in service for ten days. With the going into service of these vessels, all that were damaged at the storm in the Potomac, and are carrying cargoes on the Potomac.

SEVENTEEN VESSELS IN PORT. Heavily Laden Craft Arrive Here Under Southerly Winds.

Southerly winds are bringing into port wood, canned goods and other cargo-laden vessels from lower Potomac and bay points, and this morning there were seventeen wharves and bay craft lying at the various wharves waiting to unload. All have arrived since Sunday evening. In the fleet were five oyster craft from Potomac bays, four with cord wood, four with canned tomatoes from Coan river and Nomini packing houses; one with sweet potatoes from the eastern shore, a big barge with pine lumber and laths from Norfolk and another with broken staves from Havre de Grace. In addition to the new arrivals there were already several vessels in port, so that the docks on the Washington channel present an unusual number of craft. With the continuation of the southerly winds another large fleet of wood and lumber laden craft is expected in port this afternoon and tonight. The barge that brought lumber and laths has aboard over a half million feet of the building material.

W. C. T. U. OFFICERS NAMED. Eekington Union Presents Retiring President With Gold Bracelet.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Eekington W. C. T. U., held recently at the home of Mrs. G. B. President, Mrs. M. J. Lewellyn; treasurer, Mrs. Allison; recording secretary, Mrs. Olander, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Langley. Reports for the last year showed good work in all departments, and the outlook for the future was said to be encouraging. During a social hour following the business meeting a gold bracelet was presented to the retiring president, Mrs. Pollock, who is to leave soon for California to reside.

Electric Block Signals on Southern. An automatic electric block signal system is being installed by the Southern Railway at the Washington Lodge of Elks, a distance of eighty-six miles, which when completed will make the main line from Orange to Washington, D. C., a distance of 198 miles, an automatically protected stretch of track. The signals will be completed in about nine months, it is said at the railroad office this morning.

Will of Mrs. Howsen Filed. The will of Mrs. Jane A. Howsen, dated December 29, 1908, has been filed for probate. Henry T. Brian, the executor, is authorized to hold in trust diamonds, jewelry and silverware until Dorothy V. Priddy, great-granddaughter of the testatrix, becomes eighteen years old, when they are to be surrendered to her. Several small cash bequests are to be paid and the remaining estate distributed among Carrie T. Brian, Florence B. Baker, George C. Kugler and Mary C. Kugler and Dorothy Priddy.

The Coal Man

By WALT MASON. The iceman, having earned his wage—which we consider large—is ready now to leave the stage, and give the coal man charge. Through all the summer months we coughed our coins to dodge the heat; the iceman's snap was large and soft, distributing his sleet. And now, while winter rants and groans, while howls the deadly storm, we'll cough up all our extra bones in effort to keep warm. The coal man is a cheerful wight, and naught his rapture mars; he basks on downy beds at night, by day in motor cars. In gilded luxury he rolls, he silken raiment wears, while swaybacked hirelings pack his coals up thirty flights of stairs. He is a crank on honest weight, a Spartan soul is he; and oft he throws in chunks of slate to give variety. When wintry tempests round us shriek, the most of us repine; but that's the coal man's time to speak an optimistic line. The blasts can't snort around too hard to please this cheery soul, while there are wagons in his yard a-loading up with coal. And so the good old coal man grins, his laughter flows in rills; he dumps his debris in our bins and then sends in his bills.

TRADE WEEK OPENING TOPIC OF MERCHANTS

Members of Association Express Satisfaction With Prospects. The opening of trade week was celebrated at a special meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association held last night at 1202 F street northwest. The members of the association were enthusiastic over the proposition and appeared to be entirely satisfied with the results of the first day of the week. The number of out-of-town purchasers who visited the stores of the city yesterday convinced the merchants that the advertising which has been done during the past two months has been effective. The association voted to attend in a body Thursday night the national style show, which is one of the features of trade week. Freight Rates Discussed. Although the meeting was called primarily to celebrate trade week a number of other matters of interest to retail merchants were considered. M. D. Rosenberg, counsel for the association, gave a full report on the present status of the merchants' fight for better freight rates. Mr. Rosenberg stated that the fight to prevent the discontinuance of free store door delivery service has now grown into a movement for general freight rate reductions. Provision for Expense Fund. A special committee, composed of Isaac Gans, M. A. Leese and Morris Hahn, was appointed to raise funds with which to defray the expenses of the legal fight being made before the interstate commerce commission, under the leadership of Mr. Rosenberg, for fairer freight charges. The following were elected members of the association: Jules Demont, William G. Johnson and the Columbia Planograph Company.

SOCIALIST DENOUNCES CITY ADMINISTRATION

B. M. Seibold Criticises Sharply Present Plans for District Enfranchisement. The District administration was attacked by Benno M. Seibold in an address last night before the District Socialist Society at Fythin Temple. Mr. Seibold's denunciation came at the end of a long contest over amendments to the constitution of the District organization. Among its provisions this platform demanded universal suffrage for the District, representation in Congress and the control by the citizens over municipal affairs. He said present plans for the enfranchisement of the people of Washington is a compromise with the "real estate ring," the gas, telephone and all other corporations. "Such proposals are being made to throw a band in the eyes of the people," he declared. The speaker inferred that Congress was a party to wholesale robbery of the people of Washington. He asked that a special meeting be called, so that he could explain just what kind of government the present is. It was decided to hold a special meeting next Monday at 811 E street northwest.

COAT AND TROUSERS STOLEN. Why the Leese Optical Service Excels.

The theft of a coat and pair of trousers was reported to the police by Harriet O. McKeeper, 1011 T street northwest. Entrance was gained through a front window, the police were told. At the close of the business meeting the members took seats around a camp fire which had been arranged in one end of the hall, and were entertained with a musical and literary program. Solos were sung by H. D. Lawson and L. Z. Thompson, accompanied on the piano by Maj. Jesse B. K. Lee. Several photographic selections were then rendered, after which the president, W. H. Labofish, recited. War stories were told by Col. G. C. Kniffin, Dr. H. M. Bennett, Maj. J. E. G. Lewis and Capt. E. G. Lewis. Refreshments in the shape of army rations were served. The club, which now numbers seventy-five members, has for its officers Maj. Jesse B. K. Lee, president; Robert L. Lerch, vice president; E. G. Lewis and E. G. Lewis, secretary, and Albert H. Johnson, treasurer.

CHARLES DEXTER HONORED. Sons of Jonadab Observe Birthday of Chief of Order.

An audience that filled the hall of Empire Council, Sons of Jonadab, the original order organized here in 1867, was present at an open meeting held last evening to celebrate the birthday of Charles Dexter, chief of the order. Rev. W. A. Melvin offered prayer. Addresses were made by Sovereign Chief C. C. Southworth, E. G. Lewis and E. G. Lewis, and musical numbers and recitations were given by Misses Lucas, E. Clark, Anderson, Bacon and Fox, after which refreshments were served. Several applications for membership were received at the meeting. Resigns as Elks' Secretary. Richard A. O'Brien has resigned as secretary of the Washington Lodge of Elks. His successor will be chosen at a special election tomorrow. Mr. O'Brien gave as his reason for resigning the fact that he is unable to give the attention to the duties of his office which refreshments were served. Several applications for membership were received at the meeting.

Robbed of $150 in Cash. Mrs. Helen E. Gray, 1500 14th street northwest, last night reported to the police that she had been robbed of $150 in cash. The money, she said, was stolen from her trunk yesterday during her absence from home.

REPORT OF NEWBURG SURVEY.

District Public Library Receives Copy of New Social Publication. "The Newburg Survey" is the title of a publication received by the District Public Library. This was not a survey of land, but of civic and living conditions, and is representative of the new movement for civic betterment which is finding a foothold in so many American cities. A citizen of Newburg, N. Y., an historical city of 30,000 people situated on the Hudson river, desiring to promote civic improvement, called in a specialist from the department of surveys and exhibits, Russell Sage Foundation, New York city, to make a "social survey." The publication contains the "survey" reports, which cover schools, public health, housing, the handling of law-breakers, public library, recreation opportunities, charities, industrial conditions and municipal administration.
