Paul Wayland Bartlett of Washington will design the monument.

WINS IN ANNEXATION FIGHT

Alexandria Granted an Appeal From Lower Court's Decision.
Special Dispatch to The Star.
RICHMOND, Va., October 18.—An appeal was awarded by the state supreme court of appeals today in the case of the city council of Alexandria against the county of Alexandria, involving the question of annexing certain territory in the vicinity of Alexandria, city.
It appears that when the city took steps to annex this territory about two years ago it met with determined opposition on the part of the county authorities, who charged that it was not capable of making improvements required in such cases. When the matter came before Judge Gordon, later, he ruled against annexation. An appeal to the supreme court was then noted.

GOOD MARKSMANSHIP SHOWN ON HAZY SEA

Secretary Daniels and Party Witness Target Practice Near Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., October 18.—After smashing half a dozen targets and treating Secretary Daniels and a number of other department officials to a sample of American marksmanship, the Atlantic fleet is riding peacefully at anchor tonight, some on the southern drill grounds and others in Hampton roads.
Secretary Daniels and party arrived this morning on the President's yacht Mayflower. They were met by the battleships Arkansas, Utah and Wyoming and escorted to sea, where the target practice was held. In the Washington party were Secretary and Mrs. Daniels, Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, Secretary of War Garrison and a number of women and department employees.
Cloudy and Hazy at Sea.
The weather was not altogether favorable for target practice, it being cloudy and hazy at sea, and targets were difficult to distinguish at long distances.
But American gunners can overcome a little thing like cloudy weather and were able to see the target practice to smash several of them to kindling wood. The Washington party witnessed the practice from the deck of the battleship Rhode Island, which was not one of the firing ships.
On board the Wyoming and Arkansas were a number of newspaper correspondents and photographers.
Cat Commits Suicide.
While the Wyoming was lying in Hampton roads a few days ago the sailors brought on board a cat for a mascot. This particular cat had never been on a warship while big guns were in action, and when the Wyoming battery opened fire on the targets today it actually committed suicide by leaping into the sea.
The cat ran up and down the deck of the ship trying to seek some place of safety. Guns were in action at both ends of the vessel, but finally when it could endure the noise no longer the cat leaped into the sea.
Tonight there was target practice by several ships and the searchlight display was both inspiring and wonderful.
Secretary Daniels expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the showing made by the gunners of the ships of the first division. He said the shooting was simply wonderful.
The Utah, Wyoming, Delaware, Arkansas, Nebraska and Illinois returned to Hampton roads tonight, having concluded target practice. They will remain in the roads to take on provisions before starting on the cruise to the Mediterranean October 25.

More Blood Needed in Brains of Mankind
So Says Bishop Quayle in Lecture for Benefit of Union M. E. Church.
"More blood is needed in the brains of mankind in order to make the world better," said Bishop William A. Quayle last night in the course of a lecture on Shakespeare's "Tragedy of Greatness," at the Metropolitan M. E. Church, John Marshall place and C street northwest. In delivering the lecture for the benefit of the Union M. E. Church, on 20th street near Pennsylvania avenue, Bishop Quayle was keeping a promise which he made three years ago.
The speaker kept his audience in a continuous laughter by his witticisms. He said he was not disposed to warn that every fat man was a good man, nor even affirm that every lean man was a bad man, but he did affirm that it was much easier for a fat man to be good than for a lean man.
"With the lean man his virtues all go to his brain. If they do not go to his brain where do they go? The lean man takes himself too seriously. It takes him to be the critic of the universe, and the lean man to inspect the universe, and the lean man thinks he is the man. Such men are dangerous."
Cassius "Lean and Laughterless."
"There is more blood needed in the brain," he continued. "More blood direct from the heart. Then there would be more love and more laughter. Cassius was lean and laughterless," he said. "Such men are dangerous."
The bishop then told of the envy in Cassius' brain, and declared that this also was dangerous. "Nobody has as much brains as he thinks, although the average is pretty good. People who think they have brains would do well to credit to their own intelligence."
When a man gets married, he said, his brain is getting enriched with blood from his heart. When a man gets sick and lays down and moans, he says, "What is the matter with him? He is getting rich blood in his brains direct from the heart." He wants to be petted. If the women would treat their husbands better they would not have to get sick so often. No woman pays enough attention to her husband."
Bishop Quayle then traced the history of Cassius, Brutus and Caesar up to the slaying of the latter, and the great tragedy of the world must be slain because it is great."

DR. SATO TO LECTURE.
Japanese Professor Coming to United States in January.
RALEIGH, N. C., October 18.—It is announced by the University of North Carolina that under the plan of exchange of professorships between the United States and Japan Dr. Sosuke Sato of Tohoku University, Japan, will lecture there for three weeks next January.
He will spend three weeks each also at the University of Minnesota, the University of Illinois, Johns Hopkins University, Brown University and Columbia University.
Dr. Sato's expenses are borne by a committee of Japanese citizens.

STRICTER LAWS ADVOCATED.

Fire Prevention Convention in Philadelphia Adjourns.
PHILADELPHIA, October 18.—At the closing session here today of the Fire Prevention Convention a resolution advocating stricter national and state insurance laws, the licensing of fire insurance brokers, agents and adjusters and the writing of policies in more understandable terms was adopted.
An invitation to hold the next convention in San Francisco was received from the chamber of commerce of that city. The offer was left to the committee and a decision will be made later.

Greater New York Registration.

NEW YORK, October 18.—Registration for the coming election in Greater New York, ended tonight, totaled 680,762, an increase of 20,154 over 1909, the year of the last mayoralty election. The figures show a falling off of 35,324, however, from the registration of last fall, a presidential year.

afternoon in the corporation court. The deed in addition to conveying all of the property of the Belle Pre to the Old Dominion, also transfers machinery, patterns and other rights.

The Old Dominion Company took charge of the plant this afternoon, and will begin active operations November 1. The resumption of work at this plant will bring additional glassworkers to this city, and give employment to many others.

The state court of appeals, in session in Richmond, this afternoon granted a writ of error in the case of the city in its annexation suit, whereby it desires to obtain a part of Alexandria and Fairfax counties. This means that the higher court will hear the case. The case was decided against the city by Judge J. Gordon of Nelson county last January.

A feature of the bazaar which will be opened Monday night at the Armory Hall for the benefit of the Alexandria Hospital will be short entertainments nightly under the auspices of the various churches identified with the affair. It will be opened with a musical program under the direction of Sherman F. Fowler.

The program as announced follows: Monday, St. Paul's Episcopal; Tuesday, M. E. South; Wednesday, Grace Episcopal; Thursday, Presbyterian; Friday, Baptist; Saturday, Methodist Protestant.

The entertainment Friday evening will be under the direction of Mrs. Robert S. Barrett and will be for the benefit of the children. The entertainment also will be held Saturday evening.

The booths will represent the various months of the year and those in charge and churches represented will be: January, St. Paul's Church; committee, Misses King and Mrs. King; February, M. E. South; March, M. E. South; April, Christ Episcopal Church; committee, Mrs. King and Mrs. Herndon; May, M. E. South; June, M. E. South; July, First Baptist Church; committee, Misses Broadus of the board of managers; Mrs. Wycoff and Mrs. Robinson; August, under the direction of Miss Simmons and the nurses of the hospital and Mrs. Scott; September, Trinity M. E. Church; committee, Mrs. Pierpont of the board of managers and Mrs. Ramey; October, Immanuel

Lutheran Church and King's Daughters; committee, Mrs. Ballenger of the board of managers; Mrs. Carlin, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Hellmuth and Mrs. Herfurth; November, Second Presbyterian Church; committee, Mrs. Campbell of the board of managers, Mrs. Paff and Mrs. Howell; December, Methodist Protestant Church; committee, Mrs. Henderson of the board of managers, and Mrs. Yates.

The soda fountain will be in charge of W. F. Taylor and clerks. The following will be in charge of the restaurant during the week: Monday, Miss Cochran; Tuesday, Mrs. Howard; Wednesday, Mrs. Tompkinson; Thursday, Mrs. Field; Friday and Saturday, not yet announced. Aiding them will be Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Ramey, Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Wheat.

The supper tables will be in charge of Mrs. Moore, together with one member of Mrs. Kemper, for St. Paul's; Mrs. Field for M. E. South; Mrs. Bryan for Christ Church; Mrs. Acton for Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Ross for Baptist Church; Mrs. Watkins, for West End Chapel. Mrs. Alexander also will be in charge of the refreshment table.

The state corporation commission has granted a charter to the Washington-Virginia Railway Company of Mount Vernon, Va., which formerly operated here under the name of the Washington Tidewater Company. The capital stock is $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. Officers are: Frederick H. Treat, president; Wayne, Pa.; J. B. Hoellman, secretary; Washington, D. C.

A charter also has been granted by the commission to the Pollock Car Corporation, Alexandria, with a capital stock of $200,000. The capital stock is $200,000 to $300,000. Officers are: Frederick H. Treat, president; Washington, D. C.

After paying all operating expenses, the Fairfax county fair, which was held the first few days of this month, has a balance on hand of $1,473, according to a report just completed by James W. Ballard, treasurer.

Mr. Walton Moore has announced his intention of donating $300 to make the public school a feature at the next fair of that county. A committee composed of Mr. Moore, together with one member from each school district and three from the county at large, has been named for the purpose.

A number of members of Old Dominion Commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, this city, will leave Monday morning for Richmond to attend the annual meeting of the grand commandery of the state. Representatives from the local commandery will be Chester A. Gwinn, eminent commander; W. B. Davis, generalissimo; Claude W. Fletcher, captain general; J. Johnston Green, grand junior state ward, also of this city, will attend.

The Alexandria High School Literary

Society held a meeting this afternoon. Those as declaimers were Jack Reardon, Herbert Mills and Miss Corinne Reardon, while the debaters were Miss Glasgow, Miss Henderson, Frank Johnston and Hirst Hayes.

Miss Helen Cecelia Jacob of Tiffin, Ohio, and Charles W. Detamore of Portland, Ind., were married at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the parsonage of Trinity M. E. Church by Rev. G. A. Luttrell, pastor. The bridegroom is a balloonist, employed by a carnival company playing here.

With the opening of the improved roadway on Royal street between Prince and Duke streets during the early part of the week, the city has added to its improvements three additional squares of modern roadway. The first square from Prince to Duke street is improved with vitrified brick, while the two remaining squares are improved with tar macadam. This improvement virtually ends the improvement of South Royal street, with the exception of two squares to the south of it.

F. M. Adams' Funeral Tomorrow.
Funeral services for Frank M. Adams, who died today, will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning from the home of his brother, C. M. Adams, King street, instead of 2 o'clock, as heretofore stated.

The body of Mrs. Virginia Douglas, who died in Culpeper, Va., will be brought here at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for burial in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Thomas E. Hayes, former mayor of Baltimore, will deliver an address at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Methodist Episcopal Church, South at special "mother's day" services. A committee of women of the congregation and others desired to attend will be brought to the church in automobiles. A committee of women of the church has arranged to look after the children of mothers who otherwise would be unable to attend.

Rally day services will be held, beginning at 9:30 o'clock at Trinity M. E. Church.

An entertainment and dance will be given Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph by the women identified with the building fund society of Del Ray, Alexandria county.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sullivan and two little daughters, former residents of this city, have returned to Alexandria from Augusta, Ga., where they have been living for the past two years. They will make their future home here.

William Cook, colored, died Thursday at his home, 323 South Columbus street.

HOUSE MEMBERS LOSE ALL FEAR OF ARREST

Are Said to Have Been Told Sergeant-at-Arms' Telegrams Are "Bluff."

Judging from the way the attendance in the House of Representatives is dwindling daily, the much-feared warrant of the sergeant-at-arms is beginning to lose its prestige with members of Congress. Around the Capitol there is a report that the shock of the warrants has been frustrated and absorbed to some extent by sundry private telegrams from trustworthy sources to the effect that the warrant is a bluff and that it need not be heeded.

A few days ago the House lacked but a dozen of a quorum; then it lacked a score; soon it lacked fifty, and Friday it lacked seventy-four. At that rate of progression in the wrong direction by next Friday it will lack nearly every body. In the early days of the "no-quorum" situation an almost daily resolution was offered to instruct the sergeant-at-arms to arrest the absentees and bring them in. The sergeant-at-arms proceeded to telegraph the absentees that a warrant had been issued.

Caused Some Excitement.
That would have been enough under ordinary circumstances, but very few members have paid any attention to it. Newspapers in the home districts have displayed the fact that the opposition congressman "had been arrested," causing excitement and ill feeling, but that is about all the thing accomplished.

The sergeant-at-arms has great power when he goes to make an arrest. If necessary he can call upon the United States Army. It is scarcely probable that he will be called upon to herd in the statesmen of this Congress with a squadron of cavalry, but he has a right to adopt this picturesque means. However, dark rumors are abroad that Representative Mann of Illinois intends to tell the House some day soon that following the sending of the sharp messages of arrest other telegrams followed: "Tipping off" members not to pay too much attention to the summons to come back to the Capitol.
