

approval of all the republics of this hemisphere. Because of the grave import of their task, and their obligation to the world, the mediators feel that the time consumed in preliminaries has been necessary. Before leaving in the mediation the principals were compelled to seek a satisfactory method of procedure.

Study of Economic Problems.

It was necessary for each side to decide what they were willing to concede at the conferences should be, and in this involved a very careful consideration of the economic conditions of the different people of Mexico; also the question of the conditions existing there, a legacy from a former Mexican war. Then there must be studied with great care the economic problem and how far the Mexican delegates as well as the mediators themselves would be justified in going in making up any reformatory or revolutionary treatment of the land question, and how far treatment of this question is essential, and to the establishment of an immediate condition of peace of the development of a stable government.

How much is the factor the Tampico incident in the settlement of the difficulties and whether because of it the taking of Vera Cruz was justifiable are questions on which big headlines are built, but they cannot be said to be the vital issues. They are classes with such matters as a recitation of outrages against Americans and foreigners for which Huerta is responsible, and the future Mexico that is regarded as the greatest problem that must be solved by patient diplomacy and some national sacrifices.

While the subject of constitutional participation in the mediation has been a subject of interest to all the principals at the conference it is learned that neither the American delegates nor the mediators have broached it in the formal sessions today. In response to newspaper inquiries about their constitutionalist representation, the Mexican delegates have issued a statement saying that they would await formal notice of such questions from the mediators themselves before commenting on it and then would consult their home government.

Incidentally the American envoys let it be known that beyond press dispatches they had no information about the intention of the constitutionalists.

MEXICAN TOPIC PROBABLE.

Secretary Bryan Talks With John Lind and C. A. Douglass. Secretary Bryan, John Lind and Charles A. Douglass, the latter representing the constitutionalist agency, had a long conference at the State Department, after which Mr. Bryan went to the White House. None of the men would reveal the subject of the conference.

Watchful waiting on mediation continued to be the attitude of the Washington government today in the Mexican situation. President Wilson left the White House early for a ride and recreation before receiving the reports of the preliminary peace negotiations from American Commissioners Lamar and Lehmann.

KEEP INTEREST SHOWN IN CAMPAIGN OF REBELS. Constitutionalists' Army Continues Its General Movement Toward Mexican Capital.

While diplomatic developments overshadowed other features in the Mexican equation today, yet keen interest was maintained in the constitutionalists' swiftly moving military campaign. Outlying columns of Carranza's army continued their general movement toward the gateway to Huerta's capital, and Villa's troops took possession of Saltillo, which was abandoned by the federals without resistance. Earlier in the week it had been believed that one of the deciding battles of the revolution would be fought out there. Carranza's temporary capital soon is to be established in Saltillo, where he served as governor of Coahuila state under Madero.

The constitutionalist authorities installed in Saltillo, according to a dispatch from Consul Miller, Gen. Caballero is in charge, and Gen. Gonzales is slated to leave May 21 for Monterrey to establish headquarters.

Advance on Guadalajara.

Advices from Admiral Howard, on his flagship California, at Mazatlan, reported further advances of the constitutionalists on Guadalajara. This is the second city of Mexico in size and importance, and it is generally understood, is the only serious obstacle to the constitutionalist movement on the western side. As Gen. Huerta has been obliged to utilize nearly all of his available troops in conducting an orderly retreat before Villa's advancing forces and in making a creditable stand in front of the American army at Vera Cruz, there will be no military force of account outside of the garrison at the capital city to restrain the advancing western army of constitutionalists, once they have possessed themselves of Guadalajara.

Admiral Howard also reported that several of the Mexican lighthouses were being sighted in the important town, and as which was won by Gen. Huerta against the forces of Gen. Pascual Orozco, was celebrated yesterday. In the morning many federal officers went to the Huerta home and congratulated the provisional president, a military band meantime playing a march in the street. A banquet was served in the afternoon in the Huerta home, at which high officials, military officers and personal friends were present.

Gen. Carlos Rincon Gallardo, chief of the rurales corps, who left for the north recently, telegraphed the department of government today stating that his forces had dispersed several constitutionalist bands operating in the vicinity of the city of Aguascalientes.

MINING TO BE RESUMED.

Colorado Company, Victim of Strikers, Makes Announcement. TRINIDAD, Col., May 23.—George T. Peart, manager of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company, said today it was planned to resume the mining of coal at Forbes Monday. Forbes is the Rocky mountain company attacked and burned by strikers April 15.

Since the destruction of Forbes, three weeks ago, one man has been arrested, charged with participating in the raid which resulted in the destruction of Forbes. He is Victor Bonomi, recently interpreter for the federal strike mediators who are investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike.

His Victory Over Orozco Two Years Ago Recalled by His Friends. MEXICO CITY, May 23.—The second anniversary of the important day, on which was won by Gen. Huerta against the forces of Gen. Pascual Orozco, was celebrated yesterday. In the morning many federal officers went to the Huerta home and congratulated the provisional president, a military band meantime playing a march in the street. A banquet was served in the afternoon in the Huerta home, at which high officials, military officers and personal friends were present.

REBELS ABANDON BY REBELS, HE SAYS

Vasconcelos Asserts They Will Meet Huertistas Only on the Battlefield. DENIES HE WAS CHOSEN TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Constitutionalists Here Expect to Hear From Gen. Carranza on the Subject, However.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Jose Vasconcelos, the Carranza special agent, who has been reported, would be chosen as a constitutionalist representative to the Niagara mediation conference, emphatically denied in a statement last night that he was to receive such an appointment or that Carranza ever would consider mediation as a solution of Mexico's internal affairs.

"As long as the Huertistas are at Niagara we shall not be represented there," said Vasconcelos. "The only way my party meets Huerta is on the battlefield. No Right to Interfere. 'I have no instructions and no information about this rumored participation of the constitutionalists in the mediation, except what I read in today's papers. I shall accept any mission that the chief of the constitutionalist party may confer upon me. But I have no idea what shall be named as delegate to the conference. Personally, as a Mexican, I thank the South American powers for their efforts to settle a conflict brought in my country by some of its bad citizens. But the powers have no more right than the United States to interfere or advise in our internal questions. These questions should not be discussed in the Niagara meetings. I am sure the constitutionalists will not be a party to such a violation of our sovereignty. As to meeting the Huerta delegates, I do not see what we could possibly talk about. On Way to Washington. 'I suppose,' he added, 'that my sudden departure from Toronto, where I stopped for three days, has given rise to the unfounded rumor that I was to be a peace delegate. As far as I know, I shall go to Washington and direct from there to Saltillo to meet Gen. Carranza. The elimination of Huerta will not solve our difficulties. Even if the mediators were to succeed, some positive light would be shed on the situation. Expect to Hear From Carranza. Representatives of the Mexican constitutionalists here resumed conferences over the somewhat uncertain mediation situation as concerning their interests, expecting to hear from Gen. Carranza, and a call from Jose Vasconcelos on his way here from New York. Mr. Vasconcelos had been mentioned as a probable agent of the constitutionalists to keep them in touch with mediation proceedings, already had announced that he had received no instructions from Carranza to confer with representatives of the Huerta side.

Rafael Zubaran, member of the Carranza cabinet and senior representative of the constitutionalists in Washington, said that the constitutionalists in Vera Cruz were looking for word from their chief on their proposal to have an ceasefire at Vera Cruz. He was from the United States consul, was imprisoned, tried as a spy and condemned to death. Also that the United States consulate was entered, the official archives being taken, including the code of the State Department. Some of Carranza's advisers have been reported to have received proposals from the constitutionalist authorities, to the effect that any claim made by Carranza will receive prompt attention and any damages suffered at the hands of the constitutionalist forces will be settled if the claims are found just.

Consular Agent Miller at Tampico has advised the State Department that American employees should not return to the oil fields unless they are assured of employment, many of the companies having indicated their purpose to limit their operations under present conditions. The continued orderly movement of Americans from danger places in the southern republic at the absence of reports of any violence at interior points were assuring factors today as the army and navy marked time along the east and west coasts. A related telegram to Consul Letcher in regard to the protection of the oil fields in the Gulf of Mexico has been received from the constitutionalist authorities, to the effect that any claim made by Carranza will receive prompt attention and any damages suffered at the hands of the constitutionalist forces will be settled if the claims are found just.

Water Supply Will Last Only Fifteen Days More, Is Report. ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, MAZATLAN, Mexico, May 22 (by wire)—Mazatlan's water supply will last only fifteen days more, and it is believed the constitutionalists besieging the city soon will be in possession. Reported depredations by bandits on a German colony near Miramar caused the German cruiser Nuremberg to leave Mazatlan for that port. At other west coast cities all is quiet. Since the arrival of Gen. Obregon, the constitutionalist commander, at the recently occupied city of Tepic, fewer cruelties to federal prisoners are being practiced. Gen. Bucina has sent reinforcements to the constitutionalist garrison at San Blas. It is reported that an Englishman named Green was murdered by bandits near San Marcos. Several Americans reside in that vicinity.

IS UNABLE TO GET NEWS OF BURWELL

Secretary Daniels Interests Himself in Case of Missing Washington Man.

Family and friends of Weston Burwell, a young engineer of this city, are in distress because they can get no report relieving the fear that he has been slain in Mexico. He is the son of H. H. Burwell, 632 Maryland avenue northeast, and a personal friend of Secretary Daniels, who is making every effort to get direct word regarding his fate.

Miss Bessie Burwell, sister of the young man, was at the Navy Department for a long time today, but could get no reassuring news regarding the young engineer.

Report of His Death. From Tampico it is reported that while it is not possible for the consul at that point to secure positive information that Burwell was killed in the Ocotitlan district, all information tends to confirm the report. The latest version is that Burwell was in a boat on Lake Tamulhuca when he was ordered to stop by soldiers, and when he failed to obey he was shot. Refugees Leave for United States. A dispatch was received last night at the Brazilian legation from the Brazilian vice consul, who accompanied the refugee train from the capital to Puerto Mexico. The dispatch said that the train arrived Thursday night, and that the 150 American refugees had embarked for New Orleans yesterday. The commander of the British cruiser Berwick and the Mexican authorities at Puerto Mexico, the dispatch added, gave the passengers every assistance.
