G. WASHINGTON WILL OPEN SCHEME TO NIGHT
Meets Loyola Quint in Contest in Which It Expects to Get Victory.

CULLIGAN TO CAPTAIN BUSINESS HIGH ELEVEN
Star Quarterback Should Make Ste-nographers a Good Leader.

Other Gossip.

BY H. C. BYRD.

George Washington is to open its basketball season tonight with a game against the quint representing Loyola College of Baltimore. The Hatchettes claim they have one of the strongest teams that have ever represented them, and that they are due to have a very successful year. The contest will take place in the National Guard gymnasium.

Loyola defeated George Washington last winter in both contests which the two teams played, but just the opposite is looked for tonight by the local institution. Three members of the team of last year are back in the line-up, while the two new men are more capable than any the institution has had since it rejoined the sport, with one possible exception. Hall and Hoppe are the players who will be seen in the line-up for the first time, both having been star players for the Y. M. C. A. Hall is a brilliant forward, while Hoppe undoubtedly is one of the most capable all-round players in the south. The quint will line up as follows: Hoppe, center; Hall and Almon, forwards; Shaver and Grossbeck, guards. These men make a formidable combination which should make a splendid record against the other clubs in this section.

Catholic University and Gallaudet are pining for the contest tomorrow night, and each is working desperately to get it in shape for what probably will be one of the hardest games of the year for both. Gallaudet will have a great advantage in being in its own gymnasium, which particularly bothers teams not used to it.

Neither team will be in the best shape possible, according to authoritative statements. Catholic University will be without the services of its star and captain, Bill Donnelly, while one of the Gallaudet forwards, Melillo, will not start. Gallaudet's players are said not to be in the best condition, because of recent vaccinations. Gallaudet's lineup has not yet been announced, but Catholic U.'s probably will be White and Frey, forwards; Keenan and Cartwright, guards, and Lambert, center.

Culligan, quarterback of the Business High eleven last fall, has been chosen to lead the team in 1915. At a meeting of the latter team yesterday Culligan's election was unanimous. His addresses were made by Principal Allan Davis, Coach White and others. Culligan should make a good leader.

The consensus of opinion was that the eleven of 1914 was the best ever developed at the school and that next year's prospects are very good. Only two or three players will be lost off the squad and, while they have been very capable, it is felt they can be replaced.

It has been determined that the University of Virginia will not play any football games on territory other than the home grounds of one of the contestants. There has been a growing demand for the Virginia eleven to meet those of other institutions on neutral territory, in order that friends of the school might see the team in action. Wishing to make it plain that this could not be done, and to give a solid reason for refusing the faculty passed a resolution which forbade the team taking part in any contest with another school on the grounds of one of the institutions, the contest with North Carolina University at Richmond being barred.

It also is very interesting to note that not a single base ball game has been scheduled with any team in Maryland, the District of Columbia or Virginia. This is the first time probably in the history of the institution that that has been the case. Here is the schedule: March 26 and 27, Amherst; April 2, Princeton; April 2, Yale; April 5, Fordham; April 6 and 7, Cornell; April 8, Williams; April 9, Trinity at Durham; April 10, North Carolina at Durham; April 12, North Carolina, at Greensboro; April 17, Davidson; April 19, North Carolina; April 21 and 22, Georgia; April 25, Trinity; April 28, Princeton at Princeton; April 29, Harvard, at Cambridge; April 30, Brown, at Providence; May 1, Yale, at New Haven.

The Roland Athletic club, made up mostly of Eastern High School boys yesterday defeated the Fairmonts, composed of technical students, by a score of 45 to 25. The contest was fairly well played, each team showing better form than would ordinarily be expected from teams of that character.

Besides being a foot ball coach of exceptional capabilities, Al Sharpe, head of athletics at Cornell, is a mighty good basketball instructor, according to the rating of his team during the two years he has been at Cornell. The first season he turned out a five which won the intercollegiate championship last year he developed one which tied with Columbia for the honor, and it is said the prospect for good quint this season are very good.

A banquet in honor of the foot ball team of the Maryland Agricultural College, which won the state championship again this year, is to take place tonight at the college dining hall. Dr. Patterson, president of the college; Senator Blair Lee and R. M. Pindell, president of the Alumni Association, are expected to be the principal speakers.

A basket ball game will be played tonight between the Y. M. C. A. boys' department and the Catholic University Business High School. The contest is expected to be very spirited.

HERZOG SIGNS FOR TWO YEARS.
Former Giant Gets Real Chance to Make Good in Cincinnati.

NEW YORK, December 11.—Charley Herzog signed yesterday afternoon as manager of the Cincinnati Reds for a period of two seasons. August Herrmann's announcement came as no surprise to the fraternity. President and manager had practically agreed upon terms at the close of last season.

Herrmann, who has been afflicted with an excess of managers, decided to give Maryland's canteen owner a real chance to make good. Herzog for several weeks last year was the managerial sensation of the parent major league. His club folded before the season. This perhaps was due to the fact that the Redlegs suffered most heavily from Federal League interference. The club was robbed of no less than eight of its stars.

The signing of Herzog completes the complement of National League managers for 1915. Miller Klingens of the Cardinals and Fred Clarke of the Pirates, while still unsigned, have accepted terms with their employers.

GOLFING HINTS.
By "STRAIGHT DRIVE."
PUSH SHOT.—One of the most effective shots for long approaches to the green is what is known as the push shot, as played by Harry Vardon, James Braid and other leading professionals and good players all over the world.

The shot is played by bringing the club more down on the back of the ball, and through it into the position which gives it the rotation that produces the result.

A ball properly played with the push shot flies low for great distances, and then drops with very little roll. A good bit of turf is taken every time the shot is played correctly.

Ban Johnson Predicts Yankees Will Change Hands.

NEW YORK, December 11.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, expects that before night the New York American League club will have been sold by Frank Farrell and his associates to Col. Jacob Ruppert, Jr., and Capt. T. H. Huston. A great many of the intricacies of the contemplated transfer were smoothed out yesterday by the league executive and the contracting parties. So far had the matter progressed that late last night the rival contractors were trashing out the matter of ground privileges for the years to come. On first sight it would appear that no stronger tip than this is necessary to prove the transaction as good as closed.

Ban Johnson, as strange and mysterious as when he first hit town, was forced to admit that in his opinion a transfer of Mr. Farrell's stock would be made before another sun set. Col. Ruppert and his associates will buy only on condition that they are enabled to purchase every share of stock in the team. Contrary to common report the various stockholders of the local enterprise are not split up and stand together for the job, but will bring a million placed upon the holdings.

Johnny Evers, second baseman of the local champion Braves is promoting an indoor base ball match to be held in Chicago for the benefit of the families of Arnold Hansen, formerly short-stop of the Cardinals, and the late Jimmy Doyle, third baseman of the Cubs.

Garry Herrmann and C. H. Ebbets are both members of the National League board of directors, and have been invited to act in the dispute between them involving $10,000 as an aftermath of the Joe Tinker sale a year ago.

PERTINENT COMMENT
On Happenings in Sportdom

By J. ED GRILLO.

It has not necessitated an enormous outlay of cash for the Federal League to get the players it recently took from the ranks of organized base ball. Fifteen or twenty thousand dollars probably would cover this expense, but when the season opens and the salaries begin it is going to take bundles twice a month to satisfy the athletes. The make-up of the Federal circuit does not justify the expenses the league has incurred, hence there can be but one result when the books are balanced.

Cities like Indianapolis, Kansas City and Buffalo have not been in major league company for many years. Their disappearance is in the big show trials, add years ago. That, too, is true of Kansas City, while Buffalo had a taste of this kind of base ball only during the early days of the American League.

Last year the losses of the Federal League were tremendous. Because of this the chief promoters of the organization tried to bring about peace with organized base ball. At that time it was their opinion that the league could not last, but when the deal for the Cubs fell through and peace negotiations ended the Peds put up a strong bluff in the hope of having organized base ball weaker and make concessions.

The American League will present a more formidable front next season than ever before. The change of ownership in New York, which seems assured, and the increased interest which will be created by the White Sox because of the acquisition of Eddie Collins, not to speak of the new team which Connie Mack is bringing to Philadelphia, will all tend to arouse interest in the American League race.

Base ball is not apt to suffer from demoralization, as it did last year owing to the advent of the Peds. The players will be less affected by the outlays offered. There is no doubt that last season the game was held far below its standard because of conditions.

The downfall of the Athletics is a lucky break for the American League. As matters stood, the pennant race, so far as public opinion was concerned, was over as soon as the Athletics started out to fulfill their schedule. This naturally hurt interest, and consequently attendance, with the result that not only did the Athletics quit loser after winning the pennant, but other clubs suffered by reason of the lack of interest in the race.

Now that Mack has ridden himself of two of his most effective pitchers and broken up his one-hundred-thousand-dollar infield by selling Collins, he no longer is feared. If his team accom-

The best match in the bowling organizations last night was rolled in the National Capital League between the Nationals and the Velvet Kind team. While neither club got wonderfully high scores, the competition was keen and the Velvet Kind exceeded a 1,500 set by one pin. The Nationals rolled for 522 in their first game against a mark of 540 for the Velvet Kind. In the second contest the ice cream makers came through with a count of 552, while the Nationals registered 521. The last set-to, though, found the Nationals victorious by a margin of two pins, 511 to 509.

Eiseman did the best bowling for the Nationals, while Howser and Baum got the equal sets for Velvet Kind. Eiseman's total was 345, the best of the night and he obtained counts of 109, 132 and 114. Howser's and Baum's sets were identical, as far as total was concerned, each getting 334. Howser rolled 112, 118 and 103. Baum got marks of 111, 116 and 107.

Hess Team Wins Two.

The Hess team took two out of three from the Arcade five in the Arcade circuit. Had the winner not fallen down greatly in the second contest it would have made a clean sweep. Tom Crooke's aggregation made only 444 pins in that second contest, rolling way off the mark form.

The Highlands dropped two games to the Princeton in the Mount Pleasant circuit. In the Terminal Y. M. C. A. organization the Storeroom team came within three pins in the last game of getting a sweep over the Freight five. The match was close all the way through, though, Storeroom winning the first, getting the second by three pins, and losing the third by that margin.

MAGNETES IN GOTHAM FINALLY GET AWAY

National League Adjourns, Leaving Waiver Question Unsettled Until Spring.

NEW YORK, December 11.—Charles H. Ebbets, the squire of Flatbush, had the honor of usurping the chair of the National League while the magnetes of that institution closed the parting paragraphs of the business at their annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday. Gov. Tener, hurriedly called home on account of political business, tendered the chair to Holladay. The fact that the assembled did nothing affects the reputation of the squire or the governor, as you may be pleased to look upon it.

There was very little business left when President Tener resigned the throne, and that little was disposed of as laboriously as possible. The question before the house dealt with the proposition of waivers. It has been suggested that claims for release of players might not be recalled when once asked. Harry N. Hempstead's eloquence alone saved the waiver recall at Wednesday's meeting. He was so strongly championed yesterday by Barney Dreyfuss that the league decided to withhold judgment until the schedule meeting in February.

Only Players to Be Counted.

It was agreed by the National magnetes that the roster limit recently adopted would not include uniformed men not actively engaged in the game. In other words, bench managers or leaders who do not appear regularly in the real contests will not count. Nor will coaches who take no active part in the scheduled games.

The league went on record as opposed to any change in the prevailing conditions of the world series. Nine games were considered too unwieldy. It was decided that the clubs be allowed to carry their present rosters up to May 1, when every one will have to come within the limit of twenty-one men.

The National League will suggest a policy of conservatism in reference to
