WILL BE LAST WAR WAGED BY PRUSSIA

Sir Edward Grey So Declares in Voicing Determination of Great Britain.

BELGIAN RESTORATION ONE OF PEACE TERMS

Allies Desire That Menace of Military Domination Be Removed for All Time.

LONDON, March 23.—"War might have been avoided by a European conference when and where Germany desired," foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey told an audience in London. At the time he was acting as chairman of a gathering which was listening to a lecture on the strategy of the war. Continuing along this line the foreign secretary said: "Germany, from her experience in the Balkan conference, knew she could count on our good will, and that we were ready to do last July what we did before. But Germany refused every suggestion, and on her rests for all time the appalling responsibility for the war. We now know that Germany had prepared for war, and only those who have planned for war can prepare for it."

Amid loud cheers Sir Edward added: "This is the fourth time within living memory that Prussia has invaded Europe, and we are determined it shall be the last."

"The expenditure of hundreds of millions of money and the loss of millions of lives might have been averted by a conference of the European powers held in London or at The Hague, or wherever and in whatever form Germany would have consented to hold it. It would have been easier to have settled the dispute between Austria-Hungary and Serbia which Germany made the occasion for the war than it was to get successfully through the Balkan crisis of two years ago."

Given Every Assurance. "In recent years," the foreign secretary went on to say, "we have given Germany every assurance that any aggressive movement upon her would receive no support from us. We withdrew our troops from the Rhine, the unconditional promise to stand aside however aggressive Germany herself might be to her neighbor. Last July, before the outbreak of war, France, Italy and Russia were ready to accept a conference. Germany refused every suggestion made for settling the dispute in this way and on her must rest now and for all time the appalling responsibility of having plunged Europe into this war."

Outlines Fighting Issue. Asking, "What is the issue for which we are fighting?" Sir Edward proceeded as follows:

"In due time terms of peace will be put forward by the allies. One essential condition must be restoration to Belgium of her independent national life and free possession of her territory. The great issue is this: We will have our own policy, whether we live their independent lives, working out their own form of government and their own form of national development in full liberty, whether they be great states or small states. That is our ideal. "The German ideal is that the Germans are a superior people to whom all things are lawful and against whom resistance is unlawful and must be put down; that they must establish domination over the nations of the continent and that all must be subservient to Germany."

Would Rather Perish. "I would rather perish or leave the continent altogether than live in it under such conditions. After this war we and the other nations of Europe must be free to live without the interference of a superior war lord; without the clang of armor and the sword continually rattled in the scabbard; heaven continually invoked, and without our policy being dictated by the military domination of Prussia."

Pledge to Belgium. The foreign secretary reiterated that long before the war he had given a pledge to Belgium that never would Great Britain violate her neutrality so long as it was respected by others. "When Germany invaded Belgium we were bound to oppose Germany with all our strength," he continued. "Is there any one now who believes that when Germany attacked Belgium, shot down our non-combatants, ravaged the country and violated all the rules of war in recent times and all the rules of humanity of all time, we could sit still and look without eternal disgrace?"

Sir Edward Grey concluded with an appeal to everybody to seize the opportunity to serve his country when it is at stake and when its cause was just and right. "There never was a time in our history," he said, "when the crisis was so great and imperative as it is now, or a cause more just or right."

IN MISSION HOUSE TO STAY.

Industrial Workers Threaten to Hold Temple by Force.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Forty men and one woman, who announced they were members of the Industrial Workers of the World, and who invaded last night the Daily Temple, a mission house on East 42d street, were in possession of the mission today, and announced that they would hold it by force if necessary.

They entered the place while a meeting was in progress to discuss aid for the unemployed, and when the meeting ended declared they intended to stay all night. Miss Elizabeth Kay, a director of the Temple, protested against the invasion, but was overruled, and she left the invaders in control. They announced that they would send out circulars later today calling a meeting of the unemployed in the mission which they had commandeered.

ALLEGED FINDING CONTRABAND.

Ammunition Discovered on Steamer Finland, Say Naples Newspapers.

NAPLES, via Paris, March 23, 7:35 a.m.—Contraband ammunition was found aboard the steamer Finland by customs officials here, according to reports printed in Naples newspapers. It is said that six customs guards are accompanying the steamer to Genoa for a thorough search there, as it is believed the cargo contains more contraband than was found here.

The Finland in a steamer of 7,857 tons, which sailed from New York, February 27, for Gibraltar, where she arrived March 9, and then cleared for Naples and Genoa.

DR. SAMUEL C. CHEW DIES AT BALTIMORE HOME

Regent and Many Years Member of the University of Maryland Faculty.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 23.—Dr. Samuel Claggett Chew, member of the board of regents of the University of Maryland and for forty years a member of the faculty of physics of that institution, died shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home, 2 Midvale road, Roland Park. He had been suffering from the infirmities of age for more than a year. His condition was so serious during the past six months that he was unable to leave his home.

Dr. Chew was born in this city July 25, 1827. He was educated at Princeton University where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1856. After completing his studies there he took up the study of medicine under the direction of his father and also followed the course at the University of Maryland. He was graduated there in 1858, and in 1859 he received a master of arts degree at Princeton. Since that time he had practiced in Baltimore. He was consulting physician to John Hopkins Hospital, president of the board of trustees of the Peabody Institute, member of the board of regents of the University of Maryland and an honorary member of the Association of American Physicians.

PROSPERITY IS FOUND IN FRENCH PROVINCES

Heads of Chambers of Commerce Meeting in Paris Declare Conditions Are Favorable.

PARIS, March 23, 4:55 a.m.—Presidents of seventy-five French chambers of commerce have been meeting here under the presidency of David Menet, head of the Paris chamber, to discuss the general commercial situation. All were agreed that the conditions which exist are as good as a state of war will permit. The volume of trade, it was asserted, gradually is increasing, and certain districts even are enjoying unusual prosperity, notably those in which are factories working on army contracts and those beginning to manufacture products hitherto obtainable in Germany.

It was decided that the Paris chamber should gather data regarding articles imported from Germany both by France and allied and neutral countries which could be made in France. Speakers declared that slow and unreliable transportation facilities were hampering large scale operations more than credit difficulties, and a resolution was passed favoring a return to the practice whereby courts had the power to relieve transportation companies of liability for lost or damaged goods, if it was shown such loss was attributable to a state of war.

Names Two New Jersey P.M.s.

President Wilson has decided to appoint Adolph Lankering and Emil Groth postmasters, respectively, at Hoboken and Union, N. J. These men are former mayors of their towns, and became friends of the President when he was Governor of New Jersey. Mr. Wilson has written to Representative Egan of New Jersey, telling of his selections and expressing the hope that they would have no opposition.

FATALLY WOUNDS WIFE, THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Unexplained Acts of Howard Boocock, Banker and Prominent Society Man.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Howard Boocock, treasurer of the Astor Trust Company of this city and prominent in New York society, shot and killed his wife last night as she was playing the piano for his entertainment in their home on East 74th street. The banker then committed suicide with the same revolver.

According to the police, the banker left no word explaining the murder and suicide, nor could any member of the household throw light on the affair. The servants declared that the couple were on the most affectionate terms.

Was Laboring Under Excitement.

The tragedy occurred shortly after dinner. The maid who served the meal told the police that Mr. Boocock seemed to be laboring under some excitement.

After dinner the two Boocock children, a boy eight years old and a girl of eleven, were sent to their rooms while the parents went to the drawing room. One of the maid servants said that she heard three shots. The first bullet fatally wounded Mrs. Boocock; the mark of the second was found in the ceiling; the third ended the banker's life. He had shot himself through the head.

Servants Summon Friend.

The servants telephoned a friend of Mrs. Boocock, Mrs. Henry P. Davison, wife of the banker who is a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. Mrs. Davison went to the Boocock home and from there summoned a physician. The doctor found Mr. Boocock dead and his wife breathing her last. Mr. Boocock was a Yale graduate of the class of 1900. He was forty years old.

RECOVERS HIS MANUSCRIPT.

Dr. Thomas H. Morgan Hears That British Prize Court Released It.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Dr. Thomas H. Morgan, professor of experimental zoology at Columbia University, received word last night that, after having been in the possession of a British prize court for seven months, a manuscript which he mailed to Germany has been released, and will be returned to him. The stipulation is made that it must not be transmitted to Germany.

Dr. Morgan said that he sent the article on "heredity" Berlin for publication early in the war, but the steamer on which it was forwarded was captured by a British warship. Since that time Dr. Morgan has been endeavoring, with the aid of American consuls in England, to recover it.
