It was also stated that no contracts would be made beyond July 21.

The Pacific Mail operates nineteen vessels five of them in the Pacific and five in the Atlantic. Mr. Scherwin is now in New York.

ASKS FOR CLAIMS IN TORPEDO LIGHT CASE

Germany to Pay for Torpedoing American Ship Off Sicily Islands.
ASSURANCE GIVEN IN NOTE FROM AMBASSADOR GERARD

Case of the Cushing Not Yet Closed Up, Kaiser's Foreign Office Says.

As announced in yesterday's Star, Germany has agreed to pay damages done by a German submarine to the American steamer Guilford, torpedoed off the Sicily Islands. This assurance came in a cablegram from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to the State Department, transmitting a note from the German government.

The note was brief and stated that the ship had been torpedoed by mistake in the belief that being accompanied by British patrol boats she was a belligerent vessel, and adding that the commander did not see the American flag until after the torpedo was fired. The communication agreed to the principle of indemnity, asking the American government to present on behalf of the vessel the usual claims.

In the note also was an expression of regret at the occurrence. That is in conformity with the procedure which Germany announced in a circular May 11 would be followed in the case of neutral vessels attacked by submarines.

The Guilford was torpedoed in the English channel five weeks ago while bound from Port Arthur, Tex., to Rouen, France, with 100 tons of wheat to Crowsound and beached for repairs. Two seamen were drowned when the ironclad was attacked, and the captain died of heart disease the next day.

Text of the Note.
 The text of the note, which was signed by the minister of foreign affairs, follows:

"Referring to the note of May 28, the undersigned has the honor to inform his excellency the ambassador of the United States of America, Mr. James W. Gerard, that the examination undertaken on the part of the German government concerning the American steamer Guilford attacked by a submarine on the following conditions:

"In regard to the attack on the steamer Guilford, the German government has seen the afternoon of May 1, in the vicinity of the Sicily Islands a large merchant steamer coming in his direction, which was accompanied by two smaller vessels. These latter took such evasive measures as to avoid being attacked by a submarine. From this it is evident that the vessel was not a submarine, and that the attack was not a case of English contraband. Since such vessels are regularly armed, the submarine could not approach the steamer on the surface of the water without running the danger of being destroyed. It was, therefore, to be assumed that the steamer was of considerable value to the British government, and that the submarine commander could see no neutral markings on it of any kind—that is, distinctive marks which are not common to vessels at a distance, such as are now usual on neutral ships in the English zone of naval warfare.

"In consequence he arrived at the conclusion from all the circumstances that he had to deal with an English steamship, which was rapidly attacked by a torpedo came in the immediate neighborhood of one of the convoy ships, which was being retreating. The vessel was forced to go to a great depth to avoid being destroyed. The commander of the submarine, according to the report of an English convoy ship, was concerned in this attack. The fact that the steamer was pursuing a course which led neither to nor from America was a further reason why it did not occur to the commander of the submarine that he was dealing with an American steamship.

Ready to Pay Damages.
 "Upon scrutiny of the time and place of the occurrence described the German government has become convinced that the attacked steamer was actually the American steamship Guilford. There can be no doubt, according to the attendant circumstances, that the attack is to be attributed to an unfortunate accident and not to the fault of the commander. The German government expresses its regrets to the government of the United States concerning this incident and declares itself ready to furnish full recompense for the damage thereby sustained by American citizens. It is left to the discretion of the American government to designate an expert, who would have to determine, according to a German expert, the amount of the damage.

"It is not possible by means of an inquiry to clear up fully the case of the American ship Cushing. Official reports available report only one merchant steamer attacked by a German flying machine in the vicinity of Nordrhine lightship. The German aviator was forced to land on the vessel as hostile because it carried no flag and further because of no recognizable neutral markings. The attack of the Cushing was, of course, not aimed at any American ship.

However, that the ship attacked was the American steamer Cushing is possible, considering the time and place of the occurrence, nevertheless the German government accordingly requests of the American government that it communicate to the German government the material which was submitted for judgment in order that

Swimming Scientifically Taught
 Every person should perfect himself in this art in order to safeguard himself when in the water. For a man who is able to swim properly, it is not only a matter of life and death, but also a matter of honor. A person who is unable to swim may be in danger to himself, but to others in time of trouble. Children should be taught to swim. None are too old to learn and none can learn too soon.

As an exercise swimming is one of the best. It increases the vitality and improves the circulation. It develops the muscles, besides the fact that it is the general health. It is especially necessary for those who are nervous, proving the figure to nervous people it is one of the best tonics.

The Y. M. C. A. offers the best facilities for learning this art. A teacher has been employed for the summer months who will give instructions to all members free. This is an unusual opportunity for those who are unable to attend the vacation season long. Special pool opened for the first time. Your vacation will be much more enjoyable if you can swim.

U. S. ATTORNEY RESIGNS; HIS SUCCESSOR NAMED

Sherman T. McPherson Retires, It Is Said, Upon Attorney General's Request.

Sherman T. McPherson, United States attorney for southern Ohio, resigned today and President Wilson selected Stuart H. Bolin of Columbus to succeed him.

It was said at the Department of Justice that Attorney General Gregory had asked McPherson for his resignation after he learned that while prosecuting the Capital City Dairy Company in a criminal proceeding McPherson had received a $20,000 fee as attorney for the receiver for the company in a civil proceeding.

Fee of $20,000 Challenged.
 COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 5.—Motion to vacate the order of United States District Judge John E. Sater, allowing United States District Attorney Sherman McPherson and his assistant, Harley E. Burns, $20,000 fees for services in settlement of the claims of the government in the old Capital City Dairy Company receivership case, was set for hearing before Judge Sater today. The motion to vacate the order allowing the fees was filed yesterday by R. W. Childs, special counsel for the government, and the motion of Attorney General Gregory, and asserted that acceptance of the fees under the circumstances was "peculiarly improper."

NOTED EDUCATOR-PRIEST DIES AT THE AGE OF 59

Rev. Timothy Brosnahan Was Author of Several Books—Funeral Monday.

Rev. Timothy Brosnahan, fifty-nine years old, distinguished Catholic educator, died yesterday afternoon at the Georgetown University Hospital, where he was taken less than three weeks ago from Loyola College, Baltimore. Death was ascribed to a complication of diseases, the immediate cause being hardening of the arteries of the brain.

Funeral services will be attended by noted Catholic divines and educators of this city and Baltimore, are to be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Aloysius Church, with Rev. William Ebnis, president of Loyola College, celebrating low mass. The office of the dead will be recited at 9:45 o'clock.

Mr. Brosnahan was born in Washington January 8, 1856, the son of Patrick and Margaret Brosnahan. He was a product of the parochial schools of this city, receiving his higher education at the Jesuit order in 1872 at Frederick, Md. After several years of study, he returned to his native city, where he was preaching in the parish of St. Ignace, which was then a mission. He was ordained a priest by Cardinal Gibbons at Woodstock, in 1887. In 1888 he became professor of philosophy at Boston College. From 1891 to 1894 he became president of that institution. He was transferred to Woodstock College in 1898, becoming prefect of studies there in 1905.

Author of Several Books.
 In 1909 he went to the Baltimore institution, where he was professor of ethics and political economy at the time of his death. Father Brosnahan was the author of several books, and his treatises on logic, metaphysics, political economy and ethics are in general use by the Catholic institutions of the country. At the time of his illness he was engaged in writing a larger treatise on ethics. It is declared by friends that the heavy work which he had undertaken had hastened his death.

A controversy with President Elliot of Harvard on the question of elective studies gained Mr. Brosnahan country-wide fame. The debate between the two educators was widely discussed at the time.

The extreme simplicity of Mr. Brosnahan was one of his marked characteristics, friends say, recalling also his love for the society of the young, with whom he was a great favorite.

He leaves his mother and three sisters living in this city, and two brothers.

UNABLE TO FIND STAHL.
Man Who Said Lusitania Carried Guns Disappears.
 NEW YORK, June 5.—Agents of the Department of Justice, on instructions from Washington, have begun an investigation here into the antecedents of the late Gustav Stahl, the German who made an affidavit submitted to the State Department by the German embassy that the steamship Lusitania carried guns. The representatives of the department went to a boarding house at 29 Leroy street, the address he gave in his affidavit, and spent a half hour there. Stahl was not there nor has he been seen there since Thursday. His trunk and hand luggage, it was said, had apparently been packed in preparation for departure. The agents refuse to say what they had discovered.

Stahl is said to have done work for the German imperial consulate in this city and for Capt. Roy-Ed, the German naval attaché. He came here before the war it is said, from the German protectorate in Kiao-Chow, where he was attached to the office of the German commander at Tientsin.

GERMAN STATEMENT.
 BERLIN, June 5, via London, 4:05 p. m.—In the western theater of the war: There has been further fighting for possession of the remainder of the sugar refinery at Spuecher. For the time being it is again in possession of the French.

The enemy's attacks at Neuville have been repulsed by us. The airship station at Lomarmont, near Nancy, was bombed yesterday.

In the eastern theater of the war: In connection with the Russian attacks repulsed yesterday at Rawdany and the Siedoniki our troops have made further advances and have driven off their opponents, who held the bridgehead at Spuecher. Further north cavalry engagements took place yesterday in the region of Fokeljan with good results for us.

In the southeastern theater of the war: To the east of Jaroslav the situation has become unfavorable for us. Our troops, under Gen. Marwitz, together with Austro-Hungarian troops, are attacking an attempt to take Mozaiska. The army, under Gen. von Linsingen has driven the enemy back in the direction of Kalusz and Zaruska on the Dniester.

FRENCH STATEMENT.
 PARIS, June 5, 2:45 p. m.—The enemy delivered last night three violent counter attacks against the sugar refinery at Souchez and the trenches to the north and to the south of this position. They were repulsed, and in their first effort, particularly, they suffered very heavy losses.

We remain masters of every one of the positions mentioned by us. Last night also we took possession of a German position to the northwest of the roadside inn known as the Calvaire, situated about 10 kilometers (six miles) to the south of Souchez.

There was great activity last night on the part of the artillery in the entire sector to the north of Arras.

The enemy has broken through the fighting line and our attacks have resulted in progress. At the north of the sugar works at Souchez, we have captured a trench from the enemy and captured about thirty prisoners. We have stopped the aid of grenades and the attack of the Germans to make a counter-attack at Neuville-St. Vaast. We have made a gain of about 100 meters (about 300 feet) in the "baby-rinch" at the south of Neuville.

The enemy's artillery of long range and with Verdun as his objective, fired a few shells. However, they did not reach their mark.

We have, on our side, bombarded the enemy's positions at Metz. The Germans have fired a few projectiles at St. Die. There has been no casualties or material damage.

AUSTRIAN STATEMENT.
 VIENNA, June 5: Russian war theater: During the day Przemysl was cleared of the enemy, who is retreating in an easterly direction, offering resistance on the height southwest of Medyka. The allied troops there are attacking. Meanwhile the army of the Austro-Hungarian general, Eduard von Boehm-Ermolli, succeeded in breaking through the Russian defensive position from the south and advanced in the direction of Mosaiska, within a short distance of which our troops are now standing. In these engagements we have captured numerous prisoners.

The army under Gen. Alexander Linsingen also has achieved fresh successes and the Russians are in full retreat before him.

On the Pruth line, in consequence of the events of the San and the Upper Dniester, further fighting has developed. Wherever the enemy attempts an attack he is met with severe losses. We have captured 300 men.

ITALIAN STATEMENT.
 ROME, June 5: Along the whole of the frontier of Tyrol and Trentino there have been no important engagements. Continuing our operations against Toverets we have occupied Mattassone and Val Morbia in the Valsera.

Our artillery has silenced the Austrian forts of Luserna and Spitzverle and seriously damaged forts Belvedere and Busavento.

On the middle Isongo our attack against the spurs of Monte Nero on Tolmino met with great difficulties owing to the nature of the ground and the formidable intrenchments occupied by strong Austrian troops with machine guns and artillery.

The results of the fighting fluctuated. The summit and slopes of Monte Nero are firmly in our possession. Our losses were not serious. The battle continues with fresh troops, with which we hope for a decisive result.

On the remainder of the front our forward movement continues.

The visit was made the occasion of rejoicing at the fall of Przemysl. Emperor William was greeted everywhere by wildly enthusiastic crowds.

At a luncheon with Archduke Frederick Emperor William raised his glass to celebrate the fall of Przemysl, of which he spoke vigorously.

Confers With Leaders.
 The emperor is holding a series of audiences with leaders of the opposition party of Hungary, including Count János Tisza, the Hungarian premier, and Count Albert Apponyi and Count Istvan Zichy. These conferences are considered of great importance in relation to political developments in Hungary.

The formation of a coalition ministry, with the three counts named and Count János Tisza, the Hungarian premier, at its head, has been considered. Another proposal is the formation of a new cabinet, with Count Tisza as minister of the interior, and including M. Popovich, former finance minister.

TELEGRAMS. June 5.—The Exchange Telegraph Company has published a dispatch from Vienna, received by way of Amsterdam, saying it is now probable that the emperor's government is to be formed in Hungary. Some of the ministers of the opposition will be given leading positions.

The army under Gen. Alexander Linsingen also has achieved fresh successes and the Russians are in full retreat before him.

SMOKE CLOUDS ARE USED BY GERMANS IN FIGHTING

Straw Linings of Trenches on Twenty-Mile Front Fired to Aid Attacks on Russians.

LONDON, June 5.—The new German method of using smoke clouds in their fighting is described by the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent.

"In the fighting on the Buzza-Bawka sector Sunday evening," the correspondent says, "the Germans along a twenty-mile front piled the straw linings of their trenches and timbers and all kinds of debris, which had been well watered by hoses. These piles were all lighted simultaneously, giving forth incredible volumes of dense smoke. Thereupon a tremendous artillery fire began from the German positions, and following upon the rolling clouds of smoke came a German attacking column, with muffled faces, toward the Russian position. At many points where the trenches were close together for the effective use of the bonfire bombs like biscuit boxes were thrown into the Russian lines. These emitted dense poisonous fumes."
