

The Cured Child

How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to be the dad of an obtrusive, cultured youth, an educated lad! You labored with the farming tool and spent a vast amount, that Clarence Claude might go to school and drink at learning's fountain. And now that you are old and bent, no comfort do you know, for when you mutter "I have vent" proud Clarence shrieks with woe. "Come off your perch, O, Father John," says Clarence, grim as fate; "the proper phrase is 'I have gone'—why don't you get it straight?" And when you murmur, "I have seen," the crime's too rank for jeers; you hit poor Clarence on the raw, he sheds unmanly tears. At last your tongue has ceased to clack; you now refuse to talk, through deadly fear that you will back poor Grammar off the walk. Sometimes you argue with the mules, since children are a frost, or ask the horses if the schools are worth all that they cost. But in the house you close your trap, for if you say a word young Clarence Claude, that cultured chap, will be profoundly stirred.

Supreme Court Decisions.

To the Editor of the Star: I have read with much interest the two editorials in your issue of the 23d instant, headed, respectively, "The Grandfather Clause" and "The Bogie of Harassment," in the former of which you commend the United States Supreme Court for upholding the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, and in the latter of which you criticize the same court for side-stepping the real issue in the Newman case. If you consult sections 1539 and 1540, District of Columbia Code, you will ascertain who has the right, and under what conditions, to institute the writ quo warranto. The Supreme Court sustained Justice Anderson in holding Mr. Frizell was not a "person interested" within the meaning of these sections. The husband is represented by Attorney W. S. Culbertson, and the respondent by Attorney Otis B. Drake.

INCREASE IN TAXATION PROTESTED BY CITIZENS

Hyattsville Council Considers New Assessment—Permit for Erection of Oil Tank Refused.

Special Correspondence of the Star. HYATTSVILLE, Md., June 26.—The common council met Wednesday night in the municipal building, sitting as a board of revision and review on a recent general assessment of property within the corporate limits. As the result of an increase of about $22,000 over last year there were a number of objections, and these will be considered at a future meeting of the council. Mayor Edward Devlin announced that a meeting of the citizens would be held Tuesday evening to consider the propriety and advisability of increasing the tax rate 10 cents on the $100, or from 75 to 85 cents. The latter rate is authorized by the town charter, but the limit has never been imposed. The proposed increase will mean about $1,200 additional revenue, and Mayor Devlin stated that this amount is necessary in order to meet current expenses. There is certain to be vigorous protest on the part of the citizens to the increase, especially in view of the increase in the assessment on practically all of the property in the town. A detailed statement of the town's financial condition is to be made public this week, and Mayor Devlin stated that in order that the citizens should be accurately advised as to conditions he hoped every taxpayer and resident would read the statement. For the second time within the past three months the matter of granting a permit to the Standard Oil Company for the erection of an oil tank and stabilizer alongside the Baltimore and Ohio railroad south of Columbia avenue has been taken up by the council. The council is expected to grant the permit by a vote of 5 to 2, but it is probable that another application will be filed asking for the tank to be located about 200 feet south of the selected site.
