BENIGN AND BARBARIC HONOR TO THE DEAD

Join in Memorial Service for Attorneys R. R. Perry and J. Nota McGill.
Justices of the Court of appeals and of the District Supreme Court joined with the members of the bar in memorial services at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the old Circuit Court room at city hall to pay respects to the memory of Attorneys R. Ross Perry and J. Nota McGill. The room was crowded, standing room even being at a premium.
Resolutions were offered by two committees designated for the purpose by William M. Lewin, president of the bar association, Henry E. Davis was chairman of the Perry committee and J. Spalding Flannery of the McGill committee.
The legal attainments and personal characteristics of the dead members of the bar were extolled in speeches by the chairman of the committees, J. Holdsworth Gordon seconded the remarks of Mr. Davis as to the lovable character and great legal ability of R. Ross Perry. Mr. Gordon also extolled personal relations and high regard for J. Nota McGill, former register of wills and professor of patent law at Georgetown University, in concluding the remarks of Mr. Flannery.
The meeting was in progress at a late hour and concluded shortly after the scheduled addresses would be made.

GARFIELD CITIZENS MEET IN PUBLIC SCHOOL HOUSE

Favor More Pay for School Janitors and Improvement of Ainger Place.
The original Garfield Citizens' Association last night held its first meeting in the public school on Alabama avenue southeast, and most applause greeted the reading of a letter from the board of education granting this permission. The attendance was larger than at any previous gathering. Hereafter the meetings will be held in the school. A resolution was adopted favoring a 40 per cent increase in the salaries of janitors and others in the schools, and much discussion was held regarding the underpaid employees of the schools.
It was reported that Ainger place, west of Bruce place, was in a bad condition, and efforts will be made to have it improved.
President A. W. Carroll presided and appointed the following standing committees for the year: Schools and playgrounds, H. L. Henry, Frank Corum and W. R. Giles; sanitation, Rev. J. A. Taylor and Rev. W. A. Harris; water and sewers, Richard Beverly, Robert Sildan and Aaron Bruce; streets and lights, J. W. Caldwell, R. Giles and John Anderson; police and fire protection, Frank Scott, Richard Chase and John Pleasant; public hearing, A. W. Carroll, W. A. Beall and O. P. N. Maddox; membership, W. R. Giles and Frank Corum; executive committee, H. Henry, W. R. Giles, A. Taylor, Frank Scott, Richard Beverly and John W. Caldwell.
Francis Anthony Eugene de Bullett, eighty-seven years old, who died suddenly at Centre Cross, Essex county, Va., will be brought to Baltimore Saturday for burial. Mr. de Bullett died when on a hunting trip.

DR. JOHN P. DUNNIGAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Dr. John P. Dunnigan, forty years old, a member of the staff of Providence Hospital, died yesterday at the hospital after an illness of four months. Funeral services are to be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the family home, 234 6th street southeast, thence to St. Peter's Church, where requiem mass will be said at 9:30 o'clock. Interment is to be at Mount Olivet cemetery. Members of the Medical Society of Washington will attend the services.
Dr. Dunnigan was a native of Greenfield, Mass. He came to this city as a young man, and was graduated from the medical school of Georgetown University with the class of 1903. He practiced in this city up to the time of his illness, for the past two years having been connected with Providence Hospital.
His wife, Mrs. Marguerite C. Dunnigan, and six children are living.

POLICEMEN'S ASSOCIATION NOMINATES ITS OFFICERS

Ballots Will Be Received at the Several Police Stations December 2.
An enthusiastic meeting of the Policemen's Association was held last night at the Pythian Temple, Otto C. Hauschild, president, in the chair. Sergt. Edward Curry of the sixth precinct was elected chairman of the general board, and officers for the ensuing year were nominated as follows: Otto C. Hauschild and C. E. Smith, president; Wash Sanford and C. G. Stott, first vice president; William Mahaney and E. M. Seaman, second vice president; J. E. Wilson, financial secretary; George W. Sellers, recording secretary; Lieut. C. P. Lord, treasurer, and Edward J. Koefe, trustee.
J. C. Maloney, J. L. Billman and Otto Sontag were selected to serve as judges of the election. The ballots will be cast in the several police stations December 2, and it is the intention of the judges to close the polls at 6 o'clock. The result will be announced that night.
The association adopted a new set of by-laws. One important change puts all members of the organization on an equal footing, and makes all eligible to office. Heretofore members of the force holding the higher positions were not eligible.
Members of the association discussed the question of providing a home for the organization. It is the desire of the association to have a home similar to what is enjoyed by similar organizations in most of the larger cities, where they have equipment for all athletic events, swimming pools and libraries. Action on the question will be taken at a later meeting. W. S. Fouse and W. B. Hubbs were elected to membership.
Charles Carmine, who had lived like a wild man in the woods for over four years, was captured near Preston, Md., and taken to an insane asylum.

DR. MAGRUDER HONORED BY DISTRICT PHYSICIANS

Martyr to Serbian Typhus Praised in Meeting at George Washington University.
Members of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia gathered in the medical school of George Washington University Wednesday night and held a memorial for Dr. E. P. Magruder of this city, who died from typhus in Serbia, where he was serving as a Red Cross physician. Dr. Magruder at one time was superintendent of Emergency Hospital in this city, and associate surgeon at Georgetown University Hospital.
The work done by Dr. Magruder in combating typhus was graphically described by Dr. Ethan F. Butler, late director of Serbian unit No. 2, of the AMERICAN RED CROSS DR. BUTLER WAS ASSOCIATED WITH DR. MAGRUDER IN SERBIA, AND WAS WITH HIM WHEN HE DIED.

Dr. Butler was associated with Dr. Magruder in Serbia, and was with him when he died. He told of the self-sacrifice of Dr. Magruder; how he cared for fellow-physicians and nurses who had contracted typhus, and how, in his run-down condition as the result of overwork, he contracted and succumbed to the dreaded fever himself.
Maj. Robert Patterson, medical director of the American Red Cross, also paid tribute to Dr. Magruder, as did Dr. George M. Kober, dean of the medical school of Georgetown University. Dr. Kober also spoke of the medical profession as a whole, saying it is the only organized force of any size today that is working to preserve life, not destroy it.

Opposes Organization of Artillery Company at University.
Opposition to the plan for raising a coast artillery company or encouraging any other form of military service at George Washington University is expressed by Rexford L. Holmes, a graduate of the institution, in a letter to William Bruce King, attorney, who is acting chairman of the military committee of the board of trustees.
Mr. Holmes' letter was in response to a circular letter sent out by Mr. King in the interest of promoting the military organization.
Mr. Holmes explains that he would be glad to help any effort to establish a chair at the university "to teach young men how to preserve the peaceful traditions of our nation, based upon the ideals of that greatest of teachers, the Prince of Peace." He further says: "We recently have seen a number of illustrations of what can be accomplished by feeding young minds, and especially the student bodies, upon military propaganda calculated to cause the youth of the nation to regard force as necessary if they would preserve the integrity of their native land. This idea has worked out as might have been expected in more than one European government, so that as a result of this constant training of young minds along military lines we have today an army of blood, the wrecking of nations and the engineering of hatreds that will endure for centuries to come."

Pennsylvania Avenue Saks & Company Seventh Street
Specialists in Apparel for Men, Boys and Children.

This Season's Selections of Saks Suits and Overcoats at $20 for Men and Young Men are bigger than ever before because we have practically doubled the assortments to keep pace with a double demand.

¶ Last Fall we came pretty close to a famine in our twenty-dollar suit and overcoat selections. A sudden spurt in the demand for Saks clothes at this popular figure took us unawares, like a flanking movement. And it was simply because Saks suits and overcoats at this price are absolutely free from the customary limitations of a twenty-dollar bill.

¶ Most twenty-dollar clothes are just—twenty-dollar clothes. They never get away from the price ticket. They carry to the grave the inextinguishable earmarks of a lowly origin. And it is right there that Saks productions at twenty dollars bifurcate from the beaten path of the average and create a new set of standards for themselves.

¶ Frankly, we have accomplished wonders in twenty-dollar overcoats and suits this Fall. We have still further advanced the standards of tailoring and style. We have put twenty-dollar clothes on a more exalted plane. And we have embraced in the selections of fabric designs and colors a range of choice never hitherto shown in any twenty-dollar selections.

Twenty Dollar Suits
Soft roll and peak lapels
Patch and flap pockets
Classy originalities in cuffs
Stripes, checks and plaids
New tone browns, grays and greens
And so forth, indefinitely

Twenty Dollar Overcoats
New box-effect models
New form-fitting models
New kimono sleeve models
New pockets, cuffs and collars
And fabrics by the hundreds in every conceivable design

Important Offerings in the Boys' Exclusive Shop.
The separateness with which this department is conducted gives it a completeness and a service that have no equal anywhere. Parents know that our assortments are larger; our values notably better; and always are the prices lowest. Now and then they are lower than usual—which is the fact tomorrow.
