

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES—Pa's Advice Was Punk.

Wishes

If wishes were motors, the beggars would ride, and throw on us voters the dust, in their pride. But wishes won't carry a man to his goal, and beggars must tarry down there in the hole. "I wish," sighs the ditcher, the creature of brawn, "that I was some richer than Andy or John. But Fortune is spurning a poor, honest jay, and I'll go on earning a dollar a day." If he had quit wishing and dreaming his dream, and spent some time fishing in Knowledge's stream; if he had made endeavor to master some trade, he would not forever be wielding a spade; he would not be sweating in gumbo and clay, intent upon getting his dollar a day. If wishes were horses the beggars would ride, but down where remorse is the beggars abide. A wish is a daisy when backed up by toil, but if you are lazy your wishes will spoil. Your wishes are dizzy if idly they grew, but if you get busy they'll likely come true.

BOTH MEN AND HORSES ENJOY RIDE IN THE RAIN

Women Also on Sunday Canter and Mist Puts Roses on Their Cheeks.

Washingtonians rode yesterday in spite of the weather or because of the weather. The veteran riders declared that the day was one of the finest for men, women and horses, and those who joined in the riding said that it was one of the stirring experiences of life. "I rode on a misty day with a dash of rain in the face is the best complexion beautifier I know," said a pink-faced woman as she dismounted at the end of the fifteen-mile ride. Even the horses were frolicsome and seemed enthusiastic over some of the delightfully muddy trails. Every horse seemed to say, with his ears, "This mist, drizzle and cool soft mud reminds me of the happy days when I lived in the country. It is so much better to be out on a gentle rainy Sunday than to stand around the stable all day reading the race and horse show news."

It is not known just how many of the Washington riders put on their slickers yesterday and rode through the rain and mud, but it is believed that they did not connect up at the start with the back-to-the-saddle groups, and followed the trails on their own bent.

"Keeps People Youthful."

One of the veteran horsemen, a man who rides a famous horse for the health and pleasure there in it, said: "This is real weather. The rain and mud are good for man and beast. It makes the spirit thrill and the blood flow. It keeps the hair in the state of boyhood and girlhood. It keeps us from growing up and fading out. There is more life in riding in weather like this than when the sun is shining and the air is balmy, but not enough people are riding in weather like this. I have the idea that it is proper to stay indoors when the clouds hang heavy, but to get out in a sweater, raincoat and water-tight shoes or boots, mount their horse and come along."

The morning riding, which was joined in by students of George Washington University and their friends, was followed by the afternoon riding, which followed Virginia west and south of the Chain bridge were followed.

Afternoon Ride and Supper.

The afternoon riding was led by C. X. Brands. The afternoon riding did not end until long after dark, and the riders, after putting up their horses at convenient stables, sat down to a saddle supper at the home of Mr. Brands. It was a merry affair. Among the Washington riders in the riding groups were the Messrs. Westfall, Helen Upton, Sue H. Murray, Anne Regan, Vera O'Mara, Antoinette Jarnet, Ida Bowen, the Messrs. Westfall, and Messrs. Charles Kothe, John H. Evans, A. G. Maddox, William Gilman, W. A. Stetson, Lewis W. Wood, J. M. von Zieleski, C. X. Brands, Harry Shannon, W. S. Williams, Dent, Burdick and Moore.

Home Club Week's Program.

Plans have been made for a busy week of entertainment at the Home Club on Jackson place. Rev. James S. Montgomery, pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. Church, is scheduled to deliver an address tonight. An elaborate program has been arranged as a part of the reception tomorrow night to honor H. Manning, director of the bureau of mines, and Mrs. Manning. There will be a lecture Friday night, but it is not known at this time who will deliver it. The week will close with a "Lobbyist," by the Home Club Players.

Civilians in Training at Fort Myer.

About thirty members of the newly organized Washington Rifle Association, composed of men prominent in the business and social life of the city, some of whom were recruits at the "Hatterburg training camp, were at Fort Myer, Va., yesterday getting military instruction. Lieut. Phil Sheridan, U. S. A., delivered an illustrated lecture to the class on the army rifle. He explained the different parts of the gun and their uses, and instructed them in shooting. They plan to go to the army rifle range at Edsall, Va., a week from Sunday for target practice.

Progress Due to Lord's Prayer.

Attributing the progress and development in Africa to the introduction of the Lord's Prayer, Rev. E. H. Richards, for thirty-two years a missionary to South Africa, yesterday talked to the Knights of the District Supreme Court, C. A., about the close relation of the commercial and religious sides of Africa's conquest. W. De G. Galt, director of boys' work, is to speak next Sunday at 3:30 o'clock. Boys of mature age are invited to attend. General Secretary William Knowles Cooper will make an address November 28.

Out on Suspended Sentence.

Jeremiah Berry, colored, who recently pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with deprivation of the property, was sentenced to one year in jail Saturday by Chief Justice Covington, presiding in the Criminal Division of the District Supreme Court. On account of the previous good record of the boy the court suspended the execution of the sentence and placed him on probation. Attorney Harry L. Tignor represented the defendant.

STROLL UP CONDUIT ROAD AND DOWN BY TOWPATH

Even Dozen of Wanderlusters Brave Inclement Weather for a Five-Mile Walk.

"Despite very unfavorable weather conditions an even dozen of the wanderlusters met leader James P. Greene at Cabin John yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a stroll up Conduit road and down by the towpath, a distance of five miles," says the "official" account to the hikers. "This historic waterway found added charm in scraps of history scattered here and there from various sources. At Magazine camp two of the hikers, who make this their summer home, entertained the small party for a few minutes. Inquiring as to the origin of the name, it was learned that many years ago, possibly during the continental period, a large magazine for storing war ammunition was erected at this point, extending across where the canal now flows. A lone oarsman entertained us with bugle solos as he quietly guided his craft along the canal. "Wednesday Prof. W. Cooke is scheduled to lead a moonlight stroll, starting from Dupon Circle at 8 o'clock. There will be some entirely new trails to follow, and a visit to the Naval Observatory grounds will be included. Next Sunday's Stroll. Next Sunday afternoon, meeting at 3d street and Florida avenue northeast, Johnny Rosson is to lead, being largely a repetition of what is known as the Patterson estate walk, taken last February. At that time 252 participated, and it is anticipated that a large party will assemble this time. "The Wanderlust," a little bulletin issued by the walk lovers, appeared yesterday for its sixth issue, but because of the small number on the streets only a few copies were distributed. Copies will be distributed next Sunday, however. A party of nature lovers from Baltimore came to Washington yesterday, going to Great Falls. Sunday in New York City. A Real Treat. $3.00—Round Trip—$4.00. Special excursion, Pennsylvania railroad, next Sunday, to the great metropolis, the most interesting city on the American continent. SCHEDULE OF THEMES FOR CIVIC FEDERATION

Annual Meeting of National Body to Open in Washington January 17.

General topics for discussion at the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation, to be held in Washington January 17, 18 and 19, were announced today. They are: "The legal and moral obligations resting upon foreign-born citizens of the United States—those who have become naturalized citizens, and those who have taken steps to become citizens, as well as those engaged in labor or business here, but not intending to take out citizen's papers. The present and prospective effects of the war upon immigration to the United States, as it relates (1) to the wage earner, (2) to industry and (3) to the body politic; and what, if any, new legislation is required to deal with this problem. Among the reports which will be made by special committees will be one giving an analysis of over 100 profit-sharing plans now in operation in this country, as well as a description of many abandoned ones and the causes of their failure. It will cover different methods employed in industrial enterprises manufacturing corporations and financial institutions. A plan will be presented for the organization of a commission to make a study of the question: "How far shall government in this country enter into the local, national and international review of conditions in Europe, where the government is more and more taking over private industrial opportunities, the permanent policy, or is it tolerated as a military necessity?" Social and Industrial Changes. A preliminary report on its survey of the social and industrial changes which have taken place in the United States during the last generation is to be made by the industrial economics department. Included in this following subjects are to be discussed: Labor conditions, employers' welfare work, agricultural conditions, housing conditions, industrial opportunities, public health, business ethics and political ethics. The annual meeting of the women's department is to open January 17 with a luncheon at the New Willard Hotel.

700,000 BRICKS ON HAND.

Ninth Street Wharf Piled High With Product of Occoquan. Though brick is being daily hauled from the storage yard at the foot of 9th street southwest to the Park View and other new schoolhouses in process of erection in the District, there are now piled on the wharf more than 700,000 bricks. These bricks were all made at the kilns operated at the District workhouse at Occoquan, and have been brought here and stored on the wharf since the shifting of the storage yards to the 9th street wharf a month ago. All the big piles of brick from Occoquan, that were stored on the wharf at the foot of 10th street, which now is part of the District fish and oyster wharf reservation, have been taken to the new Central High School and the new colored high school. It is said the workhouse authorities are figuring on furnishing many million bricks to the new fish wharf when the erection of the proposed structure is started.

BOXES CONTAINING SAND CAUSE OF BOMB SCARE

Ten Addressed to "Secretary of All the United States" Were Marked "No Explosive."

Ten boxes, containing sand and pieces of broken granite, "sent for the honor of the country," and addressed "Hon. Secretary of all the United States," were received at the office of the American Express Company from Batavia, N. Y. They weighed from twenty-three to sixty-seven pounds and were marked: "No explosive. No bombs." So far as the police know, it is stated, the address and inscription on the packages suggested nothing out of the ordinary to the express company's employees at Batavia. They accepted them in the ordinary routine of business, collected 71 express charges and shipped them to this city. Five of them reached White House station Saturday night and the others were delivered yesterday at Batavia. Express company employees displayed an unusual amount of interest in the packages. They were curious to learn what the boxes contained and were a trifle afraid of an explosion.

Detective Opens Boxes.

Detective Burlingame was sent to the station to make an investigation. He ripped the bottom off one of the boxes, while employees of the express company watched him, and quickly discovered that it contained nothing but sand and stone. One by one the ten boxes were opened and the detective found that all contained similar material—enough sand and stone to start the foundation of a small structure. It is highly probable that the boxes contained and were a trifle afraid of an explosion.

Forty Hours' Devotion.

Inaugurated at St. Stephen's With a Solemn High Mass. With a celebration of solemn high mass yesterday morning by Rev. Robert Froelich, the forty-hour devotion in St. Stephen's church, 26th street and Pennsylvania avenue, was begun. Assisting at the celebration were two clergymen from Holy Cross College, Catholic University, as deacon and subdeacon. Rev. Francis McGraw delivered the sermon of the day. The devotion of the Sunday school children took place following the mass. Low masses were celebrated early this morning and high mass for peace was sung at 8 o'clock this morning. High mass of reposition will be celebrated tomorrow morning. The devotions will close at 7 o'clock.

Denies Suffrage Merger.

Mrs. McCormick Says Two Lobbies Will Not Join Forces. A statement denying that there was any likelihood of a fusion of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and the Congressional Union was made public today by Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the first organization. Mrs. McCormick, in her statement, deplores the fact that two separate suffrage lobbies exist in Washington, but insists that while the Congressional Union adheres to its policy of holding the democratic party, or any other party, responsible for the failure to pass a federal suffrage amendment to the Constitution talk of union between the two organizations is worse than idle.

Plea for Living Wages for Labor in District

Dr. A. J. McKelway Says Industry That Cannot Properly Compensate Employees Is a Curse. Making a plea for a living wage for employees in the District, Dr. A. J. McKelway, national secretary of the child labor committee, in an address at the Young Women's Christian Association yesterday, said that an industry that cannot afford to pay living wages is a curse and should not be allowed to exist. "Three things may happen when a woman is not paid a living wage," said Dr. McKelway. "One is that the family will make up the deficit, the second that charitable institutions make up the difference between the salary, and the third—rather exaggerated—that the girl or woman may sell herself. "When an employer does not pay a girl a living wage, when he does not protect her from the need to support her, she is thrown on the public. An industry that cannot afford to pay living wages is a curse and should not be allowed to exist. "There is some relation between low wages and immorality, but the great majority of cases are the other way. Most working girls have starved rather than sell themselves. Miss Florence Brown, general secretary of the association, presided. Musical selections were furnished by Mrs. Emile Douglas Marcon, Miss Jacobs and Mr. Stearns.
