

STEADY INCREASE IN ENLISTMENTS

Recruiting for National Guard Now at High Water Mark.

NEW STATION OPENED IN GEORGETOWN SECTION

Another May Be Placed on 9th Street Near F—Cooks Badly Needed.

With new recruiting stations opening and the central station at 1225 Pennsylvania avenue, in charge of Col. Clarence V. Sayer, going full blast today, recruiting men for the National Guard is now at high water mark. A new station was opened at 3145 M street northwest this morning, under the direction of Serjt. Clemmens of the 3d Infantry, and it is expected that many Georgetown men will avail themselves of the station "at home." In all probability a station will be opened on 9th street below F street, to be in the line of the thousands who pass up and down this busy thoroughfare every day.

As the days have progressed there has been a steady increase in enlistments. It is noted, a very encouraging sign to the officers in charge of the work, who say it is a fine sign of what will happen if a call should ever come for volunteers, pointing to enlistments by the hundred from the District if a state of war should be declared in earnest.

Needs of 3d Infantry.
The 3d Infantry is in urgent need of the following: Seven cooks, two horse-shoers, six mounted orderlies, seven drivers, one saddler, one regimental commissary sergeant, and four men for the band, as follows: One E flat clarinet, one B flat clarinet, one piccolo and one tenor saxophone.

The infantry also wants fifteen machinists or mechanics for the machine gun company.

If there are any men in Washington who can qualify for any of the above positions they will be especially welcomed by the officers in the recruiting stations, as they are making strenuous efforts to meet these special needs of the 3d Infantry.

Cooks especially are being welcomed with open arms at the Pennsylvania avenue station. Cooks are hard to get in the army, even as they are in private life, and the infantry is having quite a hard time to get men who know how to hustle up good "chuck" for the boys in camp.

Can Cook, But Is Slightly Deaf.
One man volunteered this morning and was greeted by Col. Sayer and his assistants gladly, but upon examination proved to be somewhat deaf and so had to be rejected. When the man was asked if he could cook, he replied:

"I'm a crackerjack cook."

This sounded so good to the officers that they had visions of savory bean soup, but since the man under examination seemed unable to hear well enough, he had to be rejected. He went away resigned to his fate, declaring that he had been rejected in 1898 because he was too old when he wanted to serve in the ranks, and now that he wanted to serve as a cook his ears had gone back on him, and he guessed his chance to be a hero had gone by forever.

Supplies Recruiting Stations.
Providing coolers and tea for the various recruiting stations of the National Guard of the District of Columbia is the work taken up today by members of the Lined Society of the Spanish War, under the direction of Mrs. Allen E. Capron, supreme chief ruler of the organization.

Mrs. Capron was informed yesterday that the various recruiting stations did not have ice water, and at once she took up the effort of securing it, with the result that the first station at 1225 Pennsylvania avenue was equipped before noon today.

"We must show these men who are making up our army," said Mrs. Capron today, "the deepest consideration, and our society wishes to look out for a part that we see neglected."

Later Mrs. Capron visited the station at 12th and U streets, and plans that it shall be equipped with ice water before this evening. The station in prospect on 9th street is also to be similarly equipped.

E. J. Newton of Congress Heights this morning volunteered the use of his automobile to carry recruits from the Pennsylvania avenue station to the camp. He and Harry Gladman were practically the only men volunteering for this important work today. Mr. Gladman has been "on the job" from the first.

MORE PHYSICIANS NEEDED.
Additional Medical Men to Examine Refugees from Mexico Sought.
Additional medical men to examine refugees from Mexico and to care for Mexican prisoners in event of hostilities are being sought by the United States public health service. Examinations for physicians and surgeons will be held in the principal cities of the country probably early in July, it is announced.

Typhus fever, smallpox and yellow fever are to be guarded against particularly, and it is feared these diseases may be carried either by refugees who will be landed at American ports or by Mexicans who may be brought across the border.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP NOTES

Recruits came in fast for the headquarters company yesterday. More than thirty filed their applications at the recruiting stations. The company reached muster roll strength before 9 o'clock last night and recruits are still coming. This recently was one of the smallest companies in the entire regiment, but it seems to be the most popular one for enlistments.

Commissioner Oliver P. Newman made an inspection of the camp yesterday, being welcomed and escorted about by Brig. Gen. William E. Harvey. The Commissioner said he was proud of the large number of men in the National Guard representative of the citizenship of the District. He remarked upon the seriousness observable in the camp, entirely different from most militia ensembles. Commissioner Newman met prominent men from various sections of the District with whom he is personally acquainted. He said he was impressed with the spirit of patriotism with which they are answering the call of their country.

Rookies were engaged in getting acquainted with the postmaster and supply tent all day. For more than six hours the clerks were busy giving out uniforms. The men were given other property, and for more than four hours they were engaged in checking up cartloads of property received from the general storehouse of the National Guard in Washington.

First Serjt. Henry F. O'Malley of Company G has served twelve years in the National Guard. He is in the "right hand" of the "rookies," steering them right. He is popular with the entire company and is being called back by the men from the navy yard who are called back the sergeant says he will pass the physical examination. His spirit is contagious, and many of the navy yard men will follow him.

There were three band concerts in the camp yesterday. The first was at 1:30 p.m. in the Y. M. C. A. tent, the next at 3:30 in front of Col. Glendie Young's headquarters. The last was in the Y. M. C. A. tent at 7 o'clock. The last two were listened to by hundreds of recruits. At the concert there were more than 500 persons in the Y. M. C. A. tent and several hundred outside.

Louis "Mike" Walsh is the champion trench digger of Company G.

Companies D, L, M and the machine gun unit received their muster rolls last evening. The officers were busy all night filling them out. The camp guests were interested observers of this important clerical work. It is estimated that these will be the first companies to be mustered in from the 3d Infantry.

Col. and Mrs. C. Fred Cook were guests at the camp yesterday afternoon, in company with Capt. R. Simms, the chief recruiting officer. Col. Cook is retired. He was adjutant of the guard. Col. Simms is recommended on his list for the medal with which he is carrying out his assignment to recruit the District guard to war strength.

Regimental Color Sergeant C. W. Moore has two sons in the company. The sergeant has been recalled to the camp from detail to the District armory. He shipped out to the camp in two wagons of ammunition and a truckload of equipment.

All members of Company G had leave last night because they were on guard duty all the day and night before. The guard mount Company G made a fine showing and was complimented for the way in which the rookies have been whipped into shape by the ex-regulars who are enrolled.

The Y. M. C. A. tent is letter-writing headquarters. There is about ten dollars' worth of postage used each day in this tent. Capt. R. Simms, the chief recruiting officer, has a large stock of writing paper have been utilized.

A. L. Smith, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, is going to the border with the national guardsmen.

"Mutt," the tallest man in Company G, is grieving over the fact that "Jeff" is in the guardhouse. They are not planning for interesting times when they cross the border. "Mutt" was very strict in his instructions, but his diminutive friend's name should be "deleted."

The new pay station booth telephone in the Y. M. C. A. tent is such a popular place that in twenty-four hours the telephone slot became clogged up six times with nickels.

Walter C. Rathbone of Company L, was the first to head back to work last night. As he is detailed as a brigade headquarters clerk, his spread was noted by the presence of several brigade officers.

"Gen. Villa," the little mongrel cur, has been transferred from Company G to H company as a mascot. "Gen. Villa" couldn't get along at all pleasantly with Gen. Carranza, who has given him his passports and safe escort.

A delegation of Y. M. C. A. officials inspected the Y. M. C. A. tent and the camp in general yesterday. In the delegation were the well-known many of the young men in camp—W. H. Fort of the International committee and Secretary Angell of Baltimore. They were getting solitaire for similar work in the Maryland camp in Laurel.

First Lieut. C. Earl Smithson of the 3d Infantry voices the sentiment of the navy yard men in camp. The announcement made in last night's papers that these men had to head back to work caused much comment. Lieut. Smithson said: "There isn't any chance. I'm here and I'm going right through with the outfit. I don't believe any of the men will withdraw from the regiment to go back to work." This opinion was expressed generally among the men.

Capt. Edwin D. Fulam, adjutant of the 3d Infantry Regiment, was in District court today answering a habeas corpus summons in the first case to test the right of the War Department to enlist into the service boys under twenty-one years of age without the consent of their parents. Capt. Fulam was served with a habeas corpus warrant the day the regiment left for camp, calling for the delivery of John B. Brockman, a black man is nineteen years old. He wants to go with the regiment, but his family is strenuously opposing the case as before Justice Ashley M. Gould.

William L. Tidings, second lieutenant of the machine gun company, had many congratulations today for his gallantry in the most popular officers and had good training. He was a first lieutenant and captain.

Rev. William E. Callender of Christ Episcopal Church, Kensington, was in conference with the commanding officer of the vacant vacancy caused by the inability of Chaplain George F. Dudley to go with the District guard when mustered in.

The machine gun company was the first to report itself ready for muster, having two men over the maximum strength. This was done to allow for depletions through failure to pass the physical examinations. The maximum number of enlisted men is fifty-three. The company reported four officers and fifty-five men. The roster includes eight sergeants, six corporals, two cooks, eight first-class privates and thirty-one privates, making a total strength of fifty-nine men. The latest recruits to join the company are William G. Jones, William J. MacKenzie, Clarence P. Sowers and Alfred P. Leyburn.

Mrs. Russell MacLennan, who is known throughout the country as the organizer of the nation-wide society for the protection and honor of the uniform of soldiers and sailors, was a camp visitor.

Lieut. Col. Anton Stephan was in command of the 3d Infantry yesterday while Col. Glendie E. Young was in Washington on official business.

General court is to be held in camp tomorrow with Lieut. Col. Stephan as president to clear up all cases that should come before it in anticipation of early enlistment. These cases are for desertion or failure to appear for service as required by contract of enlistment. The power of the court is strong, and if the offense justifies the penalty may

RAILROADS ARE READY FOR RUSH OF TROOPS

Passenger Agents in Chicago Expect to Handle Vanguard of 50,000 Today.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Passenger agents of railroads centering in Chicago today are prepared for the rush of state troops from eastern states through this city on their way to the Mexican border. The vanguard of some 50,000 soldiers is expected to arrive during the day, and preparations for handling the men expeditiously are announced as complete.

Officials of the New York Central railroad said early today that they expected troop trains which left New York state points yesterday with the 14th and 71st New York Infantry regiments would reach Chicago about noon. They will be started on their way to the border almost immediately on the Chicago and Alton railroad.

Connecticut Troops on the Way.
Three special trains carrying Connecticut state troops are expected to arrive later over the Pennsylvania line, and will be transferred to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad for the rest of the trip to the border. Three trainloads of infantry from Massachusetts are expected to arrive in some time tonight over the Erie and change to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad for Kansas City and thence south over the Rock Island.

At the offices of the Pullman company it was announced that eighty cars had already been ordered to Springfield for the use of the Illinois troops.

Physicians Ordered to Texas.
A large number of officers of the Medical Corps and of the Medical Reserve Corps have been ordered to proceed at once to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and other points along the Mexican border for duty.

In the list are First Lieuts. Clarence S. Ketcham, Charles W. Riley, Robert P. Williams, over the Edward Percy J. Carroll, Charles H. Hecker, John E. Beeson, Paul E. Bowers, Arthur W. C. Bergfeld, Russell A. Warren, Clarence Gunter, John H. Beckert, J. G. Ellis, Jr., Thomas C. Savage, Ernest C. Dalton, Fred T. Koyle, Isaac W. Brewer, Lester L. Rook, Louis D. Mead and Frank E. All the officers are commenting on the fact that this is the most serious encampment of the District National Guard ever had. The men are showing attention to details of their service. They are exact in saluting officers. They keep their uniforms in good shape, and buttons down. The work of disciplining is being done quietly and effectively.

Each company of infantry or other tactical unit now has its kitchen provided. Wooden framework has been buttoned down. The work of disciplining is being done quietly and effectively.

It will take three or five days to reach Bisbee, Ariz., the destination of the District Guard on the border. For military reasons the exact routing cannot be given out.

Two cartloads of equipment for the District troops arrived at Rosslyn from the Philadelphia depot yesterday and are being unloaded today.

A real wedding feast was spread by the 3d Infantry company, last evening in honor of the marriage of Peter Blaubeer, clarinetist, and Miss Frances L. Barrett. Both formerly lived in Albany, N. Y. The bride has been living in Washington for the last two years. Just as soon as musician Blaubeer heard that the troops were expected to depart he got leave and when he returned to camp within three hours was a happy married man. The first anniversary of his nuptials was when he commenced to throw showers of rice from his clothing. He was unable to continue with the drill on account of the fact that his shoes were filled with rice.

Tent 5 in musicians' row was a jubilant place, with plenty of wedding cake and "kissings." Musician Blaubeer is a Spanish War Veteran, and has been five years in the guard.

Company C got two of its former members back yesterday—John Fleming, who came from Baltimore and reported for duty, and E. C. Sawyer, who came from Columbus, Ohio. The latter said that in Cleveland the militia are drilling without arms, and he has his company mates that they are lucky to be as well equipped as they are. Recruits who joined Company C yesterday are Maurice Schultz, who has seen former service with the 1st Infantry, and A. S. Carter. Company C has had to put up a new tent to hold these recruits.

"Tod" Thoman, mess sergeant, is the best of company C. He serves the best food in camp, it is declared. As mess sergeant at Washington barracks he instructed all the cooks who went to Cuba. The fact that the regimental non-commissioned officers eat with C Company is rated as its best recommendation.

Serjt. E. R. King has been made quartermaster sergeant in Company C.

Gen. W. E. Harvey established a precedent last night. He accepted an invitation to mess with the Signal Corps, the first tactical unit mustered in. He ate from the mess kit like any private and enjoyed his roast beef dinner thoroughly. For dessert the corps had pound cake and ice cream.

The men of the 1st Separate Battalion are in good spirits and eager to get started. This outfit presented for muster the following officers: Maj. J. Walker, First Lieut. J. E. Smith, Second Lieut. W. A. Hamilton, quartermaster; Capt. Albert Ridgely, surgeon; Non-commissioned officers: Serjt. Maj. E. B. Smith and Supply Serjt. F. J. Kniss. Each company presented two officers and at least 110 men; one company had 137 men.

The 1st Separate Battalion is receiving shoes today. It is now thought that this organization will start with the khaki uniforms they had and will not wait for olive drab uniforms.

The District guard has a Nicaraguan who enlisted and is scarcely able to speak English intelligently. Finally a lieutenant was found who could converse with him in his own language. It was learned that he thought he was enlisting as an interpreter. He will be discharged from the guard.

There are seven men in the regiment who are affected by the war recall-to-work order for navy yard employees. This would break the band up pretty well.

PLENTY OF ARMY SUPPLIES.
Quartermaster's Department Able to Meet All Demands.

War Department officials believe they have perfected arrangements by which ample supplies of food, equipment and clothing will be provided for all troops called into the federal service, no matter how great the numbers may be. Secretary Baker today made public the following statement from the quartermaster general:

"The Quartermaster Corps has, up to the present time, met all the calls made upon it for supplies in the way of clothing and equipment, and with the arrangements which we now have for purchasing, in order to replenish stock, it is not believed there will be any difficulty, no matter how many troops are called.

"As far as food supplies are concerned, these have been abundant in quantity and of excellent quality, and arrangements are such that the same will continue when the large increase of troops in Texas is made, the matter being entirely handled by the department commander, through the department quartermaster.

"The only difficulty so far experienced has been in obtaining a sufficient number of motor trucks of a certain type preferred by army officials for border use. Plenty of trucks of proper size and power, but of different designs, are immediately available.
