

Eagle caught by French aeroplane in flight.

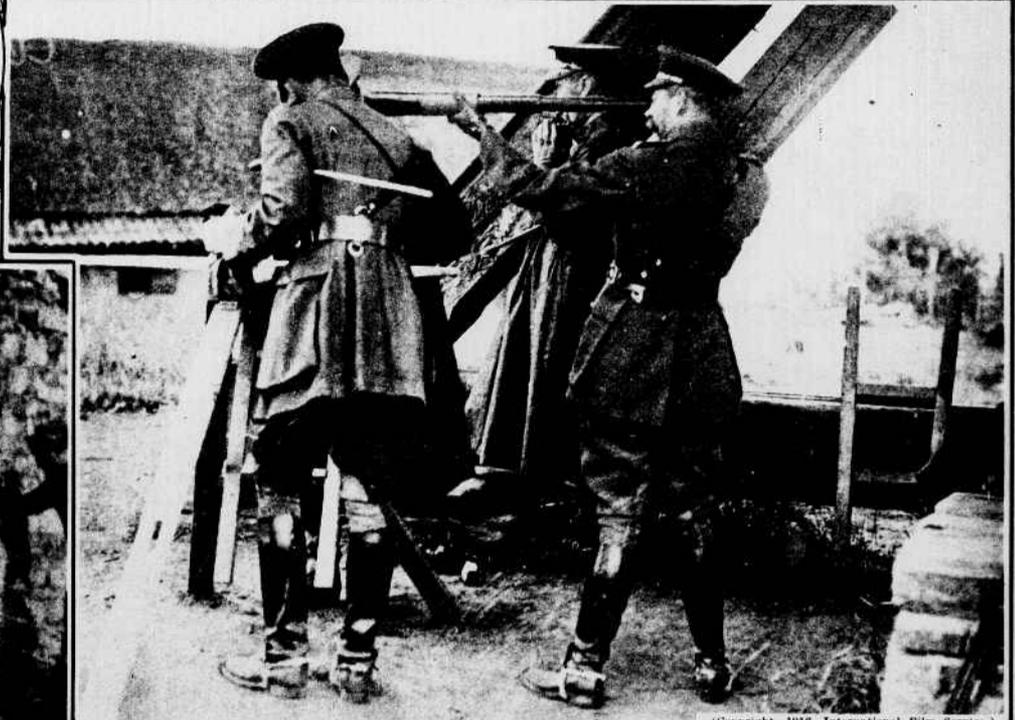

(Copyright, Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.)

A very ordinary scene on the western front these days, showing a line of wounded from the front to the rear.

(Copyright, 1916, International Film Service.)

On the European Battlefields

King George shown during his recent visit to the front, helping the English commanders direct a bombardment.

(Copyright, 1916, International Film Service.)

Several French soldiers trapped by the enemy in a ruined village in Alsace. This is considered the most sensational picture taken during the war, and was granted first prize at the war photographic exposition held in Paris.

(Copyright, Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.)

Directors of the destiny of Great Britain and France confer. David Lloyd George of England and Aristide Briand of France.

(Copyright, Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.)

French soldiers form a human ladder to show depth of a hole dug by a French shell.

(Copyright, 1916, International Film Service.)

Gen. Sam Hughes of Canada visits the front and shows his bomb throwers some new tricks.

(Copyright, 1916, International Film Service.)