PAINTS HORRORS OF WAR IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA

Descriptive Letter From Mrs. Minnie Toppenburg, a Missionary, Formerly of Washington.

As a result of the war conditions in German East Africa are deplorable, resembling those of the middle ages, according to a letter just received by Miss Jessina Hansen of 358 Blair road, Takoma Park, from her sister, Mrs. Minnie Toppenburg.

Tells of Hurred Escape.

The letter gives vivid details of the hurried escape she and her family and assistants made from the infuriated natives, who had arisen in rebellion.

Obliged to Find Substitutes.

"These and many other things we had to find substitutes for. Bananas, native grains and muhogo for flour, wild honey for sugar, candles made of tallow for light, soap from wood ashes and lime. Clothes were also inprocureable, so we wore pants, etc., made of goat and gazelle skins, made yarn of cotton and knitted stockings, etc.

Natives in War Paint.

"By this time the excitement was at its height, the natives painted themselves for war, and wore spears, swords, bows and poisoned arrows. They rushed in crowds here and there, and came finally howling and yelling on the mission land toward our house.
