HEARD AND SEEN HERE AND THERE.

By Earl Godwin. The Association of the Survivors of the Hughes-Wilson Elections Returns was incorporated today.

People who claimed more than 400 electoral votes for either candidate before the election.

Those who had absolute and positive inside information that either Hughes or Wilson could not lose and that either Hughes or Wilson would sweep the country like the well known landslide.

Any one who had "personal friends" in the entourage of either candidate and was, therefore, getting better insights into the real situation than any one else on earth, including the highly expert and experienced, bias and neutral newsmongers.

Persons who had nothing to do from last Tuesday morning on but to hold post-mortems.

Persons who remembered exactly how it was done in the Hayes-Tilden affair.

Those who knew New York would go for Wilson by a million majority.

Those who stated positively that a friend of theirs had it from good authority, namely, a stenographer who once worked for Frank P. Woods of Iowa, that Wilson wouldn't carry a northern state.

From this, you see, the membership will be limited and highly exclusive.

The association seems to be made up entirely of the men who worked in telephone exchanges, polling places, newspaper offices, etc., and served out the returns hot to the waiting and howling public.

The president of the association will, I hope, be one of the faithful persons who kept a telephone receiver in his ear for the better part of a week answering queries.

If as many votes had been cast as there were questions asked over the telephone, the chief statistician of the association reports, they would still be counting the ballots in New Hampshire alone.

Coming into a newspaper office early Thursday morning I saw a man who seemed to be a part of the telephone.

His ear and receiver had been together for three days and he had no other chance of getting them separated.

He was singing into the phone: "Wilson leading with 251 votes; Hughes 237."

Was singing into the telephone. him the news and asked it in a way which showed they believed they were the only question-askers on earth.

"How long have you been there?" asked a boy who came in.

"Since Tuesday."

And still speaking of the election, there was one man who bet another man that Wilson wouldn't carry a state north of the Mason and Dixon line.

Then along came Montana and gave its ballots to Wilson. There have been other states do the same thing since, but the Hughes supporters set up a long and piteous howl about as loud as a Montana wolf.

"Whatcha think? Call Montana north of the Mason and Dixon line? Say, where dya think the Mason and Dixon line runs? You must think I was betting on the tropic of Capricorn."

"Nuthin' of the sort," answered his Wilson friend. "I just betcha that Wilson would carry at least one state north of the Mason and Dixon line, an I gotta fight to get that bet. If Montana ain't north of the Mason and Dixon line I'll like to know where it is. I'll tell ya where it is. It's northwest, that's all."

FIREMEN ARE KEPT BUSY.

Answer Seven Alarms Yesterday Afternoon—Only One Serious. Firemen were kept busy yesterday afternoon answering calls. The most disastrous of the several fires occurred in the house of Mrs. Frank Bartlett, 213 Maple avenue, Takoma Park.

The fire occurred just across the line in Maryland, but firemen who responded to the alarm left this jurisdiction and did all they could to save the structure. The building and contents were badly damaged.

Trouble with a gas stove in the summer kitchen at the home of George W. Littleford, 1329 K street southeast, caused a fire that alarmed occupants of the premises and made it necessary to summon the fire department. Damage to the structure and contents amounted to $25.

Children playing with matches started a fire in a barrel of trash at the residence of James T. Hartnett, 30 New York avenue. No. 12 engine company extinguished the fire after about 10 damage had been done.

Firemen responded to four calls received because of brush fires. One was near 8th and Varnum streets, another was on Cottage hill. The third was on Mulligan's hill and the fourth was at 18th street and Kilbourne place. No damage resulted from them.
