"Still coming in?"

"If you mean Overcoats, yes," replied Mr. Goldheim, "and they are going out as fast as we get them in. The latest is the 'Pershing'—a double-breasted Overcoat, designed on military lines with belt all round. A good coat for street or auto wear, as it reaches just below the knees. Other smart models, too, selling at $20 to $55."

"What's what in Suits?"

"You've said it," he exclaimed. "Every Suit in this stock has its distinctive style and quality features—smart models for young men; conservative styles for men of affairs. All the newest fabrics and the most reasonable prices—$20 to $45."

"STEVE" BRADY DEAD.
First Baseman of Old Metropolitan Passes Away at Hartford.
HARTFORD, Conn., November 2.—Stephen A. Brady, for six years captain of the old champion Metropolitan base ball team of New York city, died here today, aged fifty-nine. Brady played with Hartford in the seventies when this city was a member of the National League. He led the Metropolitan in an interleague series with Providence, in 1885, and was the star of the series, although his nine was beaten. He played first or second base equally well.
Ross Young, the Giants' starting young player, is coaching a high school foot ball team in San Antonio, Tex., where he makes his home.

BASE BALL TAXES MAY NET $1,000,000 With 1917 Crowds Equaled Game Next Year Should Give Big Sum to U. S.

BY DENMAN THOMPSON.

Under the terms of the new revenue law, which goes into effect today, professional base ball next year will contribute upward of $1,000,000 to the United States Treasury, provided, of course, the attendance in 1918 nearly approximates that of the season recently ended. About half of this sum will be raised by the 10 per cent tax on admission fees and the additional $500,000 should accrue from income tax on players and owners.

It is estimated that some 6,000,000 spectators paid their way into the American and National League ball parks in the course of the championship season this year, and averaging the paid admissions at 50 cents each the total receipts for the season were $3,000,000 worth of tickets purchased. It is figured that with the same amount of business being done in 1918 Uncle Sam's treasury will receive $1,000,000 more than last year. The tax on the gross receipts from the world series game are also here near the same. The gross receipts from the world series game next autumn an additional $40,000 should be derived from this source. Then the minor leagues, which are able to operate next season and the semi-pro and college games, patrons of which will be assessed under the law, a sufficient amount of cash should be turned in at the box offices to bring the total up to the half million mark.

It is estimated that with some 300 players under contract last year the major league clubs paid out in salaries probably more than $1,000,000, and roughly calculated the real estate owned or controlled by the sixteen clubs in the first rank organization is worth $10,000,000, so that with the income tax and the tax on profits in operation an additional $500,000 should accrue to the base ball side from the cash contributed by the fans from the 10 per cent tax collected on admission tickets at the game.

Word comes from New York to the effect that Ray Caldwell, Fritz Malsel and Ray Fisher, the only remaining members of the old Yankee team, will not start another season at the Polo Grounds, being slated for disposal by Miller Huggins, the new manager of the American league's representative in the metropolis.

Huggins is reported to have arranged to meet Owner Ruppert at the annual meeting of the minor leagues in Louisville, November 12, to discuss plans he has in mind to strengthen the team for the next campaign, and these plans are said to include a deal for the three veterans which will bring new playing material to the Yankees. None of the trio measure up to the standard expected of them in the 1917 campaign, and although they are regarded as being near the top of the league's performers, they have reached the stage where a change of scenery is about the only thing that will assure their showing the form they are capable of.

Caldwell is regarded as one of the best pitchers in the game, but his eight-thousand-dollar salary he was drawing last season acted as a damper on his service, and rival managers also were inclined to be at taking a player who is so notorious hard to manage.

Two years ago Malsel was regarded as one of the coming stars of the game. That was when he was playing third base for the Yankees in the American league. He was a fast runner and his much-vaunted speed this year took its toll when his hitting fell off to 131.

Huggins may not get a chance to figure on Fisher in a trade, as the pitcher announced at the time he signed his last three-year contract that he intended to retire when it expired and open an office in Vermont for the practice of law, which he has been studying for the last few years.

Huggins is said to be anxious to obtain an outfielder and backstop for the trading material he has.

The report published a week ago to the effect that President John K. Tener of the National League could continue in the position for an indefinite period if he so desired has been confirmed by the announcement of President Baker of the Phillies that a committee consisting of himself and Presidents Hempstead and Ebbets of the New York and Brooklyn clubs was authorized by the board of directors of the league at its recent meeting to ask Tener to accept re-election, that it did so and that Tener accepted. Baker says there was not a dissenting voice among the club's owners to the plan for having Tener continue at the helm, and he believes that Tener proved himself to be the right man for the office at a critical period of the league's existence. The same invitation was extended John Heydler to continue as secretary-treasurer, and his election, with that of Tener, will merely be a matter of form at the annual meeting of the league next month.

LARD WINS HARD MATCH Defeats Osborne on Last Green in President's Cup Golf Tournament.

Conceding his opponent, C. F. Osborne, six strokes, Allan Lard, the veteran player of the Chevy Chase Club, just managed to win on the last green yesterday in the second round of the annual handicap tournament for the president's cup, open only to Chevy Chase Club players. Lard was never in a safe position during the course of the match, but halved the last hole to win. E. M. Weaver defeated Alexander Britton, who went twenty holes to beat John H. Clapp the day before. The summary: W. C. Peter defeated J. Hamilton, 4 and 3; I. T. Mann defeated C. L. Fralley, 3 and 2; W. B. Mason defeated W. F. Ham, 7 and 5; Davis Elkins defeated Robert Stead, 6 and 5; John S. Larcombe, Jr. defeated G. Browne Miller, 2 and 1; E. J. W. Weaver defeated Alexander Britton, 3 and 2; G. C. Minnerode defeated J. M. Sterrett, 3 and 7; and Allan Lard defeated C. F. Osborne, 1 up.

BOWIE MEETING POSTPONED.

UPPER MARLBOROUGH, Md., November 2.—The race meeting of the Southern Maryland Fair Association at Bowie will not begin November 14, as scheduled. Judges Brasco, Hill and Camalleri have overruled a motion filed by attorneys for the association to amend the racing position so as to comply with provisions of the statute. The petition originally filed contained twenty-five names, but one was not a legal voter of Bowie. The case has been set for November 19.

SHERMAN PLAYS WELL.

Frank Sherman defeated Ralph Greenleaf of Monmouth, Ill., at pocket billiards last night, 125 to 92. The veteran was in great form and played his well known position strategy almost without a flaw.
Mr. Greenleaf will play Charles Bartles tonight and Mr. Sherman again tomorrow night.

MARYLAND AND CAROLINA PLAY ONLY LOCAL GAME TOMORROW Representative Colleges of Two States Meet in What Should Be Close Gridiron Struggle—Other Contests.

BY H. C. BYRD.

Maryland State and North Carolina State College, the latter formerly the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College, play the only foot ball game scheduled here tomorrow. The contest takes place in the Central High stadium at 2 o'clock. Crowell Swannore, referee; Morris of Clarkson Tech. umpire, and Wheatley of Washington College, head linesman, have been appointed by the central board to act as officials.

Yesterday the bugaboo of injuries got after the Maryland squad again and "Buddy" Mornhinweg was put out of the game for quite awhile by getting a twisted knee in tackling practice. Mornhinweg was carrying the ball and was hit so hard by Stubbs that his knee was thrown out of joint. A case of water on the knee soon developed. There is no possible chance of Mornhinweg getting into the game tomorrow. Snyder, right halfback, was out for practice yesterday for the first time since the contest with Wake Forest, a kick on the shin having kept him off the field.

It is not probable that Snyder will start the backfield. The Macdonald former Central High captain and half-back, is completely over the effects of a bruised hip and has been shifted from fullback to right half. He will start in that position, in all probability. If Snyder's leg comes around all right he will play part of the contest. The other part of the backfield will be made up of Arthur, at full; Fletcher, at left half; and Strout, at quarterback. The line will start just as it did against Wake Forest, with the exception that Mornhinweg will be replaced by the same by Westcott. Rich and Aitchison will be in the end positions, Sullivan and Stubbs at tackle and Stevens at guards, and Coster center.

Considering conditions, the game will be a close one. The visiting team, according to reports of those that have seen it in action, will be considerably better, but otherwise does not have much of a margin on the Marylanders. Indications are that the game will develop into a hard-fought struggle, with the break the decisive factor.

Three games have been won by the North Carolinians and one lost. Last week Washington and Lee defeated them by a margin of three touchdowns. The Marylanders were particularly strong this season, but the trip to Lexington works much against them. North Carolina has two exceptionally clever players, Gurley and Homewood. The former is playing quarterback and is said to be the cleverest broken-field runner in the section; the latter is a tackle who does a lot of rucking with the ball. Gurley was a star at Washington and Jefferson College, with the break the decisive factor.

Gallaudet leaves here tomorrow morning for Newark, Del., where it is to meet Delaware College. The Kendall Greens are in better shape than any of their previous games and hope to get their first real victory of the year. Moore realizes that Delaware were hard to beat on its home grounds, but figures his team has an even chance.

Business High and Eastern meet this afternoon in the Central stadium in front of Delaware College. The game will be a close one. The Stenographers have been working hard since their being away from the school, and feeling any too confident of the result of the affair with Eastern. The light Capitol Hill team has put up a plucky fight against Central during the first half and showed enough to warrant a prediction that it will give one or two of the other eleven a fight of its lives to win.

Two games of great importance are booked tomorrow in the middle west. At Chicago the University of Chicago is to meet Illinois University, and at Madison the University of Minnesota wholesale against Wisconsin and Wisconsin. Both these contests have direct bearing on the western conference. After the game between the two are between great natural rivals. The two factors bearing on each game work to make the contests among the best of the year.

Notre Dame comes east to meet the Army. While everybody has been cracking the Army up to win rather easily it would not be a surprise if the Western Reserve University is not likely to prove much of a match for the Naval Academy. The Midshipmen have been at too fast a pace to be stopped by that eleven.

Penn State goes to Hanover to beard Dartmouth in the latter's home lot. It will be a question of how many it is almost needless to say, will be lucky to get out of the game with a defeat. The Naval Academy and Rutgers, the Pennsylvania have a fast, hard-playing combination, but unquestionably the lightest that has represented them in many years.

Two other games are scheduled in eastern towns which should develop a lot of good foot ball. Brown and Syracuse are to meet at Providence and Rutgers and West Virginia University at Newark. Rutgers and West Virginia both have powerful eleven, as their records easily show, and against each other ought to develop about as good foot ball as anybody would care to see. West Virginia claims a victory over the Navy among its season's accomplishments and Rutgers last Saturday overwhelmed Fordham. These are among the foremost foot ball teams of the year.

Ohio State is to meet Indiana University at Indianapolis. The game simply ought to be a question of how many points Chick Harley and his Ohio associates will score.

Carlie Indians are due to meet Bucknell. The former are of questionable strength, but the latter are powerful enough to whip the Lewisburg aggregation, and it is doubtful if they will.

Cornell plays Carnegie Tech. The latter is hopeful of winning as the Ithaca team has below average averages. Cornell is weaker than in many years. The Ithacans, so far, have not played real foot ball.

Lafayette ought not to offer a great deal of opposition to Pennsylvania University. The Quakers are developing rapidly and ought to win from the Eastern eleven about as they please—that is, unless the Pittsburgh game last week took too much out of them.

University of Pittsburgh's game with Westminster is nothing but a practice affair. Warner's men can win as they please and then some. Of course, if his goes Saturday afternoon, with some kind of paralysis just after the beginning of the game Westminster might get the long end of the score.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute and West Virginia are the main teams playing in Virginia. The former meets Wake Forest and the latter goes against Roanoke. The first mentioned contest takes place at Blacksburg, home of V. P. I., and the latter at Roanoke, home of Roanoke College.

CONTINENTAL QUINT GETS THREE GAMES Charley Wright's Bowlers Make Sweep Over Belmonts in District League.

Charley Wright's Continental quint took three straight games from the Belmonts in the District Duckpin League last night. The Continentals rolled in much better form than their opponents, getting the victories by comfortable margins. Clear and Hughes starred for the Continentals, and Ruppert did the best work for the Belmonts. Hughes' score was the highest, his mark being 102, 106 and 121. Ruppert was only one pin short of Hughes' total, though, rolling 100, 122 and 106.
