

A Friendly Smoke

FLAVOR and aroma to suit the man who likes a man's cigar, but with the mellowness and mildness that result from the imported Sumatra wrapper, long curing of the leaf, and art in selection and manufacturing.

R. B. treats you well whether you smoke one or ten a day. Buy three of them—the tissue wrappers keep them fresh and unbroken—test the truth of R. B.'s friendliness.

Have a complexion that everyone admires

Don't envy a good complexion, have one. Each time you cleanse your face with Resinol Soap you give it a "beauty treatment" with the soothing, healing Resinol medication. If aided, in severe cases, by a little Resinol Ointment, this usually leaves the complexion naturally clear, fresh and free from pimples, redness, roughness and blotches.

Resinol Soap

and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. Try them and see how beneficial they are, not only for the skin but for the hair as well.

AMUSEMENTS

KEITH'S. At Keith's Theater last night a program of rare merit was presented. The immense audience was so generous in its applause that it was difficult to particularize as to favorites. As the opener Jimmie Dunedin proved himself the master of the bicycle. He rode a high four-deck air fair around the stage on one wheel. Myrtle Dunedin had to climb a step-ladder to get on his shoulders. Harry Masters and Jack Craft brought down the house when they closed a song and dance act with a portrayal of the denatured maseculine of thirty years hence. As an encore they transferred a modern dance 2,000 years back to the days of the Egyptians.

Robert Hyman and Virginia Mann gave a farce comedy entitled "5,000 a Year," a bright, sparkling playlet that brought much deserved applause. The husband framed up a plan to get his employer to visit his home, when he would use his poverty-stricken condition as an argument for a raise in salary. The husband's scheme went awry and he would have been fired if his wife had not saved the day with a scheme of her own that won back the boss' favor and brought a raise to $5,000 a year.

Lew Dockstader, of minstrel fame, one of the headliners, lived up to his reputation in a wonderful monologue that dealt with John Barleycorn's demise, the high cost of living, the modern dances, present-day girls and courtship, the Senate, President Wilson and his trip to Europe.

Sharing headline honors with Dockstader are Florrie Millership and Alfred Gerrard in a lively musical comedy revue. Craig Campbell, the tenor, gave the audience a genuine treat in several selections. J. Francis Dooey and Corinne Sales gave their sketch, "Will Yer, Jim?" with variations and modifications. Both are fine laugh producers.

GAYETY.

Joe Hurtig presents one of his best shows at the Gayety this week under the title of "The Burlesque Wonder Show," featuring George Murphy and Primrose Seamon, not to mention a chorus that is attractive and knows what to do while on the stage. The main object of the small thread of plot is to make the audience laugh, and in this the comedians were certainly successful as any one who has seen and heard George Murphy, the original "hot dog" singer, can readily believe. Murphy is surrounded by a good cast of principals, among them being Arthur Conroy, Joe Mitchell, Frank Martin, Primrose Seamon, Bertha Delmonte and Edna Green. Miss Seamon holds the center of the stage most of the time that Murphy doesn't, and her songs and dances were followed by so many encores that she had to desist from exhaustion. Bertha Delmonte has a few songs, but her main object seemed to be to wear as many handsome gowns as she could in the two hours and a half of entertainment. Edna Green sings a number of up-to-date songs in her usual entertaining way, and Frank Martin also made a hit with his songs, both solo and in duets with Miss Seamon.

COSMOS.

A bill of unusual quality and excellence is entertaining the patrons of the Cosmos Theater this week. Yesterday, from the earliest matinee until closing time, great crowds surged into the theater, standing room being at a premium at all performances, with many unable to get in at all. Perhaps the act that might be termed "the most unusual" is that of Jean Boydell, a singing comedienne of the eccentric type, whose agility and laughable antics, as well as a pretty face, won her an ovation at all performances. The Broadway Trio, three men from the Wald Roof, New York, with splendid voices, also score in a novel as well as a beautiful song number, and Dave Harris, once featured with Morey, Harris and Morey, with his fine tenor voice and the craftsmanship of his act, duplicated the ovation won by Miss Boydell. A charming little playlet, gracefully and artistically staged, "Harold and Helen Stewart," also won big recognition for its novelty, and an especially artistic dance number of Miss Stewart, as well as for its unique staging.

"The Corn Cob Cutups" romped away with the broad-comedy laughter and brought a fine show to a laughable climax with an applauding audience. The Four Jansses gave the thrill to the bill with their remarkable "perch, risley and teterboard" acrobatic offering from the New York Hippodrome, one of the finest athletic numbers of the year. At the matinee, however, the Jansses' paraphernalia failed to arrive on time, a fine act from Keith's, Master and Craft, contributed a novel number that might be termed "The Evolution of the Song and Dance," winning a big share of the enthusiasm of the performance. Catherine Cavert is the picture star in "The Career of Katherine Bush," the matinee added attraction, and the laughable Sennett comedy, "The Dentist," and the Pathe News were shown at all performances.

CRANDALL'S—"The Woman Michael Married."

Salome asked for the head of John the Baptist as a reward for pleasing King Herod with the dance of the seven veils. Mira Sacky, the beautiful mermaid in "The Woman Michael Married," who had saved the life of the boy-pal of a rich young society bachelor, exacted from the grateful man that he marry her—a professional diver and swimmer—just marry her and give her his name and part of his money. That was all. Such is the basis of the plot of Bessie Harris' most recently released, "The Woman Michael Married," which was shown as the feature of the bill at Crandall's Theater Sunday and continues through today. The dubious romance so daringly and originally begun, led to a series of bewildering situations.

AMERICANS CREATE LITHUANIAN BRIGADE

Discharged Officers and Men Will Serve Under Foreign Flag. Home Insurance Proposed.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Monday, September 1.—An American brigade for service in the Lithuanian army has been formed, the work being a complete success, according to an announcement made by the military mission of the Lithuanian delegation to the peace conference. Enough demobilized American officers to form the staff have applied for commissions and many discharged enlisted men have entered the ranks, it is said.

The Lithuanian government is said to be planning to protect the enlisted men, and is reported to be negotiating with a prominent American insurance company to insure the men along the lines followed by the American Army's war insurance bureau. The company's Paris office has cabled headquarters for authority to issue such policies. The American Red Cross has also cabled officials in America for permission to form a medical and welfare unit to serve with the brigade. A signal will pass over the Atlantic cable, 2,760 miles, in three-tenths of a second.

ACTORS' UNION OPENING NEW YORK PLAYHOUSES

New Movement Said to Contemplate Production of Plays on Large Scale.

NEW YORK, September 2.—New York theatrical producers, who for years have made Labor day the occasion for the opening of numerous new productions, have been forced to sit back and see all the "opening" done by the Actors' Equity Association, with the aid of the stagehands, electricians and musicians' unions, has closed nearly all the Broadway houses. The Equity, which recently became a full-fledged labor organization by affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, celebrated Labor day by opening three new productions, bringing the number of "co-operative" shows up to four. An "Equity Review" was opened at the Second Avenue Theater. Several stars of first magnitude appeared in this production, while fifty of the choicest of all the striking choristers cavorted in the chorus. The vaudeville bill which has been running at the Lexington Opera House was shifted to the Brooklyn Academy of Music, and a new bill staged at the Lexington. A "variety" bill was opened at the Thmaschky Theater on the East Side. The Equity also announced that it had leased the Lenox Theater and would open another performance there next Monday. While the question is still unsettled as to whether the managers contemplated recognizing the Equity in a new contract, which would permit an actor to be represented in arbitration by "an association," a rumor has been circulating about Equity headquarters that that organization might at an early date "refuse to recognize the managers." This, it was explained, meant that the Equity was preparing to go into the production business on a large scale. "It was stated that backing already had been offered "by a millionaire."

PROGRAM FOR PATIENTS. Mrs. Priscilla Wilkinson Streeter, organizer of The Star Spangled Banner Chorus, has arranged for a musical program for the Walter Reed men Wednesday night at Thomson School from 7 to 8 o'clock, following the dinner to be given by the Big Sisters. Miss Susie Gary Campbell of Galveston, Tex., will sing several solos; Miss Victoria Wallace Gathman of Baltimore will play several piano solos; Mrs. Paul Anthony Anderson will contribute to the evening's program. Miss Campbell and Miss Gathman are the guests of Mrs. Anderson at 1735 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

LAWYERS BEGIN ANNUAL CONVENTION IN BOSTON. Delegates Number 900, Representing Many Sections, Including Hawaii and Porto Rico. BOSTON, September 2.—Lawyers from many sections of the country and from Hawaii and Porto Rico met here today for the forty-second annual convention of the American Bar Association, which opens tomorrow. Arrangements were made for the reception of more than 900 delegates. Today was devoted to meetings of subsidiary and allied organizations, including the National Association of Attorneys General and the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology. The bar association delegates also had conferences arranged for today. Discussions of after-the-war problems pertaining to law were expected to predominate in the preliminary and convention sessions. In the general convention about twenty-five open and sectional meetings will be held tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, with addresses by some of the foremost lawyers in the country. Viscount Finlay, former lord chancellor of Great Britain, will extend the greetings of the bench and bar of England at the opening of the general session. Owing to illness, Attorney General Palmer will be unable to address the convention tomorrow, as he had expected.
