

Lady Limerick's garden party for crippled English soldiers. The home where the party took place, in Bexley, dates back to 615 A.D. The photograph shows Lady Limerick and Prince Albert, one of the visitors.

By Central News Photo Service.

James Harris Rogers, Maryland, inventor of the underground and underwater system of radio communication, used successfully during the war, who may be the first civilian to receive the formal thanks of Congress and a special congressional medal of honor for services rendered the government.

By Eastern Pictorial News Service.

Madge Kennedy, a popular movie star, in "Through the Wrong Door."

To Miriam Cooper has fallen the task of interpreting the character of Evangeline in the William Fox production of Longfellow's love epic, one of the newest photoplay productions.

Olive Thomas, late of the "Follies," now a screen favorite, in a striking pose.

Photo by Maudie Goldberg.

"The Beauty and the Beast," with Peggy Hyland, a "lead" with the Fox productions, as the Beauty and a lion cub as the Beast. Scene from the "Merry-go-Round."

A feature of the recent Grotto outing at Chesapeake Beach. To say the least, the costumes were original, and some of them screamingly funny.

Photo by E. Johnson, Staff Photographer.