

THE EVENING STAR,
With Sunday Morning Edition.
SATURDAY, January 10, 1920
THEODORE W. NOYES, Editor

The Evening Star Newspaper Company
Business Office: 11th St. and Pennsylvania Ave.
New York Office: Tribune Building
Chicago Office: First National Bank Building
European Office: 3 Regent St., London, England.

The Evening Star with the Sunday morning edition, is delivered by carriers within the city at 40 cents per month, daily only, 45 cents per month; Sunday only, 20 cents per month. Orders may be sent by mail or telephone Main 5000. Collection is made by carriers at the end of each month.

Subscription Rate by Mail.
PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.
Daily and Sunday, 1 yr., $8.40; 1 mo., 70c.
Daily only, 1 yr., $6.00; 1 mo., 50c.
Sunday only, 1 yr., $2.40; 1 mo., 20c.

Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Washington, D. C.

largely through Mr. Bryan's favor. His claims to consideration at Baltimore in 1912 were conspicuous. He was then serving as Governor of New Jersey, had an organization that extended far beyond the confines of that state, and, as all knew, had the White House in mind. Still, without Mr. Bryan's aid, rendered at a so-called psychological moment, he could not have been nominated. It was Mr. Bryan who delivered the finishing blow to the Clark candidacy—at the moment in majority control of the convention—and made Mr. Wilson the nominee. And in the campaign that followed Mr. Bryan was the star stamper on the democratic side.

And yet, for reasons not then fully given, and not even now fully known, the two men parted company in the middle of Mr. Wilson's first term, though continuing to hold friendly personal relations, and here is Mr. Bryan taking such sharp issue with Mr. Wilson as practically to challenge the latter's further leadership of their party.

It is in Mr. Bryan's power to pull Mr. Wilson down, as it was in Mr. Roosevelt's power to pull Mr. Taft down. But if he exercises it will he not meet with the Roosevelt fate—go down with the object of his attack? How could he possibly escape? It is a very pretty fight as it stands.

Progress Toward Teachers' Relief.
Practical co-operation between the board of education and the citizens' school betterment committee appears to be in effective development. A definite step toward accomplishing the most urgent of the four points remaining of the original program has been taken. Subcommittees of the board and of the citizens' committee are at work, after a consultation with the Commissioners, on the preparation of a special bill which, after agreement upon details and principles, will be laid before the Commissioners, and it is expected will be submitted by them to Congress, with recommendation for early action.

With this bill before the committee of Congress it will be assured to the District's legislators that all Washington is united in the request on adequate compensation for the teachers and that this proposed change of pay has nothing to do with plans of school reorganization. The unanimous assurance will also be given that in the judgment of the residents of the capital it is urgently necessary to act promptly in order to prevent a disastrous depletion of the school personnel. No question can be raised as to the teachers' needs. A brief was filed with the board of education the other day by the men high school teachers, who pointed out that they are not getting enough money to enable them to live; that they are in debt for the necessities of life; running behind steadily. No one can accuse them of extravagance or recklessness of expenditure. Yet they are the highest paid members of the teaching force.

It cannot be doubted that Congress will be quick to realize the urgency of this appeal and the justice of the demand for a more adequate compensation for those who are training more than 60,000 children in this District. With full agreement upon scale, with earnest determination on the part of the whole citizenship of the District to obtain a fair hearing for the teachers' claims, with perfect unanimity among all engaged in this present campaign, the case will be presented to Congress in the best possible form without involving the possibility of diverting and trouble-causing proposals for fundamental changes concerning which there is now a wide difference of opinion.

SHOOTING STARS.
BY PHILANDER JOHNSON.

A Purpose Unattained.
"I can remember most every word of your speech," said the admiring friend.

"I was afraid something like that might happen," replied Senator Sorghum. "It is most undesirable to have people quoting you unexpectedly. I tried to make that speech sufficiently long and uninteresting to prevent anybody from remembering any part of it."

Jud Tunkins thinks the restrictions on denatured alcohol give the bootleggers a little the best of the automobile game in cold weather.

Dividing Line.
It's hard, as men their efforts bend To join the crowd that wins, To tell where statesmanship must end And politics begins.

Needless Labor.
"John," said the nervous woman, "I think there is a burglar in the house."
"Nonsense! Why should a predatory person take the trouble to break into a dwelling when he can walk around a few blocks and gather up gallons of free milk?"

The Proviso.
"Don't you believe it is right for a man to say exactly what he thinks?"
"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "provided he really thinks."

Somnolence.
"The railway trains will not demand More than a modest fare. The street cars, too, throughout the land Will never, never dare A more expensive pace to hit. They will reverse their ways, And make a nickel do its bit As in the good old days. The value of two bits will grow Till it's enough to buy A lunch like that of long ago Including even pie—"

The clock sent up its brisk alarms As day began to gleam, And Mr. Public stretched his arms And wakened from his dream.

And yet, for reasons not then fully given, and not even now fully known, the two men parted company in the middle of the Taft term, and in 1912 Mr. Roosevelt headed a movement for Mr. Taft's overthrow. It succeeded, and so thoroughly that Mr. Roosevelt was himself overthrown. He went down in the wreck, and never completely emerged. He died just as things seemed to be coming his way again.

Mr. Wilson is in the White House

those seeking the highest official responsibility. The voters are naturally and properly curious about all questions that bear upon the public welfare in this period of uncertainty and deep anxiety.

Later, will come the national platform; and let us hope that the men who fashion them and secure their adoption may deal altogether frankly with the voters, making no promises not intended to be kept, and expressing none in vague or tricky terms.

A dark horse this year would not meet the requirements. Neither party should make such a nomination. The country will need for President for the four years beginning March 4, 1921, a man of experience in large affairs, and whose performances in other places will be a guaranty as to his performances in the White House. He will be tested to the limit, physically and intellectually. He should not be a man who, however excellent and attractive on personal grounds, would, as a high official, have to learn his trade. The country's business now calls for a surer touch than that of the 'prentice hand.

And as for the platform, the one endorsed at the polls should be workable in every provision. The old cynicism, that "a platform is something to get in on," would be ghastly if applicable this time. The party that gets in must have something to stand on while its commission runs; and the sunder the footing, the surer the stand, and the better the work done on firm support.

Between now and convention time all presidential aspirants and issues should be canvassed thoroughly.

Even when the election in November has settled the contest the excitement will not be over. There will be the inauguration committees to announce.

A slight element of discord did not prevent the democratic party from coming away from the Jackson dinner with a splendid set of testimonials.

The toastmaster still survives as a relic of obsolete forms of conviviality.

Harmony is always a problematical matter until the question of who is to be bandmaster has been definitely settled.

Predictions that the railroads are about to organize themselves into the greatest monopoly in history are calculated to start some feverish guessing in Wall street.

The fact that Jackson was a man of simple appetite has not prevented an enormous quantity of food from being consumed in his honor.

Recent public discussions sounded almost like the beginning of a Wilson-Bryan discussion.

Congress may be depended on for an abundance of suggestions as to work the Department of Justice might take up when it gets through rounding up the reds.

Occasionally there is a large dinner party that does not depend in the slightest for conversation on the high cost of living or the servant problem.

A soviet demonstration is apparently conducted with the understanding that the man with the loudest voice wins.

SHOOTING STARS.
BY PHILANDER JOHNSON.

A Purpose Unattained.
"I can remember most every word of your speech," said the admiring friend.

"I was afraid something like that might happen," replied Senator Sorghum. "It is most undesirable to have people quoting you unexpectedly. I tried to make that speech sufficiently long and uninteresting to prevent anybody from remembering any part of it."

Jud Tunkins thinks the restrictions on denatured alcohol give the bootleggers a little the best of the automobile game in cold weather.

Dividing Line.
It's hard, as men their efforts bend To join the crowd that wins, To tell where statesmanship must end And politics begins.

Needless Labor.
"John," said the nervous woman, "I think there is a burglar in the house."
"Nonsense! Why should a predatory person take the trouble to break into a dwelling when he can walk around a few blocks and gather up gallons of free milk?"

The Proviso.
"Don't you believe it is right for a man to say exactly what he thinks?"
"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "provided he really thinks."

Somnolence.
"The railway trains will not demand More than a modest fare. The street cars, too, throughout the land Will never, never dare A more expensive pace to hit. They will reverse their ways, And make a nickel do its bit As in the good old days. The value of two bits will grow Till it's enough to buy A lunch like that of long ago Including even pie—"

The clock sent up its brisk alarms As day began to gleam, And Mr. Public stretched his arms And wakened from his dream.

And yet, for reasons not then fully given, and not even now fully known, the two men parted company in the middle of the Taft term, and in 1912 Mr. Roosevelt headed a movement for Mr. Taft's overthrow. It succeeded, and so thoroughly that Mr. Roosevelt was himself overthrown. He went down in the wreck, and never completely emerged. He died just as things seemed to be coming his way again.

Mr. Wilson is in the White House

Lamp Shade Making Taught Free

We are continuing daily our classes in Lamp Shade Making, beginning each morning at 10 o'clock. The instructions are complete and entirely free, if materials are bought of us. New Braids, Gallons, Fringes, Tassels and other decorations. Upholstery Section, Fifth floor.

Woodward & Lothrop

Open 9:15 A.M. New York—WASHINGTON—Paris Close 6 P.M.

New Arrivals of American Lingerie, Negliges and Silk Petticoats That Will Lend New Interest to the January Display and Sale

Guaranteeing high qualities, newest styles, largest varieties and lowest prices, due to our far-sighted preparations, this new arrival of intimate garments for women should create an interest second only to our first day's announcement.

There are fashions that have not been displayed before, and the prices are low for garments so well made and of such excellent materials.

Novelty Georgette Envelope Chemise, camisole styles, daintily finished with fine tucking and shirring and combined with exquisite Valenciennes lace. One very attractive style of flesh colored georgette has camisole top with shirring of blue, slashed at bottom and embellished in dainty laces, edges and insertions.

$10.50 to $25.00

Envelope Chemise, in camisole and corset cover styles, of flesh and white crepe de chine and washable satin are tailored or trimmed with dainty lace and georgette, in new and entirely original effects that are typically feminine and summery in their beauty.

$4.50 to $10.50

Lingerie Section, Third floor.

Silk and Georgette Lingerie Entirely New in Design

Gowns, of flesh and white crepe de chine and wash satin, with round, square and v-necks, either short sleeves or sleeveless. Very elaborate fashions are shown in Valenciennes lace trimmings and lace combined with georgette crepe, and for those who prefer the simpler effects they may select either lace trimmed, hemstitched or perfectly plain tailored. In loose and empire models.

$5.95 to $24.00

French and Philippine Lingerie That Is Always Interesting to Every Woman

Gowns, of very fine nainsook, in all the prevailing low neck designs; either short sleeves or sleeveless; finished with dainty scalloped edge or showing the finest hand embroidery work in numerous spray and floral effects; many new and attractive patterns.

$3.95 to $21.00

Chemise, of fine nainsook, corset cover or camisole top, with fine hand embroidery designs.

$3.75 to $9.00

Open Drawers, with plain hand scalloped or beautiful spray and floral embroidery.

$2.00 to $8.00

Straight Chemise, corset cover style, plain scalloped or daintily hand embroidered.

$2.75 to $6.50

Charming Coiffures

Are demanded at this season of brilliant and notable events. Washington women will feel happy and contented in any gathering after a proper dressing of the hair in the Woodward & Lothrop Personal Service Section. Skilled operators for Permanent and Marcel Waving and for all Personal Service Section, Second floor.

Novelty Georgette Combinations, consisting of bloomers, short skirt and camisole; fashioned with the camisole top, which is extremely modish and made in empire effect, daintily trimmed with fine Valenciennes lace and colored handwork. $14.00.

Other Bloomer Combinations, of plain and brocaded wash satin, at $6.00 and $6.75.

Crepe de Chine and Wash Satin Camisoles, plain tailored and fanciful effects; camisole or corset cover models.

85c to $6.50

Wash Satin and Crepe de Chine Bloomers, flesh and white, without trimming, simply trimmed and rather elaborate styles.

$4.00 to $6.50

Lingerie Section, Third floor.

Evening Silk Petticoats

Of crepe de chine and washable satin, with deep flounces of all-over silk lace or Valenciennes lace combined with georgette and others of simpler trimming and plain hemstitched. White and dainty flesh and light pink shades.

$7.50 to $20.00

Japanese Silk Petticoats, in pink and blue, scalloped and embroidered; in self or contrasting shades; reinforced back and front.

$13.50 to $15.00

Heavy Wash Satin Petticoats, in evening shades with plaited ruffled bottom.

$9.75 Each

Petticoat Section, Third floor.

Negligees and Kimonos

The very newest and most modish shades and styles in Negligees of Satin and Crepe de Chine, showing the long, slender lines, the Empire effects and the Coatee and Jacket models. If your tastes run toward elaboration and beauty, expressed with profuse trimming, you may satisfy them, or if you prefer the simpler modes there is also pleasing choice.

$10.50 to $38.00

Japanese Silk Kimonos, made regular Japanese style, with loose-flowing sleeves and wide girdle, in the shades of pink, blue, rose, navy, lavender, violet and black. Very beautifully embroidered in floral sprays entirely covering the garment, or in front or back designs.

$15.00 to $60.00

House Dresses

New spring designs and styles in House Dresses of the pleasing colorings and patterns one likes for housewear. There are Gingham and plain chambray and every imaginable shade may be had in plaids, stripes, checks and solid colors. White organdy collars and vests with sashes or collars of white or same material in roll and sailor style; three-quarter and long sleeves and the adjustable belts that permit you to wear them loose or gathered tight as you choose.

$3.75 to $7.50.

Percale House Dresses in striped, checked and figured effects; long and three-quarter sleeves with roll and sailor collars of white or self materials; ve neck and fasten in front. These are in the shades of old blue, green, pink, light blue, rose and lavender.

$3.50 to $5.00

House Dresses, Third floor.

Signs of Spring Are Seen in New Displays Growing Larger and More Interesting

Fashion notes and magazines have been telling you about the new fashions for several months. Now it will be your privilege to get a glimpse of them through these advance displays which we are arranging as fast as the merchandise is received. We invite your inspection.

In New Spring Suits Navy Blue Is the Color and Tricotine the Fabric

Tailored Suits, yet novelty is a notable characteristic. Interesting variations show—Short Jackets with flared hips. Novelty belted styles. New Eton Braided Jackets. New Braided Ripple-back Coats. Long shawl collars extended all the way or three-quarter the length of the jacket. New One-piece Back Box Coats. Some of the coats have narrow turn-back cuffs on sleeves; either plain or fancy linings. Skirts remain narrow and short.

Prices Range From $40.00 to $125.00

Women's Apparel Section, Third floor.

Ginghams and Swisses

Stripes, checks and plaids usually seen in ginghams. They are very popular. David and John Anderson's Famous Scotch Ginghams that are recognized as the peer of all Gingham weaves, in absolutely fast colors and very originally blended tones. Imported Colored St. Gall Swisses, in navy, cadet, black and pink, with white dots.

New Cotton Waists

For women going south or those remaining at home, these fashions are appropriate: Sheer Batistes, in new light tones; also in white, combining the colors and featuring the flat and Dutch collars as the most outstanding style features, $3.75. Also two new styles in white and navy Crepe de Chine, of white and navy, featuring strictly high and convertible collars, at $11.75.

Waist Section, Third floor.

The First Display of Spring Creations in Coats and Hats for Little Children

Is Now Being Made in the Infants' Section.

If the tiny person's age is between 2 and 6, mothers will be interested in this early display of hats and coats as they have been in past years, when the Infants' Section has been the first to display the new creations. These are not merely adaptations of fashions of the season, but are special creations, designed for childhood.

So Many Modes in Hats and Bonnets

But of first consideration are the cunning little poke and larger bonnet shapes, indescribably lovely in their combinations of soft straw braids and chiffons and georgettes. Crowns are deftly gathered, pleated and tucked, with ribbon beading the whole. And the most darling little affairs of cream net over silk, imparting a two-color effect, with net ruffles and pleatings at the brim to give the soft lines. Natural Leghorn Sailors, with fancy black straw facing. Natural Panama Sailors. Small Milan Mushroom Hats. Brown, Navy, White and Black Polished Straw Sailors, plain or with wreaths of field flowers. Tam-o'-Shanters and Fancy Crush Braids, with feather trimmings.

But every hat and bonnet must have ribbon streamers or ribbon bands and trimmings, the streamers being longer than usual. For Little Boys there are smart Navy and White Milans.

A Limited Showing of Coats

But enough to show you how pretty the tailored models are. Naval Coats, with big sailor collars and wide white braiding. Three and Four-button, Double-breasted Coats, in covers and fancy woolsens. Empire models, in Shepherd-checks and plaids. Smart Little Tan Polo Coats.

Infants' Section, Fourth floor.

The First Spring Frocks Of Charmeuse Satin, Taffeta and Georgette Crepe

Express the long-waisted effect and have short sleeves and low necks and are prettily trimmed with narrow satin ribbons and velvets, and some are embroidered. Georgette and Taffeta combinations are also well liked. Browns and Blue are again the leading shades. Special attention is also invited to the New Poiret Twills and Tricotines in Eton effects, with accordion-plaited skirts and wool-embroidered sashes.

Women's Apparel Section, Third floor.

Pretty New Voiles

The spring voiles are surprisingly beautiful; printed in the lovely designs we have grown to associate with Georgette, Chiffon and Silks. The combining of numerous colors has been done with a strikingly beautiful effect.

Silk-ribbon Striped Voiles, in taupe, navy, copen and black, with small pin dots in contrast. Chiffon Voiles, in lovely dark colors. New American Printed Voiles. Voile Avignons.

Dress Goods Section, Second floor.

New Spring Oxfords

And Colonial Strap Pumps for Women are already being shown in much larger variety than ever before at this season of the year. The fine workmanship and careful attention to modeling argues well for better fitting arches, in-steps and heels than you have previously experienced. Dark Brown and Gun Metal Calfskin, Full Wing-tip and Quarter Oxfords, with the smart saw edge and military heels, $14. Wing-tip English Walking Oxfords, in nut brown shade, square-throat vamp and comports heel; the first time shown, $14. Dark Brown and Nut Brown Imitation Straight-tip Oxfords, with leather Cuban heels; same model also in gun metal, $13 and $14. Dark Brown Semi-dress Vici Kidskin Oxfords, Cuban heels, $11. Gun Metal Calfskin Imitation Wing-tip Oxfords, Cuban heel, $10. Brown Kidskin Dress Oxfords, with rich brown satin quarter, square edge, hand-turned sole and Louis heel, $14. Patent Calfskin Strap Colonial Pumps, with white pearl-button trimming, plain toe and French Louis heel, $14. Shoe Section, Third floor.