OLDEST POLIU DIES.

Man Who Served in War at Age of Seventy-Seven Succumbs.

PARIS, April 25.—Charles Surague, "the oldest poliu of France" veteran of both the Franco-Prussian and the world war, died here today, aged eighty-two years.

Surague, who served as a volunteer throughout the war of 1870-71, volunteered again in 1915, at the age of seventy-seven, and was assigned to duty as a sapper. He joined the army at Souchez, and was in constant service thereafter.

He was cited in orders three times, was made a second lieutenant after the Verdun campaign, was awarded the Legion of Honor in 1917, and was made an officer of the legion in 1919.

MR. FESS' MOTHER DIES.

Congressman Notified of Passing Away After Address.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 25.—On his return to his hotel, following an address last night, Representative Fess was notified of the death of his mother, Mrs. Barbara Fess Richey, eighty-nine years old, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, in Lima, Ohio.

Mrs. Richey had been ill for a year.

JAPAN'S MILITARY "FEELIY" ATTACKED

Business Men of Empire Bitterly Opposed to Further Preparedness Program.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, April 25.—The movement among business men in southern Japan for armament curtailment, the strength of which is understood to have created perturbation in army and naval circles, also is finding vigorous expression in Tokyo through the leadership of Rishi Hyuga, managing director of the Oriental Sugar Manufacturing Company, a man of progressive and liberal ideas.

Mr. Hyuga has astonished the Japanese people by publishing a paid indictment in the leading metropolitan daily, the Yomiuri, against the excessive armaments as Japan's greatest folly. The letter is really an indictment of the military party, to whom it is addressed. The writer contends that "hide-bound militarists like you interfere with the affairs of the nation." He continues:

Must Remove Suspicion.
"If you sincerely wish to see yourself loved and revered you should put aside your saber. If Japan wishes to be loved and revered, she must do so only way is to cut down armaments."

Mr. Hyuga declared that the United States was determined to reduce prices at home and to promote exports, and that meant a serious menace to Japanese industry and commerce. Yet the government had taken no concrete measures and was strengthening industry by expending the national funds for battleships.

"What Japan needs is fewer dreadnaughts and more education," he said to the correspondent. "Do you realize," he went on, "that 83 per cent of the boys who want to study in our middle schools, which correspond to your upper grammar school grades, are unable to do so because there is no room, and that in the higher schools conditions are even worse? How can Japan hope to enter into commercial competition with the people of the west when her teeming new generations are not, and cannot be, sufficiently educated?"

"This is so fundamental a truth that it is scarcely worth dwelling upon, yet Japan is ignoring it, hoping to succeed without the essential fundamentals."

SEVEN PEOPLE INJURED.

Five Accidents Include Collision of Taxi and Auto.

An automobile owned and driven by Lee Donohoe, 1200 14th street, Annapolis, Md., and a taxicab driven by William H. Murphy, 422 6th street, northeast, collided at Pennsylvania avenue and 6th street, southeast last night about 12 o'clock. Donohoe and R. H. Randall, 820 K street, southeast, and Miss Edith Embrey, 409 4th street, northeast, were thrown from the automobile and injured. They refused treatment and were driven to Miss Embrey's home. Murphy was held by the police to answer a charge of colliding.

While crossing in front of 2223 Vermont avenue, east of 14th street, 12 o'clock, Barbara Gaskins, colored, seven years old, 2222 Vermont avenue, was knocked down by an automobile and slightly injured. She was unable to go home unassisted, the police reported.

Joseph P. Dade, 1508 13th street, was injured last night as a result of a collision between his motor cycle and the late Oscar Bielski, 1814 street and Kalorama road. He was given first aid at Emergency Hospital.

Harold Bowman, fifteen years old, 740 5th street, was injured yesterday when his bicycle and an automobile collided at 14th street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. C. A. Waple, forty-three years old, 910 D street, northeast, was knocked down by a motor cycle at Massachusetts avenue and D street northeast yesterday afternoon. She was taken to Casualty Hospital.

TAKES ISSUE ON IRISH.

P. A. Kersey Disagrees With Head of D. A. R.

Declaring that the Sinn Feiners were the 100 per cent Americans and the Anglo-Americans, the hyphenates in the American revolution, P. A. Kersey, of Alexandria, a direct descendant of Paul Revere, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, took issue with the recent speech of Mrs. George M. Minor, president general of the D. A. R., at a meeting of the Padraig H. Joyce branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom at Typographical Temple last night.

In introducing Mr. Kersey, F. Edward Mitchell, president of the organization, said: "Mrs. Minor proclaims that we fought England in 1776, again in 1812, and again during the civil war England did all in her power to dissolve our Union."

"America has always been a champion of the oppressed—the Sinn Feiners of the world—and when the D. A. R. repudiates the name of America, it repudiates the name of God, Amen," after Mrs. Minor's discourse, they thereby sanctioned the funeral of Irish Freedom.

There has never been a union between England and Ireland, there was an accidental sort of union that might be compared to the union effected when the whale swallowed Jonah.

Resolutions favoring the Linthicum measure to make "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem, and mandating that the third stanza be retained, were adopted.

THE BOTANIC GARDEN QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Star:

Referring to your excellent editorial in last night's Star relative to the Botanic Garden, it seems to me that the entire question hinges on the word "botanic." No one who disports the present Botanic Garden is very largely patronized and enjoyed, but would not the same patronage remain if it were frankly an ornamental garden? What percentage of the present patronage is due to the "botanic" part of it?

There is no possible objection to gardens in the Mall, and all of the parks, but it must be acknowledged that a botanic garden a great diversity for environment is absolutely essential to success. Environment ranging from flat semi-submerged marsh land to high steep hillsides; soil from the black peat of the bog through the silt of the river shore to almost pure clay on the hills.

There is probably no other tract of land within the District of Columbia presenting such great diversity in exposures, soil and general environment as that found in the Mount Hamilton tract.

If memory serves me right, there was considerable objection to locating the Zoo in Rock Creek Park on account of its inaccessibility—no one would go there.

It is reasonably certain that any one interested in botanical subjects would not for a moment be deterred by the "inaccessibility" of the Botanic Garden if located on the Mount Hamilton tract and it seems reasonably certain that the general public would soon find its way there if its natural beauties were developed as they would be by the establishment of a modern botanic garden.

Forest Rehabilitation Example for Nation Launched by Vermont

MONTEPELIER, Vt., April 25.—A drive is being made in this State to set an example for the nation in reforestation.

Warnings by experts that extensive timber cutting bids fair to change the historic Green Mountains into a sad-colored brown range have sunk deep in the minds of the farmers. They are endeavoring to heal the broad scars left by the axmen.

For the last few years prudent farmers have been setting out an average of 500,000 forest seedlings, but the number of wooded lands of little or no agricultural value. Reports show that 40 per cent of the forest of the State is being cut over the ever-increasing call for young timber. These are grown in the State nurseries at Burlington and Sharon, where the Vermont authorities are trying to balance cutting with reforestation and production of timber.

FIRE DAMAGE, $350.

Children playing with matches were blamed for fire in a room on the second floor of the home of J. A. Whelan, 1227 I street, northeast, yesterday afternoon. Damage to house and contents amounted to $350.
