LABYRINTH OF COAL SHAFTS UNDER CITY

Scranton, Pa., Digs for Living in Deposits Which Are Its Very Foundation.

By the Associated Press.
SCRANTON, Pa., July 16.—This city, a good illustration of the mining industry, will go anywhere in order to obtain results.
Several cities in ancient days were built beside volcanoes. This is one modern American city which is built over a coal mine, or rather a series of coal mines.
The present fame and future prosperity of Scranton, Pa., bustling, typical American city, literally rests upon the coal industry. From a country hamlet fifty years ago, Scranton has become the third largest city in Pennsylvania, and ranks first among the coal-mining cities of the world. This growth has been due to coal, and most of the coal mined in the Scranton district comes from underneath the city itself.

Miners Cutting Deeper.
Beneath the business blocks and household dwellings each day the picks and the cutting machines are digging deeper into the black power producer which has brought so much wealth to the community.

To the casual visitor it may seem alarming to realize that underneath the streets of the city there is a labyrinth of shafts and tunnels forming a few hundred feet of a city consisting of rooms connected by an endless series of subways, and to know that the life of the inhabitants is dependent upon the strength of the supports which are left standing.

Center of Anthracite Region.
Scranton is the center of the anthracite coal region. This anthracite coal deposit in central Pennsylvania is one of the richest of America's natural resources. The coal occurs in an elliptical basin running down through the Lackawanna valley. The deepest part of the coal basin is in the city of Scranton, where over 225,000,000 tons of coal, within the city limits there are over thirty-three million tons of coal.

Within the city limits there are over thirty-three million tons of coal. These mines have produced over 225,000,000 tons of coal which means the coal industry within the city limits has contributed something like a billion dollars of productive wealth to the people of Scranton and the owners of the mines. The coal industry has produced a greater total volume of work than any other city in the country before New York city had even dreamed of a subway system the city of Scranton was a million miles of underground tunneling.

WOMEN WILL CATECHISE CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

Maryland League Threatens Defeat of All Aspirants Who Fail in Satisfactory Answers.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
BALTIMORE, July 16.—Candidates for office will be catechised by the Maryland League for Women, if they do not give the right answers to the catechism the women intend to do everything in their power to defeat the candidates.

The league spent two days in Annapolis this week deciding on a set of principles or a program which it hopes to have received favorably by the coming legislature, thereby notifying those who intend to run this fall for a seat underneath the state house dome that the men—and women—who want the league's votes must stand by the league's measures.

In the questionnaire that is being prepared for submission to would-be legislators the league will endeavor, first of all, to discover how each candidate stands on the question of the organization of a department of hygiene. This department or bureau is intended to carry out the provisions in Maryland of the Sheppard-Towner act, provided that bill is passed by Congress; if it fails to pass, then to administer state funds appropriated for child welfare in case a state appropriation will be needed.

The prospective candidate will also be questioned in regard to his, or her, stand on amending the mother pension law, so as to make the law operative, and also to increase the amounts paid to mothers of dependent children to the support of each child to $25, and to raise the maximum amount which an indigent mother may receive under the law to $40 a month.

Other legislation which the league hopes to introduce and for which it demands a favorable attitude on the part of candidates to whom it will lend its support are a health certificate bill to prevent marriages of the unfit; a bill making the guardianship rights of a mother in her child identical with those of the father, and a bill providing for the removal of all political disabilities of women, making it possible for a woman to hold any office of appointive office and to serve on juries.

The league has also decided to hold an intensive educational campaign in the weeks preceding the next election to inform the voters on candidates and measures.

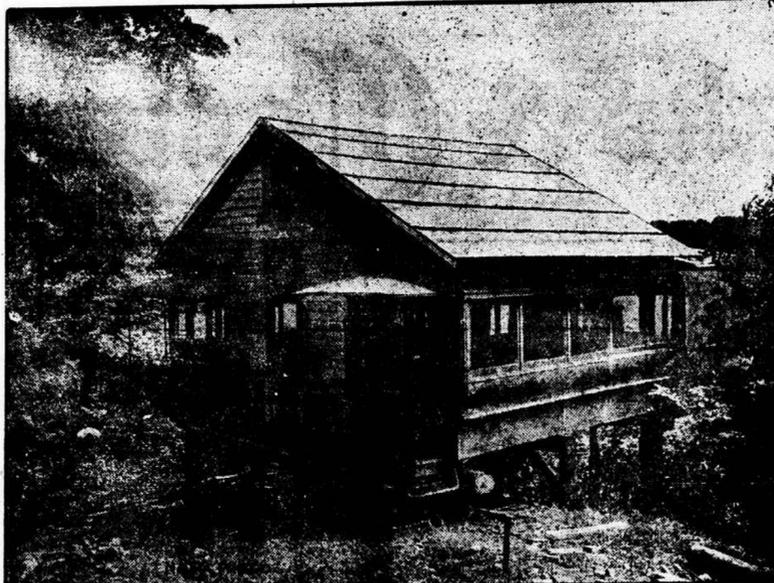

WOMAN NOMINATED.

Candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 16.—Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis Otey, nominated by the republican state convention at Norfolk as a candidate for superintendent of public instruction, is the wife of Dexter Otey, a shoe manufacturer and the daughter of Mrs. John H. Lewis. Mrs. Otey is one of the pioneer women's suffrage leaders of the state and has long been active in civic affairs in this section. She is a strong and convincing platform speaker, and if she succeeds in taking the stump, could make a vigorous campaign.

Mrs. Otey does not live in the city, but is a voter in Campbell county, being a resident of a suburb, near Peakland.

FOUR HELD FOR KILLING OF THREE IN KENTUCKY

Two in Hospital for Slight Wounds—Two Others Jailed in Mine Shooting.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 16.—A special to the Journal and Tribune from Harlan, Ky., says: John Burchinal, Ted Marcu, Pete Stivers and Jim Stivers, brothers, are alleged to have yesterday killed, at Harlan, Ky., Chief of Police W. R. Holcomb, Deputy Sheriff J. C. Coldron and Assistant Mine Superintendent Carl Fulton. The tragedy occurred about 11:30 Friday morning.

Marcu earlier in the day, had had an altercation with a mine foreman and the officers were instructed to arrest him. They went to the bathroom where Marcu was known to be, and Holcomb, in trying to arrest him, struck Marcu over the head with his gun. All four of the men accused of the killing are in the county jail. These men are citizens of Clay county, Ky., and have been employed in the mines at Lynch only a short time. Despite the bloody occurrence and the significant name of the town, everything is said to be quiet at Lynch.

HUNDREDS OF NEW HOMES FOR CUMBERLAND LIKELY

Chamber of Commerce Expects to Realize Project Backed by Outside Capital.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
CUMBERLAND, Md., July 16.—Realization of the program to build hundreds of houses here with outside capital is becoming more probable through daily developments taking place at the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Franklin H. Ankeney, secretary of the chamber of commerce, has received a communication from a financial institution of Pittsburgh, stating that the institution would finance fifty per cent of the cost of an unlimited number of houses.

The Pittsburgh concern makes the third which has agreed to provide half the cost of the project, in addition to the engineering company of Boston which originally put the proposition to the chamber.

Several house building sites are now under consideration by the chamber of commerce. They include Cumberland Heights, a tract of property belonging to Matthew Mullaney, adjacent to the Baltimore pike, beyond Lindserville; properties of Peter J. Seaver in the southern section of the city; lots in La Vale and the Simmons farm, near The Dingle.

The lots under consideration come within the stipulation of being 50 feet frontage and costing $100 each, as required by the Boston company and are adapted to all building conditions.

An innovation would be introduced in the erection of the houses in that they would be cheaper than the present six-room frame houses, being colored by a new process, making them especially attractive and would have patent air chambers, designed to prevent dampness, and be comparable in cost to a new summer and retain heat in winter. They would sell at $4,000 or less, it is stated. It is claimed that the outline of the new style concrete house can be finished in four days, but additional time would be required to complete the roof and the interior details.

Definite action in regard to the project is expected in the near future, following a conference of officials of the various institutions interested.

EXTREME BLUE LAW RESOLUTION "PUT OVER," METHODISTS ASSERT

Special Dispatch to The Star. BALTIMORE, Md., July 16.—Rev. Carlton D. Harris, editor of the Southern Methodist, and Rev. E. L. Woolf, presiding elder of the Baltimore district, made the discovery yesterday that they had one "put over" on them at the Baltimore Conference held in Roanoke last April.

It all came out through the efforts of the extremist group, led by Noah W. Cooper, which is in Washington in the interest of legislation which would halt all railroad trains, stop all the activities of the post office on Sunday and forbid the publication of Sunday newspapers, and which was responsible for the statement that the program had been approved by the Baltimore Conference.

When asked about this statement yesterday Dr. Harris denied that any such action was taken. "The Baltimore Conference, held in Roanoke last April, did not approve that radical program," he said. "There was no discussion of it, and I am confident that we could not secure the conference's approval of such a program. While I think it could be accomplished, it would probably exert a wholesome influence. I do not think it possible at this time, and I think we would do more harm than good by trying to accomplish it."

While Dr. Woolf expressed the same views, he was not so sure that no action was taken, and suggested that they go over the proceedings of the conference. "This was done, and, in Dr. Harris' own words, 'we were dumfounded to find that the conference did approve that program. There was no discussion of it, however. It was slipped through during the closing hours, and I do not believe that no action was taken, and suggested that they go over the proceedings of the conference.'"

The indorsement is in report No. 2 of the proceedings of the body and reads: "Also that we indorse the proposed national law to stop all Sunday mails, newspapers, interstate commerce and to secure Sunday as a rest day for all."

BENEFITS P. O. EMPLOYEES.

Congress Votes to Reclassify "Special" Force Granting Extra Pay.

By adoption of a conference agreement legislative action was completed in Congress yesterday when the chamber of commerce, it seems assured, will be instrumental in bringing about a solution of the housing problem there.

Among the Senate amendments finally retained was that providing for sending American delegates to the international postal conference at Buenos Aires next month.

Women Declare War On Moonshiners and Are Death on Stilts

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, Ga., July 16.—Women of the northwestern part of Brooks county have declared war on moonshiners, and have recently burned two stills stills there, according to reports reaching here today.

Following the burning of the stills the women, it is reported, issued a statement to the effect that, as a measure of protection for their families, they would destroy all stills set up in that section.

The second still burned, it is reported, was at the same location where the first one had been destroyed by the women. Men of the section, who had been drinking and neglecting their families and work, the women stated, had stopped after the first attack, but had recently started after the illicit still had been replaced with a new one, and this also was destroyed.

ELLIS ISLAND GRAFT CHARGES ARE DENIED

Commissioner Wallis Says Great Sums Could Not Have Been Appropriated.

Commissioner Wallis at the Ellis Island, N. Y., immigration station was asked yesterday by Commissioner General Husband whether he had been quoted correctly in newspaper accounts of a statement by officials of the service were loyal and devoted, with few exceptions. No such wholesale graft as charged could have existed, he said.

Investigation of the activities of August P. Schell, head of the law division at Ellis Island, was begun last March, the commissioner said, on an accumulation of evidence gathered at hearings here. Commissioner Wallis was ordered to prefer formal charges against Schell.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO JOIN.

Republicans in Virginia Take Steps Toward Forming Federation.

NORFOLK, Va., July 16.—Steps toward the formation of a federation of republican women's club in Virginia were taken when Mrs. Harriet Taylor, of Ohio, vice chairman of the republican national committee and leader of republican women of the country, and Miss Edna Annette Beveridge, special representative of the republican national committee, met the republican women of Norfolk. Mrs. Taylor spoke on "Women in Politics," and told her audience what success could be obtained by working together with the men. She dwelt at length upon President Harding's program for women, which includes the women's welfare and a city bill, and said that the President only a few days ago assured her that he was more interested in that program than he was at first.

MACMILLAN STARTS BAFFIN LAND DASH AMID CHEERS OF ADMIRERS

By the Associated Press.
WESCASET, Me., July 16.—Donald B. MacMillan and six adventurous followers sailed down the Sheepscot river today, bound for Baffin Land. They were cheered by 2,000 friends and admirers, including Gov. Baxter, the explorer's classmate at Bowdoin College, as the little schooner Bowdoin left the wharf.

MacMillan himself and his six assistants, who make up the entire crew of his auxiliary schooner Bowdoin, were busy on board early in the day making things snug in preparation for the trip. Bowdoin College alumni, who are members of the MacMillan Arctic Association, which financed the enterprise, were among those on hand to give the party a fitting send-off.

Besides MacMillan, the expedition includes G. Dawson Howell of Boston, who has been especially trained for the work of making observations in terrestrial magnetism for the Carnegie Institute. He also will act as operator of the radio apparatus equipped to receive messages from the outside world and to send at short distances.

Dr. MacMillan said today that he expects to enter Hudson bay about August 25. He will establish winter quarters as close to Fury and Hecla strait as the engines of the Bowdoin can force her through the ice.

LEGION'S NEW ACTIVITY.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 16.—Participation of individual local American Legion posts in projects of community and civic welfare will be fostered and aided by a new department of the American Legion to be known as the department of national post activities, created at national headquarters here today. John J. Noll, formerly of Parsons, Kan., assistant director of national organization, will head the new department, with headquarters here.

ing observations in terrestrial magnetism for the Carnegie Institute. He also will act as operator of the radio apparatus equipped to receive messages from the outside world and to send at short distances.
