

When the British parliament opened to ratify Irish peace the occasion afforded the most elaborate pageantry seen in many years. Photograph shows passing of King George's coach, the Irish Guards dipping the colors.

© Keystone View Co.

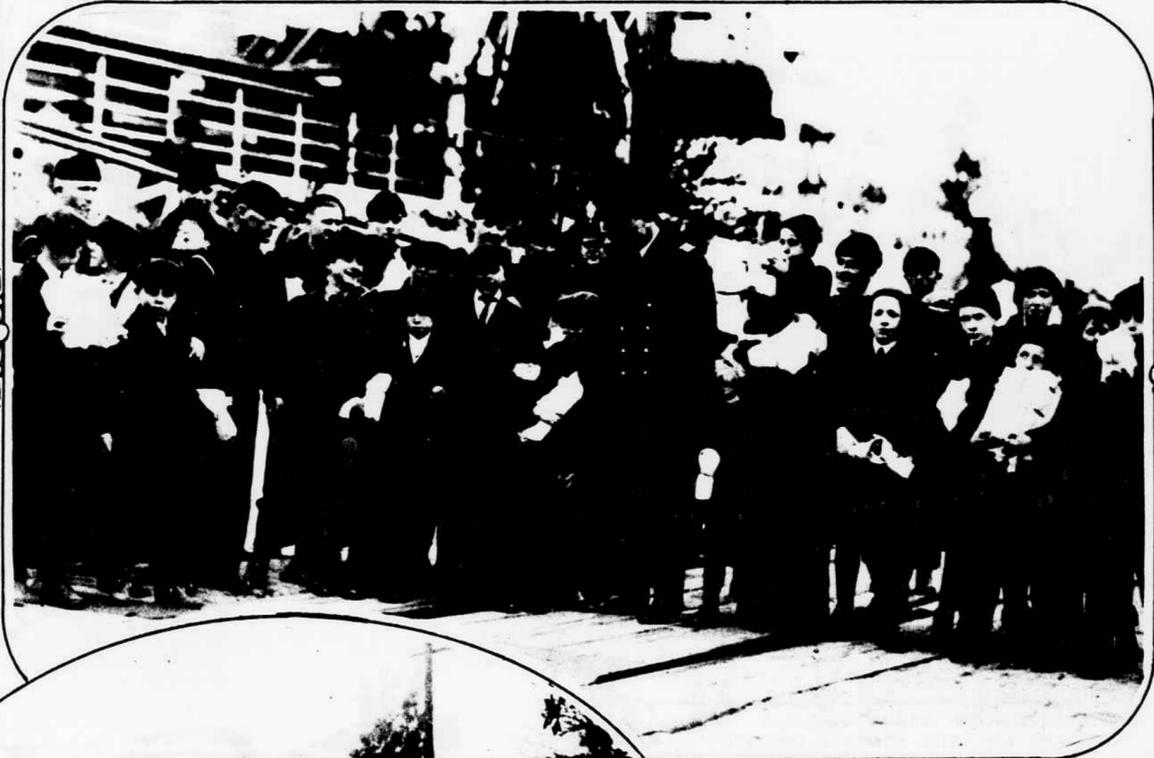

First photograph of Princess Mary and her fiancé, Viscount Lascelles, taken together. With Queen Mary, they left London recently to visit at Harewood House, near Leeds, home of the Earl and Countess of Harewood, parents of Viscount Lascelles.

© Keystone View Co.

Eugene V. Debs, who came directly to Washington after his release from the Atlanta prison, photographed at the White House.

National Photo.

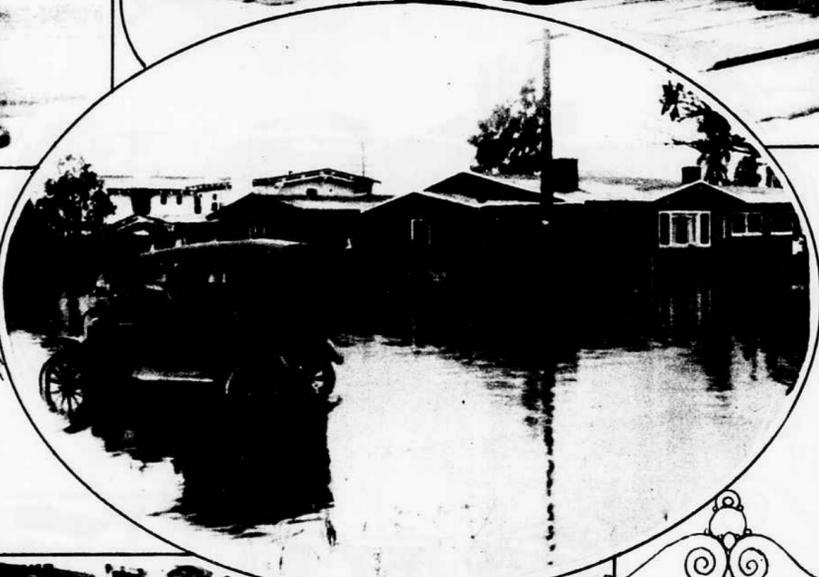

Commander Holmes, who has charge of President Harding's yacht, the Mayflower, gave many Washington children a merry Christmas, when he presented them with gifts aboard the boat. Officers and crew were also hosts at a Christmas dinner for the youngsters.

International.

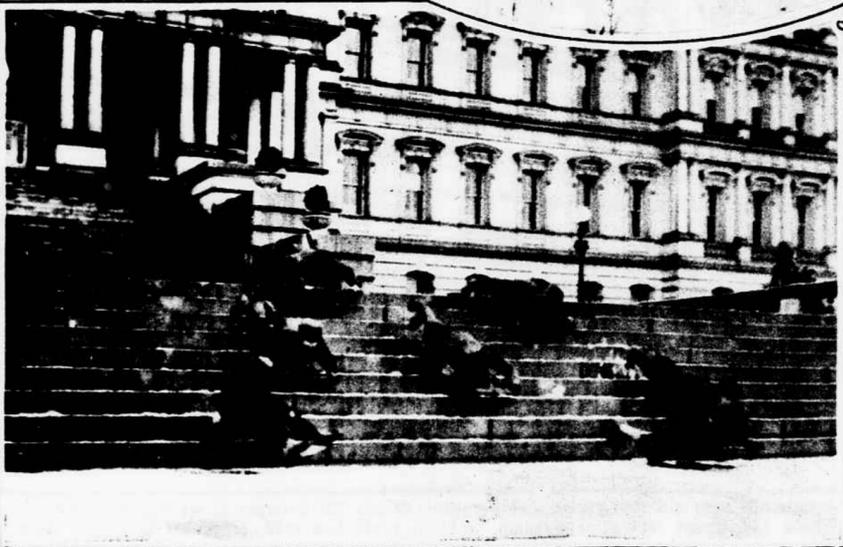

It's a new game for the children—looping the loop in an automobile tire—which originated in San Francisco. This little girl's record was 200 loops.

International.

A photograph from the flooded district of southern California. This bungalow section of Los Angeles suffered especially from high water.

International.

Very little snow is required for the Washington boy to try out his new Christmas sled. Steps of the State, War and Navy building make a somewhat rough but steep coasting ground.

National Photo.

One hundred and fifty "dormitory men" were guests of the Y. M. C. A. at a Christmas breakfast and later at a Christmas tree celebration. These two functions have long been features of the "Y" in Washington and are especially planned for the men who are away from home at the Yuletide season.

By Washington Photo Service.