

The royal dog of China reigns supreme at annual Pekingese show in New York. Chung of Lamar, in his cute little kennel, won first prize. He is the property of Mrs. E. Jarvis of Brooklyn. ©Underwood & Underwood.

The youngest fisherman at Palm Beach, Leon Goss of Philadelphia, lands a forty-one-pound amberjack. ©Underwood & Underwood.

Take a look at this photograph and then tell us whether you still yearn to enter the ranks of the movie actor. Monte Banks is earning his salary by hanging from the cornice of a building high over the streets of Los Angeles. And it's a comedy, too! ©Underwood & Underwood.

Mrs. Albert E. Holland of Washington and her team of white collies on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City. ©Underwood & Underwood.

Little Billie Hall, son of Clarence Hall of Washington, and his souvenir of Coconut Grove, Palm Beach, where he is spending the winter.

Graziella Pareto, Spanish coloratura singer of the Chicago Opera Company, holds court with the various members of her company. She holds Mary Garden in one hand and Rosa Raisa in the other. The dolls are made from costume photographs of characters of "Tosca" and "La Jongleur." ©Underwood & Underwood.

Entertainers at the fourth annual mid-winter dinner of membership committee of the Washington Board of Trade, to be held at the Willard Hotel Saturday, February 4. At left: The Estelle Murray ballet. Center: Miss Murray and Mr. Foster in the Argentine tango number. Right: Miss Pearle Steinberg, a pupil of Miss Florence Fenton, in interpretive dances.

To ancient Egypt and her gods goes Lewis, the Paris milliner, for the unusual in spring hats. A huge and truly royal-looking scarab adorns this turban, and the soft straw is draped in folds of alternating beige and dull blue. Photo by Talbot, from U. & U.