Right-Posture
Boys' Clothes

A label that identifies the greatest achievement in

Boys' Clothes

The "Right Posture" dressed boy soon becomes a "real fellow"—red-blooded; keen, full of the energy and the joy of good health.

Mothers know—and so do teachers—how they must nag and nag—telling the youngster to "sit up" and "walk erect." Right Posture does all that—in a different way—in a way the boy'll quickly fall in with—and soon it's a part of him.

That's why we feature "Right Posture" Suits—and there are hundreds of parents here who depend upon Right Posture companionship to keep their boys on the right track to health.

Wonderful garments, too—full of style the boys like—and full of durability the parents like.

Tweeds, Homespuns, Chevots and Serges. All sizes from 7 to 18 years.

Beginning at $15

Each with two pairs of Knickers

Do you know that we have a Library of over 500 Juvenile Books—that your Boys are privileged to use? The purchase of a Suit or Reefer gives them cards of Membership.

U. S. GENOA STAND DENOUNCED BY COX

Former Governor Declares Administration Fails to Grasp Importance.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, S. C., March 10.—"The failure of our government to engage in the Genoa economic conference is but another evidence of the administration failure to grasp the essential facts of the world-wide depression," said former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio here, last night.

"It will set things back more than any developments in the last two years," he continued. "The business will not show much improvement until conditions get better in Europe. They will improve there with the exchange of ideas on reformed budgets and kindred subjects."

Debt to United States Vital.
"A considerable part of the European burden is the debt to America. There is sincere doubt expressed as to whether some countries can pay. Certainly an indifferent attitude on the part of our government will carry much discouragement."

The cable advices from Europe tell us of the depressing effect that has come from our reiterated policy of a hermit nation. In private affairs such conduct on the part of a great creditor would lead to certain resentment, and in the present instance the same feeling will exist, whether it is articulated or not.

The conference was called to consider international economic and financial matters. Secretary Hughes, whether internationally or not, has, nevertheless, challenged the faith of European nations by the cold announcement that the conference will be of a political character. Taking him at his word, the country will be interested in the philosophy which makes virtue out of a political association with the yellow people of the orient and vice out of any political relationship with the white people of Europe. But that is quite another matter.

"Our people are chiefly concerned now about their return to normalcy. They have endured a sufficiency of unhappiness from the terror of isolation. They recognize the fundamental need of an outlet for our markets, if our shops are to resume and our farms are to prosper. They also know that Europe cannot buy without credit, and no worthwhile credit is possible without international co-operation. We possess the potential possibilities for a better economic day, because we have the preponderant excess of gold supply. If we camp beside our money bags, however, unmoved by the distress we easily could help to relieve, they will descend upon us the accumulated hate of generations."

GERMANS THANK QUAKERS FOR FEEDING CHILDREN

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 9.—The German Physicians' Association, comprising 40,000 members, has issued a resolution of thanks to the Quakers of the United States for feeding German children. The resolution urges "our American friends not to grow weary, for need remains and your work should continue until the German people, particularly children and students, received sufficient nourishment."

Large numbers of the physicians have worked with the Quakers during the period over which the feeding has been in operation. German societies are now making efforts to relieve the condition of university students, many of whom, it is asserted, have not tasted meat for weeks. They go without breakfast and eat thin soups for lunch and dinner. Large numbers of the students in the law, arts and medical departments are within a year or two of the completion of their work, but are declared to be threatened with being forced to cease their studies by reason of hunger.

These university students present a pitiable appearance. Their clothes are patched and they have holes in their shoes; they are pale and look undernourished.

Health statistics issued today show that out of forty-six cities which have more than 100,000 population, there was increased mortality in thirty-six and a decrease in eight, while in two the death rate remained normal.

TWO WOMEN CLAIM RIGHT TO BE LEGAL WIDOW OF NEW YORK MAN

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 10.—Two women, each in deep mourning and each with numerous witnesses, appeared before Surrogate James A. Foley in an action to determine which should be the legal widow of the late Frank Bertol, who at the time of his death, last August 19, was head of the New York public service freight bureau. Mrs. Anna Bertol of New York sat at the counsel table. Behind her sat Mrs. Hattie Bertol of South Bend, Ind.

The Indiana widow claims she married Bertol in Kansas City twenty-eight years ago and that her first intimation of a rival was when she came to New York to attend her husband's funeral and found his body in the possession of other women. Both then claimed the right to bury Bertol and a lively scene ensued, which resulted in the present action.

Relatives of the Indiana woman testified that Bertol had lived with her constantly up to his departure for New York, four years ago, taking her to a cottage in Michigan for the summers and to a bungalow in Texas for the winters. When her husband came to New York to live he invariably returned for the holidays, often bringing his wife expensive gifts, they said.

The New York widow, who is twenty years younger than the Mrs. Hattie Bertol, alleges she met Bertol soon after he came to New York in 1918. They were married in Elkton, Md., she asserted, and lived there until his death last year.
