ON BEING CORRECT WITHOUT A FAULT

A gentleman instinctively knows how to react toward any social amenity. He is at ease because he is always natural. In his selection of clothes he chooses those patterns and modes that are conducive to poise and grace. This affords him an advantage in his daily contact with other men. The knowledge that he is correctly attired enables him to give his whole mind to the niceties of an occasion.

Wickwire Clothes. They find in these garments a well defined atmosphere of quiet dignity that to them is essential to good dress. It is not surprising that Hirsh, Wickwire Clothes should excel in these matters. A score of years, devoted exclusively to the fashioning of gentlemen's clothes have made Hirsh, Wickwire an arbiter in what is correct. You will find these clothes reasonably priced. They are also ready to wear home.

Invariably, such men choose Hirsh,
