

Queen Marie and Princess Marie of Rumania en route to the cathedral in Belgrade, where the princess became the bride of King Alexander of Jugoslavia. They were cheered by thousands as they drove through the streets.

© P. A. A. Photos

Virginia Rea, coloratura soprano, studies the songs of birds to improve her singing. This photo was taken in Central Park, New York.

International

Alberto Pani, who will be appointed Mexican ambassador to the United States if the Obregon government receives recognition.

© Underwood & Underwood

Over the top. An unusual photograph of a high jump by Osborne of Chicago University, who tied for first place in the event with Murphy, Notre Dame (Ind.) athlete.

© Underwood & Underwood

Miss Imogene Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard Taylor, who will probably return to the professional stage soon.

By Harriett A. Doring

One of the striking new bathing suits of black velvet combined with crepe knit. A silken cord encircles the waist, and the cape is of shining satin, attractive of design and brilliant in color.

© Underwood & Underwood

Skirt of white flannel and slip-on sweater for the links. The colors of black, orange and tan are combined to give an unusual effect.

© Underwood & Underwood

Knickers for the court game. The comfortable sport costume comes from a New York designer, thoroughly American in all its details.

© Underwood & Underwood

A Dainty Soap

for your Toilet and Bath

A pure white floating soap—thoroughly cleansing and pleasing to the most delicate skin. Compare with the soap you are now using.

BUY AT YOUR GROCER'S

KIRKMAN'S
FLOATING
SOAP