

CHINESE INFANTRYMEN BOUND FOR THE FRONT

The regulars who are fighting the revolutionists. The Chinese soldier of today is no longer an ill-clad, opium-dazed, semi-savage. He is well-drilled and disciplined.

Howl for lower prices is ringing around the world; yet the first man who wants less for his products or his labor is yet to be discovered. He will be photographed as soon as found.