DARROW'S NAME DRAGGED INTO McNAMARA JURY BRIBERY SCANDAL

Bribed Juror Says Franklin Told Him He Would Need "To See Darrow" Before Paying Money—Fredricks Says Lockwood's Testimony Only Hearsay.

Los Angeles, Dec. 11.—The name of Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the McNamaras, was dragged into the Franklin bribery trial today.

Bert H. Franklin, former U. S. deputy marshal, and chief detective for the McNamara defense, is charged with trying to bribe G. N. Lockwood, a prospective McNamara juror.

Lockwood, under oath today, testified that before the alleged bribe was paid to him, Franklin said he would have to consult with Darrow before paying over the bribe money.

Lockwood said he went to District Attorney Fredricks when Franklin first suggested a bribe. Fredricks advised him, he said, "to go through with it."

Lockwood continued: "Franklin came to me Nov. 26, and told me my name had been drawn as a juror, adding: 'George, there is $4,000 in this for you.'

"I said that when a man went into a thing like that he wanted to be sure of his money. I suggested the name of a man that Fredricks had suggested to hold the cash.

"Franklin said no; and after some further parleying, we agreed on Captain C. E. White.

"Later I called upon Franklin and asked him to come to my house that night. He asked if he should "bring the big one" out with him, and I said yes.

"He came about 9 o'clock that night, and I asked him where Darrow was. He asked me if I thought Darrow was the 'big one,' and I said I did. He said that it was 'Cap. White' he had meant.

"Then we talked it all over and arranged for me to meet him the next day. He told me he would have to see Darrow and arrange a safe way for the money to be paid."

Lockwood then confirmed in detail the story testified to earlier by White as to what happened when Franklin and White were arrested.
