

LOCAL EVENTS IN TABLOID FORM

Inspector John L. Revere ordered discharged from police force for neglect of duty by civil service commission. Lieut. John Hanley was exonerated and reinstated. Capt. Barney Baer is not a civil service appointee, and his case was referred to the mayor for action.

Neil Mulhearn arrested in front of Myers' hotel in connection with disappearance of Violet Buehler. When taken he was pleading for revolver with which to commit suicide, saying Violet was gone forever. Mulhearn formerly lived at Myers' hotel, Buehler girl's home.

Detectives are searching for Charles L. Ober, president of First National Bank of Chatfield, Minn., who has been missing from Sherman here since last Tuesday.

Mrs. Irene Watson, 2556 W. Washington blvd., found shot through the head in her home yesterday, died this morning. Julian Christianson, former roomer at her home, under arrest. Christianson alleged to have told conflicting stories. First said he shot her while cleaning revolver, and then declared that he returned to the home, found two burglars there, and accidentally killed the woman shooting at them. Charles Watson's, woman's husband, who found her body, said Christianson had shown fondness for his wife, and was angry when she refused to accept his attentions.

M. C. Kavanaugh, 1910 Warren ave., scalded to death, and John Moscaff, 336 Lister avenue, burned about arms and body, when valve broke in plant of Churchill Cabinet Co., 2119 Churchill street, last night. Police will investigate. Moscaff said valve had been defective for some time.

After holding the property for years, Mrs. Hetty Green, New York's female Midas, has leased for 99 years property at Dearborn and Monroe. It costs the lessee $35,000 a front foot, and there were 46 feet.

Ice cream that is composed almost entirely of beef fat is the latest evasion of the pure food laws discovered here.

Dr. Julius von Bernauer, phrenologist, promises to pick from his class of 400, three couples who will be "ideally matched". He will choose them by the bumps on their heads, and declares they will not raise additional knobs on each other's "cocos" after the wedding.

Policeman Groark couldn't get his wife to tell what she wanted for Christmas, and was afraid to take a chance himself, so he bought entire window display of Clark street jewelry store. Cost him $80.

Love for his mother and the desire to get her a Christmas present led Raymond Hoffman, 17, to become a thief, according to his confession. Judge Caverly dismissed the case.

The International Harvester Co. will divide $500,000 among