
THE NINE LIVES OF KITTY KAT
 Verses and Drawings by Frederick White.

VI.—HE DIES A GLUTTON, But Has Three Lives Left!

"I'll promise to be good."

1

When next I met the merry cat
 I said: "Now just see here,
 Five lives you've quickly thrown away,
 You must be careful or some day
 You'll not come back I fear."

2

He said: "I realize I've not Been acting as I should;
 This sporting life is very nice,
 But still it isn't worth the price—
 I'll promise to be good."

3

So after that he stayed at home
 And never went away.
 His appetite was simply great
 And very carelessly, he ate
 Himself to death one day.

4

And just before he gave it up
 He said quite cheerfully,
 "I'm going, but I'm not so sick

That I can't do a-r-i-t-h-m-e-t-tick

And 6 from 9 leaves 3."

(And next Kitty Kat starves to death. See tomorrow's Day Book.)

He ate himself to death

—o—o—
A Remarkable Liar.

The farmers at the crossroads store had been praising their individual milkers when Jake spoke up:

"Fellows, you don't have to believe it, but I've got a heifer that has been giving milk for a year, and she's never had a calf. She's just like her mammy was. Her mammy never had a calf, either."
 —Lippincott's.

—o—o—Impossible.

Jones—Say, old man, I want to tell you something funny about my gas meter. I—

Smith—Go on, old man, go on!
 If you know anything funny
 about a gas meter, make me laugh!—Baltimore Evening Sun.