

TEN MILLIONS EACH FOR THESE YOUNGSTERS,
RYAN'S GRANDSONS

Thomas F. Ryan's Grandsons: William, the Eldest; Thomas and Joseph. Another Picture of Joseph Inset.

Ten million dollars each is to be the heritage of the three grandsons of Thomas Fortune Ryan, the New York financier.

The boys are sturdy little chaps, whose mother, Mrs. William K. Ryan, has raised them in a commonsense way. The father died during the babyhood of the youngest.

William, the eldest, aged 9, knows all the fairy tales by heart and delights in playing the role of fairy princes, improvising now and then to suit his convenience. Scolded at breakfast one day for helping himself to his brother's marmalade, he responded bland-