

supposed. Murdered and robbed. Leonard Glasby, 20, who found the body, held.

Emilio Vasques Gomez proclaimed provisional president of Mexico by rebels today.

But Francisco I. Madero still is sitting in that big building in Mexico City, and drawing down whatever number of pesos a Mexican president does draw down.

Peter F. Aiken, spy for Mexican government, who was spy in Russo-Japanese war, says he has knowledge of plot whereby if rebels are successful, Japanese government will obtain large grant of land on West Mexican coast.

But Mr. Peter F. Aiken presently is abiding in the county jail at El Paso, Tex., having been caught violating the neutrality laws, and no doubt would be quite willing to discover a few hundred plots if any one of them would get him out of jail.

Miss Inez Milholland, suffragette leader, is seriously ill of tonsillitis at her home in N. Y. Disobeyed doctor's orders and went in Saturday's big suffrage parade.

War department today telegraphed orders to government flood relief workers in Louisiana not to promise any more government rations or supplies to sufferers. War department supplies exhausted. Unless appropriation is made by Congress people must starve.

"To my mind the Root amendment to the immigration law practically abolishes the right for political refugees in the United States. It would place the death warrants of hundreds of political refugees in the hands of the Czar of Russia."—Victor Berger in House.

Well, the so to speak Honorable Elihu Root has worked all his life for the money czars of this country; no one could expect him to draw fine distinctions and discriminate against the Czar of All the Russias.

Chinese cruiser Fei Hung, to be used as training ship for Chinese navy, launched at Camden, N. J., Saturday. Little Miss Chang Yuyi, youngest daughter of Chinese Ambassador Chang, christened the warship.

One of the finest reforms they could institute in the new Chinese republic would be one that would take their language and names to pieces and put them together again so you don't need a mouthful o' cotton and breakfast food before you can pronounce them.

Taft, Bryan, Harmon and Wilson all touring through Ohio and telling the people of the Buckeye state why they should get all its delegates to their respective national conventions. Roosevelt is coming up later.
