

EVERYWHERE'S NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Washington.—Married 11 years ago, George C. Lafferty, stenographer reporter at the House, and Rosamond E. Jones Lafferty, kept their wedding secret until today.

Washington. — Pa Archie Crum's cow ate a stick of dynamite. Died of indigestion.

Cincinnati O.—Clayton Smith plunged into river to save his two sons. Saved one and then he went after the other. Father and son drowned.

Dundee, Scotland.—Prof. E. A. Schaefer, Edenburg University, told the British Ass'n that science can produce life, but cannot prevent death.

Genoa.—Because he asked them to pay their fares, three thugs shot and killed street car conductor. Later killed two policemen. One thug killed.

Buda Pest.—Three soldiers tried to hold dirigible balloon. Snatched into air. Fell, one after another, to death.

Morgantown, W. Va.—The new wide plaited skirt won't be worn. Forty society girls have agreed not to doff the narrow skirt that displays "Nature's handiwork."

Boston, Mass.—Rel La Reed's father, proud of her voice, had a phonograph record of it and sent it to his friend, Arthur Erisman. Arthur eloped with the girl a month later.

Sherman, Tex.—While undertakers were embalming Mrs. Sawaka Wehba, she arose and smiled at them. Doctors were called and they kept her alive six hours. Then she died "second time."

Ft. Worth, Tex.—Because her husband hugged her so often that it became embarrassing, Mrs. Laura Seaman wants a divorce.

"A month of honeymoon spooning is enough," she declares.

Huntington, W. Va.—After Goff Yates had failed in his elopement plans, Ethel Ryan, his fiancée; took his mother's auto, called for him, and whirled him to Ohio, where they were married.

Brownsville, N. Y.—Burglars blew up Dr. Lewis Alderman's safe, stole silverware, clothing and jewelry and ate lunch while four servants, the doctor and his wife slept.

Carson City, Nev.—Snow fell in mountains around Carson City.

Tarrytown, N. Y.—Joseph Drago, workman on Rockefeller estate, had revolver duel with "Black Hand." Latter was shot in leg, but escaped.

East Liverpool, O.—Mrs. Mary Burrows, 38, confessed that she and John Colburn, 21, murdered her husband, Richard Burrows, wealthy farmer, when he came home and found 2 together.

Washington.—Sen. Jonathan Bourne, Oregon, announced that he would support Roosevelt.

Dixon, Ill.—Bishop Muldoon, Rockford, laid cornerstone of new Catholic Church at Harmon. Cost $30,000.

Milwaukee.—500 dock labor-