

ADAM AND EVE WERE SIAMESE TWINS, SAYS SCHOLAR

Prof. O. A. Toffteen, Ph. D., president National institute of Education, graduate of Universities of Upsala, Johns Hopkins and Chicago, fellow in Semitic University of Chicago, author of "Ancient Chronology," "Researches in Assyrian and Babylonian Geography," "The Historic Exodus" and "Ancient Records of Egypt."

By Idah McGlone Gibson.

Never more, fellow women, need you suffer the humiliating charge of having been made from the rib of a man! You have been man's equal from the beginning.

For your great ancestor Eve was an equal part of a double being that was cut in two to make the Adam and Eve of Holy Writ.
